NEW PASTOR WELCOMED. The Souris Methodist church congregation listened most attentively to a very eloquent sermon delivered by their newly appointed pastor, Rev. J. F. Donny, who for the past few years has labored as a missionary in British Guiana. The church was appropriately decorated for Armistice Sunday with flags and bunting, a beautiful memorial tablet being in the church in memory of the boys E. Canoy and P. C. Poole who fell in the late war. The touching sermon most appropriate to the occasion was listened to with the keenest interest. Mr. Donny was cordially welcomed to his new charge.

PHYSICAL INSTRUCTOR—Sergt. Major H. R. Nelson, of the R. C. R. Force, Halifax, spent the last week in Georgetown with the cadet corps, but owing to the inclemency of the weather for the greater part of the week his work was confined to physical training in the different departments of the school. He will proceed to Montague and Cardigan on Monday where he will conduct similar classes.

SHIPPING SEAWEEED—A rather extraordinary sight was witnessed recently in Georgetown when several of the local truckmen were engaged in hauling seaweed to the railway station where it was packed on cars and exported to inland towns. Cardigan received several cars of it. It is generally made of seaweed which is laboriously used for House Banking, yet its general usefulness for heating is likely to be called into play. This is the first year that seaweed has ever been exported from this port.

ASSISTANCE APPRECIATED.—Capt. John Smith, first officer of the S. S. Canare, arrived at his home in Georgetown Saturday night and will spend a short vacation there. Mr. Smith had the misfortune of spraining his ankle while on the way home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are high in their praise of the citizens of Cardigan, Montague and Georgetown who so heroically fought the flames during the recent fire, thereby saving their home from ruin. It indeed was splendid work and everyone is deserving of credit. The line was formed to the shore and a continuous stream of water was poured on the burning building. At no time was there a scarcity of water. In fact several times as many as fifty buckets were in readiness to be dashed upon the flames. Several of the men received bad burns mostly on the hands and face. Practically all had their clothes burned while fighting the blaze and several times it was found necessary to dash water on them to prevent burning.

EASTERN PERSONALS.—Miss Bertha Smith, student at Union Commercial College, spent the week end at her home in Georgetown.—Mr. Ivan Koefe, Halls Bay Cross, was a week end visitor.—Mr. James N. McPhee's Big Band.—Miss Louise Ainfrey, of St. Stephen's, N. B., is visiting grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Parson, Fernandville.—The many friends of Mr. J. A. White of St. John's, N. S., will regret to learn of his serious illness.

PALACE OF HEROD. Beauty Spots Uncarved in Wonder City of Askalon. The walks where the rulers of the Hebrews once strode as they mediated their plans for conquest and power, the courts where the mighty men and beautiful women of the Biblical kingdom held their feasts, and the fountains where the ancient goddess Ashereth was worshipped with strange Oriental rites, are at last beginning to yield their secrets to the prying spades and axes of modern explorers. Truly, after two years of rearing from the agonies of war, Palestine is preparing for another and more peaceful invasion, wrote Mr. W. J. Phythian-Alanis in the latest number of the Asiatic Review. He was referring to the plans of the Palestine Exploration Fund, which has sent a large expedition to dig up the art treasures of the buried cities of the Holy Land. Word has just come that the renewed activities of British excavators have had some extraordinary successes. Archaeologists are present uncovering many splendid Graeco-Roman buildings and statues throughout Judea, and some few examples of ancient pottery. Most of the newly-found treasures were probably erected by Herod the Great, famous as the FREE TRADE AND DIRECT TAXATION.

The British Prime Minister the other day, when addressing the Labour Mayors at Glasgow, said that he had been informed by one taxpayer that, with landed taxes and local rates 18s 7d out of every pound of his income was absorbed in duties for the tax and his coffee and he had no control of it whatsoever. That, said Mr. Lloyd George, is a thing that nobody has seen in this country before, and he added that while the numbers of those who paid as much as 18s 7d in the pound might be few, there were many who were being mulcted to the extent of 15s. or 75 per cent. of their income. But the Prime Minister's figure of 18s 7d is by no means the highest that has been recorded. A few months ago the figures were published of the burdens falling on the Duke of Buccleuch's estates in Eskdale and Liddisdale, just over the Scottish border, estates which have always been kept up in a high state of efficiency and fully abreast of the most advanced agricultural knowledge of the day. During the years 1912-20 the rental remained fairly constant at about £42,500, but the net burden, increased in that period from £3,400 to £22,780, a rise of from 2s 10d in the pound to 10s 9d. After deducting costs of management, maintenance, and repairs, the net burden per pound of rental rose from 5s 6d in 1912 to 19s 7d in 1920, and the net return of income slipped down from £22,227 to £4,468. We wonder how many of those who talk glibly about the blessings of Free Trade and a low tariff think of the inevitable results in direct taxation. In this Province practically every man is a proprietor of land. If the tariff under which each man pays taxes as he purchases goods, were displayed by direct taxation upon land, as in Great Britain how would the farmer proprietors here like to be taxed proportionately to those of the proprietors in Great Britain?

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT Avoid indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things. Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid, and prevent the formation of gas, nervousness and premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals. There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a detergent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of peptic pills or artificial digestants. Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."
