THE KIRK PULPIT — In the absence of the Minister, the Rev. T. H. B. Somers, who was in Halifax preaching in Knox church there, the morning services in St. James Church yesterday was conducted by Major the Rev. B. J. Warr, representative of the Lord's Day Alliance in the Maritime Provinces, who gave an address on the work of the Lord's Day Alliance and the object of enforcing one day of rest in seven. In the evening the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. F. Norman Young, B.A., St. Columbus Church, Marshfield, who preached a fine sermon on the sovereignty of God. In the morning the choir rendered the anthem "Turn Ye Even to Me" (Harper), and in the evening "Lord For Thy Tender Mercies' Sake" (Farrant.)

FORD-HARDING — A beautiful arch of flowers made a pretty setting for the wedding of Miss Josephine Harding and George Alexander Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ford, Charlottetown at Mrs. J. F. Hobbs', 242 Kent Street, the home of the bride, on September 28th. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. E. MacLennan. The bridesmaid and best man were Mr. and Mrs. William Hobbs of Georgetown. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. A. Cameron. The bride wore a flowered silk chiffon street length dress in pastel shades and carried a nosegay of Baby Mums. The bridesmaid wore rose crepe with a corsage of yellow roses. Following the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served in the drawing room, beautifully decorated with Peony roses, mums, gladioli and maiden hair fern and those assisting were Miss Joyce Anderson, Miss Betty Lou Howatt, Mrs. Blair Andrews of New Glasgow Mills, Mrs. Alex Ford and Mrs. Fred Prowse. The toast to the bride was given by Rev. Mr. McLenan and responded to by the groom. Many beautiful gifts were received including several cheques. On October 2nd Mrs. J. F. Hobbs and Miss Joyce Anderson were joint hostesses at a shower at Mrs. Hobbs' home when a number of girl friends showered the bride with many lovely gifts. Following a social hour lunch was served by her friends.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH—The morning service of worship was a family service, being Rally Day of the Church School held in connection with the service of morning worship. The minister, the Rev. I. Judson Levy, B.D., was assisted by the superintendent of the Church School, Mr. R. J. Rupert who gave an interesting, thoughtful outline of the programme and plans of the School, by Mr. Charles Ballem who led the responses, by Miss Elizabeth Hamm who read the lesson of the morning. Mr. Levy in a brief but pointed sermonette made an eloquent appeal to all parents on the subject of "The Family at Worship" taking as his text Genesis 22, 5; "I and the lad will go yonder and worship." Life has many beautiful relationships, among the finest is family life, the father and son, the mother and daughter. The child at home in formative period gathers the first experiences of life from the parents, any experience of childhood is greatly enhanced if it can be shared with father and mother as together they live, work together, play together, may it also be worship together. We owe our children shelter, food and clothing and we also owe them the true interpretation of life. Let us remember that man never outgrows his need of God. "I and the lad will go yonder and worship," in this ideal of the family at worship, united, understanding, believing, living lies the challenge and opportunity of a better world. The anthem sung by a large choir was an interesting arrangement of "Come, Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love." Evening worship was conducted at 7 p.m. by the minister with sermon "The Healing of the Nations". The Communion of the Lord's Supper was celebrated at this service participating in the World Wide Communion. Miss Pearl Burns sang Oley Speaks' "Prayer Perfect". The music at both services was conducted by Mrs. V. L. Dingwell, organist and director of choir. The flowers on the Communion table were placed in memory of Warrant Officer Claire Champion by members of his family.

GINGER ROGERS IN NEW COMEDY HIT

A comedy-romance tailored for Ginger Rogers is "Heartbeat", which presents the star in a beautiful romance with a background of complex comedy situations, in the gay locale of sophisticated Paris. Lavishly produced, this KRO Radio release marks the return to the screen of Jean Pierre Aumont, cast opposite Miss Rogers.

Ginger plays a little French girl Arlette, seeking a job and a husband. Answering a newspaper ad for a job, she is greeted at the door of a respectable looking home by the stately Professor Arlsted, really head of a school for pick-pockets. He impresses Arlette to 'lift' the diamond stickpin of an Ambassador. Failing her in the attempt, the Ambassador takes Arlette to his home, where he dresses her in style and has her appear at the lavish Embassy ball that evening, where she learns she is to dance with a young man whose watch she must steal. From this point on the affair races through many unique complications to a highly romantic climax.

Jean Pierre Aumont is seen as Ginger's intended victim, a young French diplomat. Adolphe Menjou gets in his deft work as the suave Ambassador who plans the heroine's fling in high life. Basil Rathbone is the leader of the pickpockets, and Melville Cooper, Mikhail Rasumny, Eduardo Ciannelli, Mona Maris and Henry Stephenson have the other principal roles in Sam Wood's "Heartbeat," produced by Robert and Raymond Hakim.

