BATHING THE FACE.

Do you ever wonder why those ugly blemishes, the pimples and blackheads are so apt to collect on the face when there are so many places less noticeable where the skin remains as soft and smooth as a baby's? It is partly due to the fact that the skin on the face is so much more sensitive and is the first place to reflect disorders. As irritation is not good for the eruptions, this sensitiveness should be considered. When you can use rain water for washing the face; otherwise soften the hard water with specially prepared lotions to be had at very little cost.
