

Canadian Cadets Win Farady Cup In Thrilling Shoot

Great Marksmanship On Second Last Day Of Dominion Rifle Meeting — Meet Concludes Today With Last Stage Of Governor - General's Match.

By Harry Eccles,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont., Aug. 18.—A great day of shooting under all conditions tonight had brought the big annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association to its climax—tomorrow's final stage of the Governor-General's match, the Canadian King's Prize.

Strong winds, drenching rain, a hot sun that brought a difficult mirage, and overcast skies that shifted light and shadow along a half mile of targets all were encountered in the course of the day as the City of Ottawa Match, the King's Medal under service conditions, and two great team shoots—the Imperial Cadets Trophy and the Carling Trophy—were decided.

"West" Triumphs

Western Canada triumphed over Central Canada and the Maritimes in the greatest team shoot of the Canadian Bisley, the Carling match at 300, 500 and 600 yds. The three sections each had teams of eight of the finest marksmen their portion of Canada could produce the majority of them veterans of the Empire classics at Bisley.

Drama was packed into the battle between the Imperial Cadets and the Canadian Cadets for the Michael Faraday Trophy, the Canadians winning out by a single point in nearly 500 as the teams of eight cadets fired at 300 and 500 yards, with the issue in doubt until virtually the last shot was fired.

Seven of the entrants finished the big Ottawa individual shoot, at 200 and 300 yards, with scores of 97 out of a possible 100 and they will shoot off for the gold medal, although the veteran Captain J. T. Steel, of Guelph, took first money of $20, his shots being the better placed.

King's Medal

Just over 100 of the finest shots in Canada went out to the ranges early in the evening, after being held up by fresh showers, to shoot for the King's Medal under the stiffest conditions of any match of the meeting, and the sun was setting like a ball of fire as they went through deliberate fire, at 600 yards, rapid fire at 300, snaphooting at 300 and firing while on the run for 600 to 100 yards. Darkness set in before the last relay could complete the conditions and the match will be cleaned up tomorrow.

Young Corporal R. D. McLeod, of Saint John won the Grand Aggregate, consisting of six of the biggest matches of the week, and provided the stiffest test of consistent marksmanship there is at Connaught except the Bisley Aggregate itself, which will not be decided until the last stage of the Governor-General's match has been fired tomorrow afternoon.

Good Scores

McLeod had an aggregate of 527 out of a possible 545 points to take the National Rifle Association of Canada's silver medal and first prize of $30. Lieut. S. Johnson of a cadet service, Calgary, and the veteran C.S.M. G. M. Emslie of Toronto, one of the finest shots Canada ever produced, each had 523 to get $25 and $20 respectively, while young Rfm, D. C. Breton, of Winnipeg and Sergeant James, of Brandon of Toronto, a Bisley shot, each had $20 for $15 and $10.

The biggest gallery of the week went out to the butts to watch the SHEDDIAO, Aug. 18—A moderate supply of lobsters, the first of the season in this district was landed at Point du Chene yesterday morning. Andrew H. Stewart, Point du Chene, superintendent of the R. FIRE IN BARN—Early yesterday afternoon the firemen were called to fight flames in a barn on School Street on the Yeod property. The whole interior of the building was practically ruined before the fire was finally extinguished.

INJURED ON STREET—Thrown to the street when an automobile struck the carriage in which she was driving, Mrs. Ronald McGillivray was thrown to the pavement, and sustained severe injuries. The accident took place on Euston Street West. Mrs. McGillivray was taken to the City Hospital.

COLLISION ON STREET—An automobile and a truck were involved in an accident last evening about 5.30 on Longworth Avenue. A truck moved away from in front of Rix's store in an easterly direction, and was followed closely by a car. As the truck turned at the intersection with Birchwood Street, the car crashed into it, throwing to the street a lad who was in the truck. The boy's wrist was injured. The car was badly damaged.

PERSONALS

Dr. Cyrus MacMillan was able to return home Thursday from the Prince Edward Island Hospital, where he was a patient for the past six weeks.

Mrs. W. W. Brown, 85 Hillboro St., has returned home after a pleasant week at North Rustico a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Pursey.

Rev. Dr. MacGlashen, Mrs. MacGlashen and Miss MacGlashen of Dartmouth, N. S., are visiting their son "Mickey" at Charlottetown. They will return home on Monday.

field shooting conditions for the riflemen by varying ranges at targets shaped like different species of small game. The first demonstration will take place on Sunday, August 19th at the Northern Westchester Rifle Club grounds, Bedford, near New York City.

