

I've found the most flavorful coffee

MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee

TRY IT YOURSELF—SEE IF YOU DON'T GET MORE RICH FLAVOR AND GOODNESS IN EVERY POUND

Read Why:

- 1 Maxwell House is extra delicious and fuller bodied because it contains more choice, extra-flavored, highland-grown coffees.
2 This better blend is roasted by a remarkable process that roasts every single coffee bean evenly all through.
3 Maxwell House is packed in a Super-Vacuum tin—the only way to keep coffee so that it can't lose flavor.

2 GRINDS—DRIP and REGULAR Ground to the right degree of fineness and always uniform.

A monthly meeting of the Red Cross Society met at the home of Mrs. W. A. MacMillan with the president, Mrs. J. S. MacLeod in the chair and thirteen members present. Reports were received. The Finance Committee reported on proceeds of social evening in hall. The satisfactory sum of $39.63 clear was realized. Ten dollars was voted for Russian Relief. Letters of thanks were read from Clarence MacLean and Wilfred Watts two of our boys overseas. They received their Christmas boxes and enjoyed them greatly. Next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Murdoch Cutcliffe. Material for little boys' suits was cut. Collection amounted to 95 cents. Meeting closed with the "King."

Mrs. Hilson MacMillan left recently on a visit to her home in Conn. U. S. A. Her many friends here wish her a happy re-union with her family and friends there, and assure her of a cordial welcome when she returns.

Friends throughout the province will regret the illness of Mr. Pope Bagnall and hope he may soon be well again.

Mrs. Leo Morrell and little son Aubrey, were recent visitors to P. Edricton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spence have returned home after a pleasant visit to Charlottetown, the guest of their daughter, Mrs. Harry Murphy and Mr. Murphy. They also visited their son Honeywell who is a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital and found him in good spirits.

Recent visitors to Charlottetown included, Mr. W. G. Danks, Mr. Murdoch Cutcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Carew, Miss Shirley Carew, Mrs. Davis Smith, Mrs. Lorenzo Smith, Mrs. Alexis Murphy, Hope River, Mrs. Herbert MacLeod.

LAC Earl Ling is at present visiting his wife and family at Fredericton.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Ray Bernard in the death of her eldest daughter Phyllis which occurred Jan. 17th at her home here, and to her husband, Mr. Ray Bernard, somewhere in England.

Mr. Bruce Crozier of Darnley, who has been a patient in the Provincial sanatorium for several months, was recently an overnight guest of his cousin, Mrs. Frank Bagnall and Mr. Bagnall. He left on Saturday, Jan. 10 for Chislehurst, Ontario, for an extended visit to his brother, Leigh Crozier, M. D. His many friends throughout the province wish him a complete return of health. He speaks in glowing terms of the treatment he received while in the "san."

Mrs. George D. MacLeod is at present the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George MacMillan and it is pleasing to report that she is enjoying excellent health.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Post upon the arrival of a baby boy on December 25th, Howard Edward.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ling, New Glasgow were recent visitors here, enroute to their home after a pleasant visit to their daughter at Carleton.

Miss Helen Crowds was a welcome visitor at the Manse recently and was the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Rev. L. M. and Mrs. Murray.

Congratulations and best wishes are being extended to two of our local boys and their brides named W. M. Robert G. Silliphant whose marriage to Miss Hilda MacEachern of Charlottetown took place at the Baptist parsonage, Charlottetown on January 10th and Mr. Ralph D. MacFadden whose marriage to Miss Gladys Poland of Kensington took place at the Manse, here, on January 14th.

Sincere sympathy is extended to

NAVY PROMOTION — Mr. Francis J. Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle of 58 Kent St., has been awarded the rank of petty officer in the Navy Department. Mr. Doyle is a member of the Canadian Marine Corps.

ISLANDER BEREAVED — There passed peacefully away in the Boston Hospital on Dec. 29th Bertram R. Smith, after a brief illness of heart trouble. Mr. Smith formerly came from New York and was highly respected and liked by all who knew him. He was in his usual good health and never complained so his passing came as a shock to his widow who was formerly Miss Ella Calbeck of Tryon, Prince Edward Island.

ENJOYING VISIT — Mrs. W. E. Leonard of Delta, Ohio, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. C. Wood and family of Gowanda, N. Y. Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Leonard were born on P. E. I. and resided there a good many years. They were in Buffalo for a few days shopping, accompanied by Mrs. Wood's granddaughter Ethel Earle, who was taking exams and expects to enter a hospital this fall for training as a nurse. The day was one of the most severe in western New York for some years, a real blizzard with roads so blocked for miles it was hard for cars, buses or trucks to get along. The trip from Gowanda to Buffalo takes an hour but this time it took four. It reminded these ladies of the storms on good old P. E. I. and they enjoyed it. They returned to Gowanda by train. Mrs. Leonard visited her niece and family Mr. and Mrs. Earle and had 6 o'clock dinner with them. She attended church with her sister and had the pleasure of hearing a man from England preach. On Tuesday the sisters had afternoon tea with Mrs. Garfield Wood in her lovely home. Mrs. Leonard also visited different places of interest. Mrs. Leonard left Wednesday the 14th for Hiram, Ohio, to spend a few days with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Spencer and grandson Leonard Spencer. She expects to return home to Delta, Ohio, this week where Mr. and Mrs. Leonard own a large fox ranch. (Other Papers Please Copy.)

