Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves.

Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

NEW APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Tertius Harper has been appointed police officer in the place of Officer James S. Walker, who has gone to the front with the First Canadian Contingent.

ACCIDENT.—The schooner "Marion G." which was brought into port by Capt. L. Wood, went ashore at Point Tuplin. She was successfully floated, however, and is now proceeding on her voyage. The extent of the damage is unknown.

ANOTHER ISLANDER.—Among the many island boys who volunteered for the front was Corporal Walter McLean, son of Mr. James McLean, Gaytown, who has been in Winnipeg for several years and is now in England.

WEDNESDAY'S MEETING.—There will be an important meeting of the different Patriotic Funds held in the Presbyterian Church at Marsfield, on Wednesday evening at 7.30. Among those present will be Mr. T. C. James, and Mr. J. E. B. McNulty, of Charlottetown.

VICTORIA PERSONALS.—Mr. Ishi Priest, representative of the Victoria and Son, Halifax, N.S., was in Victoria, Friday in the interests of his firm.—Mr. Ganong, salesman for Ganong Bros., Confectionery, St. Stephen, was in Victoria, Saturday, on a business trip.—Mr. Sydney Green, salesman for Carvell Bros., Charlottetown, was in Victoria on Saturday.—Mrs. F. Batt, Charlottetown, is spending a week in Victoria, the guest of Mrs. R. P. Rogerson, "Beacon House."

PRODUCE.—Produce is pouring steadily into Victoria although not such a brisk rate as in previous times of the year. Early potatoes are not in demand as there is no market for them in the usual shipping centres. Wright Bros. took in about 3,000 bushels of oats last week, the price paid being 46c. per bushel for white and 48c. for black. They also received an average of about ten tons of pressed hay a day, the price paid being $13.50 per ton. The price paid for butter is from 23c. to 24c. per lb. and for eggs, 24c. per doz.—V.

PRESENTATION.—Mrs. John Flett entertained the rector, organist and choir of Christ Church on Monday evening, says an Amherst exchange, to say farewell to Prof. Wright and Mrs. Wright, who are leaving this week to take up their residence in New Glasgow, where the Professor will be organist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church there. Rev. Mr. Bibbles, on behalf of the company, presented Prof. and Mrs. Wright, who have many friends in Charlottetown, with a very handsome marble clock.

WHARF REPAIRS.—Extensive repairs are being made on Government wharf, Victoria. The wharf is being made considerably wider which will greatly add to facilitate shipping. Heretofore the wharf was narrow, except for a short distance from the outer end. The width is being carried back far enough to accommodate two vessels on each side, thus leaving the berth at the end clear for the S. S. Harland. The work is being done under the direction of Mr. Charles R. M. Palmer, Victoria. The D. P. W. Dredge is still at work dredging out the docks. When the work in the docks is completed there is still considerable work for the dredge at the entrance of the harbour which will probably take from two to three weeks to finish. The tug Fred M. Batt is working in conjunction with the dredge.—V.

BURGLARIOUS ATTEMPTS.—During the past week or two there have been attempts at burglary in Charlottetown, and in three instances at least, premises have been entered. On Thursday night the store of Johnson & Johnson, at the Corner of Prince and Kent streets, was entered by the breaking of a window, but nothing of any consequence was taken; and between midnight on Saturday and 9 o'clock Sunday morning the premises of Messrs. F. Madrox & Co., on Queen street, were broken into, again the means of entrance being the window. A pane of glass was broken and the burglar or burglars entered that part of the store used for the manufacture of temperate drinks and carried off a quantity of beer. The invaders left behind them, as a memento of their visit, an iron crow bar, which Detective Bradley, who is handling the case, thinks is one that was undoubtedly used in the entrance of Johnson's drug store. Pegarden's store on Prince street, is another that was unlawfully entered and in this case a lot of cigarettes were stolen. Business men should take warning by these preliminary exploits and safeguard their stores against similar incursions.

came delirious with pain, and the young Frenchman, still, feverish and weak himself, saw that it was necessary to do something to bring the officer to a place where he would be safe and would receive attention. "Jean tried to lift the Englishman, but found that he had not sufficient strength left to take his comrade on his shoulder. So, half lifting him and dragging and rolling him at times, the gallant little plou-prou brought the wounded English officer nearer and nearer to safety and help. The journey was two miles long. . . . But at last it was over.