Louis L. Soreli, the little Italian banker who recently took over Primo Carnera's affairs, says regarding the moving pictures that are to be made of Max and Primo: "You understand it, of course! Soreli says and looks about him. "It is for the moving picture in Hollywood. Baer is making the picture and in it he fights for the Championship. Carnera is the champion, so he wants to fight Carnera. All right. Carnera signs today to fight Baer in the movies, so it is agreed. Two times we make the picture of the fight part. In one they fight a draw—that is for United States. In the other Carnera knock h'm out. That is for Italy and all Europe. Ah, how Italy will like that!"

The secrets of Miss Britain 3rd, English challenger for the Harmsworth International Motorboat Trophy to be competed for on Lake St. Claire, Detroit, September 2nd, reveals a boat of entirely different design from those formerly used. She is the first all metal boat of her type and a creation of a lone designer, Hubert Scott-Payne and a set of workmen who had never before attempted metal boat construction. She was designed, laid down, completed and given her first trial within ten weeks. Her gleaming hull is of aluminum alloy and 86,000 duralumin screws and bolts have been used in her construction. Scott-Payne the designer and constructor, has spent $110,000 in his bid for amateur blue ribbons. The challenger was shipped from England on August 11th. The defending boat will be handled by Gar Wood, who raced against Kaye Don last year and won under rather a cloud.

A new world record of two minutes thirteen seconds was established by Masonri Yusa at Tokio, Japan, last Monday when he won the 200 metre free style swim equal to about 220 yards.

The open golf championship of Germany was won by the Englishman Percy Allday at Baden, Germany, last Monday with a total of 284 strokes for 72 holes.

The Canadian record for 220 yards was lowered from 21 2-5 seconds to 21 1-5 seconds by Bert Pearson of Hamilton, Ont., running at the Thorold Amateur Athletic games, Thorold, Ont., last Saturday. The former record was also held by Pearson.

ers were sunk and lighters and barges laden with cargo were heavily damaged.

Marine Club, a seaside resort, also was damaged when waves battered the pier and swept through the buildings.

A great tree crashed on top of two farm buildings in the enterprise district, killing livestock.

Southern Trinidad

While Southern Trinidad escaped with little damage this time, its thousands of people on plantations and in the fields were suffering new hardships as a result of the June hurricane, which caused 13 deaths and $3,000,000 damage.

In the oilfields, where falling trees had broken pipe lines and spread oil over the land, midsummer crops were reported today as failures, especially on the plantations of the Labrea district. Peasants were facing a shortage of bananas and staple food and planters were in despair.

Trees had been heavily damaged by the hurricane and left with only unmaturing fruit, and the destruction had been completed by an invasion of parrots from the storm-swept Cedros Forests, the reports stated. Earlier reports told of losses on the coconut and cocoa plantations.

ADDRESSED A CADIAN TEACHERS

At a convention of Acadian teachers held Thursday evening at Hope River, addresses were given by Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, and Mr. Justice Arsenault. There was a large attendance of Acadian teachers. Rev. W. V. MacDonald, Hope River, presided. Among those present in addition to the main speakers were Rev. N. Poirer, St. Dunstan's University, Rev. Theodor Gallant, Prof. J. H. Blanchard of Prince of Wales College, and Mr. Peter Gallant, Inspector of Schools.

Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, Minister of Health and Education, reviewed developments of the last two years in education in Prince Edward Island, making reference to the new Prince of Wales College building with its improved facilities, and to the work of the Department of Education in relation to the rural schools. He also stressed the advantages which the people of the province could receive through the new Carnegie Library Demonstration.

Mr. Justice A. E. Arsenault, in his address also made reference to the Library, and to the advantages it would bring to French teachers. French literature would be represented in the Library, and the speaker advocated the formation of circles for the reading and discussion of French literature. He also commended the Department for the direction of French studies in Prince of Wales College. Mr. Justice Arsenault advocated also the teaching of music in the schools, and thought that the teaching of music might well be added to the teacher training course in order that teachers might be qualified to direct singing. Music should be part of every child's education.

A vote of thanks to the speakers was moved by Prof. J. H. Blanchard and seconded by Inspector Gallant.

LEGIONNAIRES SURROUND REBEL BERBERS

Heavy Fighting With Severe Losses On Both Sides Is Reported.

RABAT, Morocco, Aug. 18.—(A. P.)—Sniped at continually by desperate Berber tribesmen, 25,000 French native troops and Foreign Legionnaires methodically mopped up today around Bjebel Badou, last stronghold of the wild Berbers.

