It always gives the best of satisfaction to my customers."

McKinley a Smoker.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—President McKinley is becoming an inveterate smoker as General U. S. Grant. To this is attributed the development of his nervous condition. The President smokes almost continuously from the time he goes into his office in the morning at 9 o'clock until he retires at midnight.

During the reception of official callers the President smokes. At the Cabinet meetings smoking is also indulged in, and whenever the door of the Cabinet room is opened to admit a visitor a blue haze of tobacco smoke is visible.

Since the occupation of Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines by the United States forces admirers of the President holding commissions in the army and navy have sent him presents of cigars. The first specimens to reach the Executive mansion were from Manila. They were the familiar long black cigars of that country. Almost every officer of the army returning from Cuba and Porto Rico has a box or two of cigars for the President.

These cigars are specially made for presentation to the Chief Executive, and are composed of the finest tobacco grown in the islands. As a result of this remembrance on the part of his friends the President has a large supply of the finest cigars on hand and is constantly smoking them.

The President is a believer in the theory that tobacco smoke is efficacious in stopping the neuralgic pains from which he has been a sufferer for the last few months.

Grain and Flour.

MONTREAL, May 10.—There has been a little less demand for export lately but prices as a rule do not show any material change. Oats are quoted at 37c afloat.

The flour market was rather quiet to day, but the tone is steady, and values show no change. The demand was less active than it has been both from local and foreign buyers.

BELTS of ye olden tyme. An authority on the subject gives some interesting data concerning the importance attached to this article of dress. Up to 1830 short skirts were in fashion, and from that date until 1860 long waisted figures were affected by even those not naturally endowed with this anatomical structure. From this period when Napoleon III reigned in France down to the present. We are showing over 1,000 belts, Jas. Paton & Co.