MAY GET VICTORIA CROSS.

"The two men came upon some trenches occupied by the Allied forces; they were recognized and taken in charge by an officer of the English Red Cross. They had both just enough strength left to shake hands and say good-bye. "If I live through this," said the officer of the Guards, "I shall do my best to get you the British Victoria Cross. I've your number and that of your regiment. God bless you, comrade." And the Guardsman lost consciousness.

"Jean Berger lies in hospital here in Victoria; he is expected to recover. "That is the story; and that is why I believe that England will think that Jean Berger, 'simple soldier,' of the Second Regiment of Infantry, should become Jean Berger, V. C.

"For the two nations have become one by blood shed and bravery displayed, and in addition, a little incident which I can relate will show that there is a precedent for a union of honors as there is evidence of a complete union of hearts.

"In the British Expeditionary Force there is an English soldier, a member of a cyclist corps, who is proud to wear upon his breast the 'Medaille Militaire' of the French Army.

"The story of the stirring incident has been told to me by Henri Roger, a young soldier of the Fifth Infantry, who saw it from the trenches and who is now lying wounded in hospital here. "During one of the engagements last week on the River Aisne the Fifth was holding an entrenched position and was faced in the distance by a strong force of the enemy. To the right and left of the opposing forces were large clumps of trees, in one of which a force of English troops had taken up a position, a fact regarding which the Germans were unaware. In the other woods, it was soon discovered, lay a considerable body of German infantry with several machine gun sections.

CYCLIST WINS DECORATION

"A road ran beside the wood in which the enemy lay hidden, and along it a force of French infantry was seen to be advancing. How were they to be saved from the ambush into which they were marching? That was the problem, and it was a difficult one.

Every time the French troops in the trenches endeavored to signal to their oncoming comrades hidden German sharpshooters picked off the signallers. Soon the position seemed to be almost desperate; every moment one entrenched French soldier expected to hear the hideous swish of the Maxims mowing down their unsuspecting comrades.

"Suddenly, however, something happened which attracted the attention of the French and German trenches. From the wood where the English lay hidden a cyclist dashed—the English, too, had seen the danger, and a cyclist had been ordered to carry a message of warning to the advancing French column several hundreds strong.

"The cyclist bent low in his saddle and darted forward; he had not gone a hundred yards before he fell, killed by a well-aimed German bullet. A minute later another cyclist appeared on, in a second or two, to share his comrade's fate.

"Then a third—the thing had to be done! The bullets whizzed around him, but on he went over the fire swept zone. The Frenchmen held their breath as they watched the gallant cyclist speeding toward the French column; puffs of smoke from the wood where the Germans were showing their sharpshooters were redoubling their efforts. But the cyclist held on and soon passed beyond some high ground where he was sheltered from the Germans but could still be seen by the entrenched French. "The Frenchmen could not resist a loud "Hurrah!" when they saw the daring cyclist dismount on reaching the officer in command of the troops which he had dared death to save.

"The officer heard the message and took in the position at a glance. He gave an order or two instantly, and turned to the Englishman. "Then was there a fine but simple battle picture which should live. "The deed which had saved hundreds of lives was one of those which bring glory as of old back to the honor of modern warfare. Courage, and courage alone, had triumphed, unsupported by any of the murderous machinery of the armies of today.

"That was what the French officer recognized. He saluted the gallant fellow standing by the cycle. Then, with a simple movement, took the "medaille militaire"—the Victoria Cross of France—from his own tunic and pinned it on the coat of the Englishman.

"I am glad," young Roger told me when he had finished relating the story, "to have lived to see that deed. It was glorious!"