Heavy fighting with severe losses on both sides were reported in latest dispatches as the French, determined to clean up the Atlas Region before winter, pressed on against the Berber dissidents.

Djebel Badou was surrounded and the surrender of the last rebels there was expected shortly. Meanwhile the mount peak Koucher was slipping from the rebels' grip. The noted Cherif Moulay Abdeslam, a dissident against French rule since 1912, surrendered with his followers.

Although only the cornered remnants of six die-hard tribes were still fighting, recent battles have been the severest in France's 25-year campaign to pacify Morocco.

About 250 French troops were reported killed in the past week.

Four converging columns of French troops from Marrakech, Tadia, Meknes and eastern Morocco, encircled the last of the dissidents of the high Atlas chain, 175 miles southeast of Rabat.

Foreign Legionnaires, infantrymen, cavalry, artillery and native riflemen toil up tortuous trails under the terrific sun and by the bitter cold of night. The famous French 75 guns were laboriously hauled up for combat, while aeroplanes reconnoitred overhead.

As the rebels were slowly caught between the French lines, advancing at times over a front of 30 miles long, audacious raiding parties were sent back to harass the French and even to pillage the conquered camps of fellow tribesmen.

CORONER'S JURY BRINGS IN FINDING

That Joseph Duffy came to his death by drowning while in a fit of despondency was the finding brought in last evening by a Coroner's jury empanelled to look into the cause of the death of the above named. The jury's report recommended that bars be placed in the windows of the rooms occupied by the patients of Falconwood. The inquest was held before Coroner Dr. L. B. MacKenna, and the following jury: Wm. P. MacLeod, (foreman), T. A. Brothers, Claude Smith, Ivan Watters, Goreham Cook, Seymour Gregory, James Walker, Malcolm MacKenzie, trustee patient, described the condition of Mr. Duffy on the night of his escape. He had been annoyed by a disturbance in the next room. At one time witness had seen him sit on the edge of the bed for half a minute. He had suddenly dashed to the window, and had jumped out. Witness had immediately informed Mr. Payne that Mr. Duffy had jumped out the window. Mr. Duffy had been a good worker, had never voiced any intent of doing away with himself. He had been a nervous patient. The door had not been locked that night. The attendants did not visit trusted patients very often. Mr. Payne had been in charge that night.

Wm. Payne, night watchman in charge, testified that as he had been standing at the front door at 10.35 p. m., he had been called to quiet down a patient. At that time he had visited Mr. Duffy's room, and later moved along. Mr. MacKenzie in a short time had come out, and had informed the witness that Mr. Duffy had jumped out the window. Witness had looked out but could not see any person. He then called Dr. MacLaughlin. Mr. Cameron and Mr. Arsenault had seen barefoot prints on the shore from the sewer to the wharf. These had been obliterated in the water. With Dr. MacLaughlin they had searched the water for some time. Mr. Duffy had been working on the farm, a trusted patient who had all the opportunities of running away if he had pleased. All the patients in the building were trusted patients.

Peter Cameron testified that he had been on duty. He was supposed to look after trusted patients who had the privilege of coming and going almost as they pleased. On the night of Mr. Duffy's escape, he had been called from his bed, and had been informed that the patient had escaped through the window, with Andrew Arsenault he had gone to the shore, had found tracks, and had followed them to the wharf. They had searched for an hour or so with Dr. MacLaughlin, and about 6.30 he had continued the search alone. Witness had not been there when Eugene Blanchard found the body.

Harry Craig, farm manager, stated that he had known Mr. Duffy about three weeks, and that he had found him a first rate man. He had not appeared to be insane at all. He had come to witness about the first of the week, and had inquired if he would have to go back to the Sims Building. He did not wish to go back.

Eugene Blanchard, farm worker, stated that he had gone searching for the body about 11 o'clock. He had gone into the water and had followed tracks in the mud under the water. He had found the body in about three feet of water about 15 yards from the head of the wharf. The body had been floating free in the water.

Dr. R. D. MacLaughlin, Medical Superintendent, testified that he had been called shortly before 11 o'clock Wednesday night by Mr. Payne who had told him that Mr. Duffy had gone out through the window. From experience he had found that it was useless to search for escaped patients at night. A few minutes later Arsenault had informed him of finding tracks. With flashlights they had searched the water for an hour, but had found nothing. Witness stated that he had examined the window where the patient escaped. All the man's clothing had been left hanging in the bed room. There had been a dispute in an adjoining dormitory. In the search in the morning one of the patients under direction had searched in the water. Mr. Duffy had been at the farm about three weeks. He had had a dread of returning to the Sims Building.