HUGHES-MCLEOD — On Monday morning January 12, a pretty wedding was celebrated in St. Patrick's Church, Montreal, when the Reverend Father Ryan united in marriage Miss Evelyn Hughes and Harold McLeod, both formerly of Kenzie. Both attendants are also former Islanders. After the wedding the bridal party partook of a sumptuous breakfast, served in the banquet hall of the Berkeley Hotel and afterwards motored to Ottawa and points in the province of Quebec. Their many friends unite in wishing them many years of happiness.

CHAPTER XXV

ISOBEL'S ORDEAL

Within an hour of reading the news of Leonard Mason's arrest, Peggy was knocking at the door of her sister's flat. Isobel opened. She looked suspiciously at Peggy. "Who are you, please—and what do you want?" she echoed. It was a shock to Peggy to find that her own sister did not recognize her.

"It was bound to come," said Isobel later, after a storm of tears. "I begged him to go back to his old business, but he wouldn't, and now—" Another sob shook her. "And now," said Peggy, "we have to make the best of a bad job. What do you want to do, Isobel—to leave him?" Isobel stiffened.

"No, on! He's my husband. He has always been good to me. I love him. I'll manage somehow. You'd better go away, Peggy. It was good of you to come, but you can't do anything," Peggy answered was to kiss her sister again. Isobel has had a bitter lesson, but she had taken it to heart.

"I can do quite a lot—at least, I can try," said Peggy, with determination. "You had no idea what he was when you married him, Isobel?" said Peggy, when her sister became normal again and showed a desire to talk of her husband.

"Of course not. I believed he was a motor salesman—he was once. Then he got into trouble over a stolen car. I don't know much about it, but I don't think it was his fault. But he lost his job. Somehow, he fell in with a 'bad lot.' Again she stopped and drew a long breath. "Peggy, I've done all I know to make him stop. But all he says is that he can't see me starve. I'm afraid the police have a great deal against him, but he isn't really bad," she ended earnestly.

"I'm sure he isn't," Peggy said, comfortingly, "but now we have to face facts. And thus Peggy steered the talk to helpful conclusions. Peggy's own eyes were misty as she found her way down into the streets—but they were happy tears. Isobel, whom she had lost, was found. She rang up Mr. Meaken and made an appointment. She found the old lawyer in his first floor office, a beautiful room with fine oak beams. He chatted her about her changed appearance, but they soon came to business, and Peggy told the whole story.

"I read the case," said Mr. Meaken. "There's not the faintest hope of getting Mason off, but counsel might get a sentence of three years instead of five. I'll instruct your Gifford. His fee will not be extortionate. Can you run to five guineas, Peggy?" "Of course. And you are kind," He smiled.

"Tell me about yourself, Peggy." It was a relief to become Peggy Gifford for a while, to talk without having to think of every word you said—above all to get news of John Arkwright. Peggy told Mr. Meaken of the reappearance of the man she had known in first time since 1917. She said, "I saw her old friend really angry."

"The man is hopeless," he said sternly. "Of course he is looking for a rich wife and, if he finds one, her money will go down the sink with the rest."

'THE CURLING RINK' at Montague is in full swing, and, as in skating rink many familiar faces are missing.

'THE S. S. ULNA' from Sydney loaded produce on Jan. 6th at Montague sailing for her home port after that. This was rather unusual winter has set in well since since that time it has been a most unusual fall and winter to date. L.

'CHURCH MEETING' — The regular meeting of the Ladies Circle of the Christian Church was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. J. Stewart. After the routine business was taken care of a social hour was spent over the tea cups when the hostess served a dainty lunch.

'MONTAGUE SCHOOL' is progressing with its lessons under the efficient management of the Principal, Mr. Herring and his staff. Professor Richard Matheson is the splendid instructor of grade eleven. The school everything being in a sanitary condition. This speaks well for the janitor in co-operation with the monthly visiting committees. L.

'W. I. MEETING' — The regular meeting of the Montague Women's Institute was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 6th. After reports of all committees were heard, speakers dealt with the matter of preparing and furnishing a room for visiting service men was discussed. This will probably dispense with the co-operation of all other local societies into a satisfactory arrangement, to entertain "Our Boys." The president, Mrs. Howard Vickerson presided at the deliberations. L.

'BIBLE SOCIETY MEETING' — At the last meeting of the Week of Prayer Services which was on Friday at the United Church with Rev. Paul Richardson as speaker. The annual meeting of the Bible Society was held following the service. The reports showed a good year, a vote of thanks was tendered to all workers by the chairman, Rev. S. E. Hayward. The following new officers were appointed. President, Mr. N. J. Nicholson. Vice President, Mr. J. E. Fraser. Secretary, re-elected, Mrs. B. W. Beck. Treasurer, re-elected, Mr. W. D. Johnstone. L.