"HOT CARGO" TIMELY, EXCITING THRILLER

The latest in the ever-popular Pine-Thomas action-thrillers, Paramount's "Hot Cargo," opens at the Capitol Theatre today with William Gargan, Jean Rogers and Philip Reed in co-starring roles. This suspense-packed melodrama is in keeping with the best tradition of the famous producer-team for making action pictures, and there isn't a dull second in the hour's running time of the film.

"Hot Cargo" is the timely story of two ex-servicemen (Gargan and Reed) who, before going their separate ways, delay long enough to carry out some promises made to a dying buddy. This involves them in a battle with a bunch of highway pirates who have been sabotaging the lumber hauling business of their pal's family. Using guns, fists and Army tanks corps tactics, the two veterans succeed in bringing the criminals to justice, and saving the family's business.

SHE'S FARMER'S WIFE BUT LIKES POLITICS

REGINA, Oct. 5 —(CP)— Although no author is mentioned on the cover of the Saskatchewan government's new fish cook book, it is no secret that Lena Phelps, wife of J. L. Phelps, natural resources minister, put it together as well as her political speeches in the Saltcoats constituency and the chocolate cakes she serves her three children.

Research into law is another phase of Mrs Phelps' varied activities which include helping with her husband's correspondence and other office work.

"But I am a farmer's wife at heart" she said adding however that she likes politics, the C.C.F. brand in particular.

But Mrs. Phelps has no political ambitions of her own.

"I can make a better contribution as Joe Phelps' wife than to go into politics on my own".

Raised on a farm near Saskatoon, she received her high school training there. While teaching at Wilkie, Sask. she met and married Mr. Phelps who still owns a farm in that district.

Mrs Phelps says her husband had no desire to leave his farm to take up a political career. But when he was offered the Saltcoats C.C.F. nomination he accepted under protest thinking nothing would come of it.

Mrs. Phelps says the family is looking forward to going back to the farm.

Lacrosse Awards Recalls Times Of Great Coach

By W. M. GLADISH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 5—(CP) —When anybody talks of field lacrosse, there comes a recollection of a famous sportsman, Jimmy Murphy, who lived the sport, in season and out, until his death a decade or more ago.

The name of the jovial Irishman cropped up in the sport news recently with the formal announcement by the Ontario Lacrosse Association of the award of the Jimmy Murphy Memorial Trophy. The token, presented annually to the game's outstanding player, went to Gordon Gair of the Barrie-Lakeshore team.

When the presentation was made at Maple Leaf Gardens here one could almost see the jovial Irishman, with twinkling eye, right there with the principals. But there was no Maple Leaf Gardens in his day. It was the old Mutual Street Arena where, between lacrosse seasons, Jim used to coach the colorful St. Michael's senior hockey team.

Born in Cornwall, Ont., noted home of the summer sport, Murphy soon caught lacrosse fever under the tutelage of P. J. Lally, dean of the game for generations, and moved to Toronto eventually where he took over the Toronto Lacrosse Club of the National Lacrosse Union. The Torontos played on the Rosedale ground where, for games, Murphy established himself in a pigeon-hole window in the third floor of the clubhouse, long since disappeared. He shouted his instructions to the Blue Shirts through a megaphone. Murphy's vigorous coaching added both color and enthusiasm.

Exciting Times

There was excitement when the Murphy voice boomed from the clubhouse eaves. "Look at that! It's murder! Ah, look at that!" he'd shout when some rough-and-ready Shamrock from Montreal happened to hit Billy Fitzgerald or Eddie Kalls. "Did you see that?" the voice screamed at the referee. Naturally, the partisans took up the cry —which was what Jim wanted.

Murphy virtually made the 13th man on the field. As one looks back, Murphy was, in his day, perhaps the fore-runner of that hockey broadcaster, Foster Hewitt, with his "He shoots! He scores!" Only Murphy had just a mere megaphone.

Except for the three hours of a week-end match, Murphy was the most congenial of spirits. He ranked with the best as a raconteur, whose stories were spiced with Irish wit which he, himself, enjoyed as much as his audience. Like other sport veterans of the past generation, he did not take kindly to boxla.

As for hockey, Jim Murphy assembled as great a crew of Irish Greats as ever stepped on ice in the original Toronto St. Michaels of senior brand. They swept through to championships regularly, thanks partly to his astute selection of promising players and also to his manner of coaching in seven-man hockey. There, too, the basis of his method was "Get the odd man up there when we've got the puck."

Murphy smoked little, drank less and remained a celibate throughout his long and vigorous life. They used to say, however, that Jim was married to sport.