Charles Saunders, butcher, stated that about 10.30 he had heard a dispute among some patients. He had called Mr. Payne who had been standing outside the door.

Cameron's Gather At Black River Brackley Point

On Tuesday last, the 15th instant a memorial picnic was held near the head of Black River, Brackley Point, beside a large spring of beautiful clear running water on the site where Alexander Cameron, one of the early pioneers of this Province, first carved out from the forests the nucleus of a home for himself and family over a century ago.

About sixty persons, young and old, descendants of the settler and a few interested friends sat down to a bountiful repast on the bank within a stone's-throw of the old cellar where stood the log house in which the Cameron family lived for many years.

After luncheon Mr. Alfred Cameron of Bonshaw was appointed chairman and called upon Mr. D. Edgar Shaw, K. C., who was familiar with the locality and who pointed out the landmarks to the visitors. Mr. Shaw gave a word-picture of the landing and settlement in this spot and referred particularly to the Shaw branch of the descendants of the late Alexander Cameron. Sarah Cameron, a daughter of the settler had married Neil Shaw of Stanhope and their descendants were traced by the speaker. Special mention was made of two grandsons, namely, the late Judge Henry C. Shaw who for many years held the position of chief Magistrate for the City of Vancouver and was also Judge of the Juvenile Court there, and the late James Curtis Shaw, a noted educationalist, who was connected with the Vancouver High School and College for a long period previously to his lamented demise which took place a number of years ago.

Those present included descendants of the Alexander Cameron family from Bonshaw, Albany, Stancheil, Palmer in Massachusetts, and the State of Connecticut. Needless to say the gathering was of interest as well as pleasure to the home-comers. They expressed the intention of making the "Cameron Gathering" at this spot an annual affair.

Mr. Neil Shaw of DeSable, and who is himself almost an octogenarian, favored the gathering with an old-fashioned rendition of several Gaelic songs. Other Scottish songs including "The March of the Cameron Men" were sung in chorus. Mr. Shaw taking the lead.

A list of those present who are descendants of the late Alexander Cameron was drawn up in the groups of families in the form of a family tree to be kept for future reference.

At the close of the celebration a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. D. E. Shaw for the trouble taken by him in searching the records for information relating to the land grants to the settler and for the address and readings given by him for the information and entertainment of those present.

The greater number of the picnic party availed themselves of the opportunity of bathing in the briny surf at Brackley Beach before returning to their homes, and those who did so voted this the climax of a memorable occasion and a day well spent.

A wire was received by Secretary J. W. Boulter yesterday afternoon stating that fifteen saddlers and jumpers from the Halifax Riding Club are leaving Halifax Saturday evening for Charlottetown and would arrive Monday evening. These, with the entries from the Charlottetown Riding Club, will be quartered in the new stables which have just been completed at the south end of the auto parking ground.

This is the first time that saddlers and jumpers have ever been distinct features at the Provincial Exhibition and the beautiful animals which will be shown will no doubt be viewed with great interest by the people of Prince Edward Island. The judging of the saddlers will take place on Wednesday evening on the race track in front of the grandstand, commencing at eight o'clock. A special row of lights has been installed and a large reflector spot light has been ordered which will be set up and make the track as bright as day. On Thursday afternoon the saddlers and jumpers will be shown in the centre field and will take part in jumping contests there.

The Canadian National Railway have agreed to hold the trains for Souris, Georgetown and Murray Harbour until 5.30 p.m. Wednesday, August 23rd.

NOTES ON THE EXHIBITION

At the close of the celebration a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. D. E. Shaw for the trouble taken by him in searching the records for information relating to the land grants to the settler and for the address and readings given by him for the information and entertainment of those present.

The greater number of the picnic party availed themselves of the opportunity of bathing in the briny surf at Brackley Beach before returning to their homes, and those who did so voted this the climax of a memorable occasion and a day well spent.

Returns From Pleasant Visit To Old Country

Prof. and Mrs. Louis D. Thompson returned home last evening from a very pleasant holiday. Prof. Thompson had a very enjoyable trip to his home in England, and visited many places of interest, including the beautiful Peak District of Derbyshire, also London, Canterbury and the lovely seaside resort of Ramsgate on the southeast coast, where his home is situated.

Industrial conditions, Professor Thompson reports, are much improved in England and the people have every reason to believe that they will be lasting.

Business in London was good. The cost of living is now very low in England since the country adopted the tariff reform policies. The Free Traders predicted that the cost of living would mount up "sky high" and cannot understand why this is not so.

The Old Land still styles herself "Merrie England" and to all appearances the title is justified.
