HOW LADY-SMITH SUFFERED.

All accounts from relieved Ladysmith speak of the joy of the rescued garrison and population as indescribable, and well it might be! Their sufferings had been terrible. General White tells that when the siege began a total population of 18,000 souls was shut in by the Boer armies--12,000 troops, 2,000 civilians and 4,000 natives. Very few of them escaped serious sickness or casualty of some sort. Of the 12,000 soldiers 8,000 had at various times been inmates of the hospital. As food became reduced, the water bad and the stress of the siege and general privations became greater a man once down with sickness was lost. From 15th January to 1st of March there were 2,000 deaths from disease alone--an awful mortality. Living on reduced rations, killing the cavalry and artillery horses to make their flesh into sausages, with the field batteries unhorsed, brave General White and his men did not despair. The cavalry were converted into infantry and helped to man the trenches. An interior line of defences had been constructed so as to still fight on if the outer works should be carried. Ammunition as well as food was scarce and for many weeks not a shot was wasted. Yet White tells that he could possibly have held out for six weeks longer! Fortunately the timely arrival of the relieving force prevented the dreadful and costly necessity. No thought of surrender was for a moment indulged. The public who did not know or imagine how terribly trying were the conditions, nor how awful the mortality was, feasted and even expected momentarily for many weeks to hear of the garrison being made prisoners. They did not realise of what stuff General White and his brave little army were made. Little as persons living in comfortable homes can know of the actual privations which Ladysmith has suffered in those four terrible months, our reason tells us that the courage, fortitude, endurance and devotion of the besieged have been beyond all praise.

Chauncey M. Depew in a speech in the Washington Senate the other day incidentally remarked that he was the only man in the House who did not hope to be President. And yet there is a Chauncey may be.

The Toronto World has become an advocate of spelling reform. A number of newspapers have made an effort to introduce the so-called improved methods of spelling, but in almost every case, especially of the more advanced class, the attempt was afterwards abandoned.

Rev. Mr. Barclay's attack upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a disloyal man has called forth much comment. In our humble opinion Sir Wilfrid is quite as loyal as Mr. Barclay, and has done much more to bind the Empire together by the strongest bonds. When a minister of the gospel can find no better use for his voice than to imprecise the loyalty of the Minister of State who stands so high in the best British opinion as the Canadian Premier does, he had better hold his peace.

General White's army of 12,000 men in Ladysmith was reduced during the siege by 250 officers and men killed, and 246 died of disease, a total of 605, while 570 officers and men were wounded, making a grand total of 1,175 put out of action from these causes. How many were in hospital when relief came we are not told, but it would seem probable that there was still a fighting force of something like 10,000 men which has been now set free.

General Buller appears to have had many messages of congratulation on the relief of Ladysmith, including not a few from Canada. He is a busy man with very important affairs to occupy his attention, and has therefore answered all the Canadian messages in one brief sentence of four words addressed to Lord Minto: "Canadian congratulations much appreciated." This almost equals in brevity Julius Caesar's laconic announcement, "Veni, Vidi, Vici." It is just two words longer than General Suwarof's report to the Czar of his victory at Praga, "Hurrah, Praga." But Gen. Buller's words contain 38 letters, which shows that he knows how to take the full worth of his money in the costly business of cabling from South Africa.

Cavendish and Bay View.

These settlements are now enjoying the privilege of a daily mail. The service began on March 1st. Its a great boon to these places, especially in these stirring war times.

Cavendish Literary Society held their regular meeting on Friday evening March 2nd. It was the occasion of the first issue of the Society's new paper, The Cavendish Literary Magazine, which constituted the entertainment of the evening. It was well received, favorably criticised and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience, and is likely to become a permanent feature of our entertainment, in future meetings. On account of the late favorable news from the seat of war this interesting meeting closed by singing God Save the Queen and by giving three cheers for the Empire and for the Canadian Contingent.

A meeting will be held in Stanley Hall on Thursday the 6th inst. to discuss the long talked of railway to Stanley Bridge. We hope that this meeting will be able to convince the Dominion government of the justice of our claims for railway connection in this section of country.

A move is again attempted in the matter of getting a new Presbyterian church built in Cavendish. One meeting has been held already, without anything definite being accomplished. Another meeting takes place soon at which it is hoped an agreement may be arrived at and a commencement made.

CAVENDISH LITERARY MAGAZINE.

At the rate that the Anglo Saxon people are acquiring territory all over the world, we think that Britain had little to fear from combinations of European powers. With the United States masters of Cuba and the Philippine Islands they are fast becoming a world power, that must be counted in the European diplomacy of the future and as their interests will in the future lie parallel to those of Britain, we may pretty safely count in them as allies in any affair with continental Europe when Britain may want support. With Britain mistress of the seas, and with a world wide territory from which to draw her men and supplies we believe that the British Empire of to-day is in a HEART HUMBAG.

It is fashionable to day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, where as real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is a vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness lack of spirits, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force ending in general break down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. 50c per box. 5 boxes for $2. All druggists, or am Williams & Co., Toronto, Ont.

position to go on with the great work of civilizing the world in spite of the envy and jealousy of Europe. And we feel satisfied that before the Twentieth Century sun shines on the bloody kopjes and brilliant diamonds of South Africa that British supremacy will be acknowledge from Cairo to the Cape, which ere long we expect to be linked together with that iron band of unity and commerce, the "Cape Cairo railroad." A scheme born in the fertile brain of Africa's uncrowned king, Cecil Rhodes, and which we expect to see materialize soon after the war is over.

We have long been of the opinion that such an up-to-date institution as the Cavendish Literary Society should have an organ of its own in which its members may for their mutual benefit, discuss the ever occurring and important questions which agitate the public mind. We think that the magazine should be issued at last monthly during our winter season of meetings. It would be helpful in many ways. In it we might review the new books we read giving our ideas of their teaching and value. By so doing others would be encouraged to read them critically to see if we were right in our estimate of them. But best of all it might induce more of our members to commit their thoughts to paper, and there by improve their style of both writing and speaking.
