Joint Meeting Favors Potato Bonus Scheme

At a special joint meeting of the Head of Hillsboro Women's Institute and Potato Growers held on the evening of May 13th, the following resolution, moved by Mr. Harvey Douglas and seconded by Mr. Walter Myers was adopted unanimously.

Whereas, the potato growers of this province have been unable to sell their potatoes at a price equal to cost of production and find themselves in very straitened circumstances, and,

Whereas, the farmers have been unable to meet their fertilizer obligation and have received no cash on last year's crop, and the necessity of planting another crop is before us; and,

Whereas, the farmers of the Western provinces have received a bonus on wheat, this province paying its share;

Whereas, this province is in just as serious circumstances,

Therefore, be it resolved that we request the Dominion Government to grant the potato growers a bonus of ten dollars ($10) an acre up to six acres on their 1934 crop; and,

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Federal Members and Senators of this province, to be presented to the Government at Ottawa.

The following resolution, moved by Mr. Ralph Coffin and seconded by Mr. Cameron MacLauchlan, was also unanimously endorsed by the meeting:

Be it resolved that this meeting request the Provincial Government to restrict the acreage of potatoes grown by means of a tax of twenty dollars ($20) on each acre over ten acres to any one farmer.

(Signed), Lawson Douglas, Chairman; Miss Isabel Waye, Secretary.

RISKED DEATH WHEN PLANE WAS DISABLED

Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith Praises Work Of Navigator.

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire)

SYDNEY, Australia, May 15—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australia's trail-blazing aviator, said "I thought we were gone" today after he and two companions won a fight for life over the storm-lashed Tasmanian Sea in the veteran airplane "The Southern Cross."

Nervously puffing on a cigarette, the haggard and drawn Kingsford-Smith gave all the credit for their escape from death to his navigator, Captain P. C. Taylor.

It was Taylor who coolly risked death after one of the three motors dropped into the sea by climbing six times out on the plane's wings, despite howling winds, to transfer oil in the two sputtering motors. Unable to get altitude, the ship then was almost in the water. They were 500 miles out to sea bearing a cargo of special Jubilee mail to Wellington, N. Z., when a propeller and motor tore loose and plunged into the sea, throwing an extra burden on the other two motors.

Transfers Oil

"No other man in the world could have done it," said Sir Charles of Taylor's feat. "When the port motor went out Taylor said: "You stall her while I crawl out to see if I can get oil from the bad motor.' And he did it, not once but six times!"

Taylor, Sir Charles said, took a thermos flask and clinging to a strut in a terrific wind filled it with oil from the disabled starboard motor, then climbing back, emptied the lubricant into the port motor, which had petered out from lack of oil.

Kingsford-Smith's first words upon his arrival at the airdrome here were to his wife: "It's all right, they can't kill me."

Calling Taylor "the world's greatest hero," he explained the plane's wings were almost touching the waves when Taylor revived the sputtering centre motor with the pint of pressure oil in the nick of time.

Once Enough

Taylor himself modestly hugged the backward, but finally grinned and admitted "once is enough. That is all I can say. Anyone but Kingsford-Smith would have crashed."

The fliers dumped the Jubilee mail into the sea and turned about when misfortune overtook them. All Australia was on edge as terse wireless messages told of the plane's plight.

Kingsford-Smith once sent out an SOS message after expressing the hope "Sydney will have a fast destroyer handy." Later he said, "afraid I am in the sea" but after their gruelling battle the fliers conquered and brought the Southern Cross to Sydney.

Kingsford-Smith is the hero of both daring Atlantic and Pacific pioneer hops in the plane.

In the event of any person planting more than 5 acres, they shall forfeit to the said Dominion Government the sum of $25 (twenty-five dollars) for each acre under potatoes over 5 acres on each farm.

Steamship Crews Strike For Pay By Year.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LE HAVRE, France, May 15—French line steamship crews struck today, demanding that they be paid by the year instead of by the trip, and kept the liner Champlain from sailing for New York with 298 passengers and $6,000,000 worth of gold.

The strike also threatened to delay the sailing May 29 of the huge super-liner Normandie, France's new "Queen of the Seas" now undergoing her final tests, on her maiden voyage to the United States.

Leaders of the strike, which involved 1,000 members of the crew of the Normandie, 500 of the Champlain and 300 of the Lafayette, went to Paris to confer with Minister of Marine William Bertrand. Bertrand, the strikers claimed, recently promised the crews they would be paid on the yearly basis, thus ensuring them against unemployment.

If the strike, which tonight was reported spreading to Bordeaux, has not been settled by eight a. m., tomorrow, the Champlain's passengers and cargo will be transferred to the President Harding which sails at noon.

French line officials said the conflict was entirely between the crew and the Ministry of Merchant Marine, with the company not involved.

FATAL ACCIDENT

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, May 16—A fireman aboard the tanker R. D. Leonard was killed when it collided today with the Argonaut Line freighter Charles H. Cramp between Staten Island and Brooklyn.

The R. D. Leonard incurred damage to its bridge, rails, one lifeboat, and several plates under the poop deck. The Charles H. Cramp had several plates on her stern smashed.
