WEDDING BELLS.—St. Joseph' Church, Kelly's Cross was the scen of an interesting ceremony when o the morning of the 29th, Miss Byn Malone, one of South Melville's mos popular young ladies and Mr. Pete Tole of Bonshaw were united in mar riage by their pastor, Rev. Dr. Cur ran. The bride looked winsome in dress of amethyst satin with plush coat and white hat and was attended by her cousin Miss Anna Kelly o Kinkora, tastefully gowned in a blu suit with grey furs while Mr. Charle Tole the groom's brother took the par of groomsman. At the conclusion o the ceremony and after the congratulations of their many assembled friends, the bridal party drove to Charlottetown returning the follow ing day to South Melville where in the same evening they were greeted by some immedjate friends and an unusual large number of serenader The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome muff and to the bridesmaid a set of pearl ear-rings. Their many friends wish them bon voyage through life.

"Some Little Bug is Going to Find You Some Day"

Practically all acute and contagious diseases are caused by the presence in the body of minute organisms which we call germs. Acute inflammation and blood poisoning come from the same source. The slighest scratch upon the skin may result seriously if the wound becomes infected with certain germs. Proper heed for health demands that a reliable antiseptic and germicide be kept on hand.

Synol Soap

is an effective application for sores, wounds and external inflammations. It is also an excellent gargle and mouth wash.
