THE LAND AND ITS POSSIBILITIES.

There, surely is a text upon which reams and reams of facts and figures could be written. This is how a local paper refers to the subject:

"It would be most regrettable if any industry, even the great fox industry, should entice our people away from the land and its possibilities. There never was a time in our history when these possibilities bulged larger than they do now, and those who will read the signs of the times aught will see in the changed relations between production and consumption of farm products an added reason to place more faith in the land."

The "possibilities" undoubtedly do "bulk larger" than ever before.

A book was published some years ago entitled "Ten Acres Enough." But ten acres will not be enough for the Island farmer when the Prince Edward Island Cereal Co., once has its rolled oats mill in operation.

The mill will share with a capacity of 300 barrels a day, or about one million bushels per annum. But this will only be a starter. The plant will be so constructed that it can be enlarged, and therefore the output may in a few years be two or three times as large as at first.

Mr. Bren has quintupled the output of his present mill in five years, and if he succeeds as well in Charlottetown there will be lively work amongst the farmers to hand out the raw material.

"The land and its possibilities" is truly a fruitful theme, to which we may revert at a future time.

THE LAST BUNCH.

By yesterday morning's western train out of Charlottetown the last crowd of visitors to the Exhibition left for their homes. They were fully a car-load in number, and were some of the large contingent that came over from the other Maritime Provinces to attend the great P. E. I. Fair. Those who left yesterday were practically all bound for New Brunswick.

THOUGHTFUL ACT.

During the morning service in Zion Church Sunday, Rev. Geo. C. Taylor drew the attention of the congregation to the record held by two pupils in Zion Church Sabbath School—the Misses Jean and Marion McMillan, daughters of Mr. James D. McMillan, of this city. Miss Jean who is thirteen years old, had not missed one day at Sabbath School for ten years, and Marion, who is only ten, has not missed a day for four years. At the afternoon session—which was Rally Day in connection with the Sabbath School, each of these young ladies was presented with a Bible, in recognition of their faithful attendance.

NEW RAILWAY STATION.

One of the best evidences of the growing prosperity of the island is to be found in the fact of the building to be undertaken shortly, of a new railway station at O'Leary, Prince County. The station that is there at present is the same that was built when the railroad in this island was inaugurated. The need for a larger and better station has become imperative with the expansion of O'Leary from a straggling settlement into a flourishing little township, which it is today. The new station will be erected close to the site of the existing station. It will be of the same design as the station at Kensington, but whereas the latter is built of stone, the new O'Leary station will be constructed of wood. It is to be not only a larger structure, but a better and more conveniently arranged station than the present one. There will be commodious waiting rooms for both ladies and gentlemen, a large baggage room and a well appointed ticket office. The present station will be utilised as a freight house; the walls of the ticket office will be taken away and the place turned into a large freight store. The contract for the building of the new station has just been awarded, and it is satisfactory to note that the successful tenderers are an Island firm, Messrs. Kennedy & Co. of O'Leary.

WOOLLEN MILL PROPOSITION.

According to the present shape of things, it is probable that Charlottetown will have its woollen mill in the near future. The proposition that has been put before the business men of this city for the establishment of a factory of that kind has met with encouraging support, and it is understood that most of the prominent business men have expressed their readiness to finance the concern. As has already been stated in The Guardian, the proposal is to erect a mill in Charlottetown, equipped with the latest and best machinery, to be capable of turning out daily 25 dozen high-class garments of unshrinkable woollen underwear, sweaters, etc., and necessitating the employment of over thirty employees, and the consumption annually of 120,000 lbs. of raw wool, which will be procured in this island, whose product in this line is as is known of the best quality to be obtained in Canada.

STILL MORE.

Three more for companies have been organized and are in course of incorporation in this Province, being "The Glendale Silver Black Fox Company, Ltd.," "The International Fur Farming Co., Ltd.," and "The Murray River Black Fox Co., Ltd." The proposed capital of the first named is $60,000, divided into 1,200 shares of the value of $50 each, the office or chief place of business is to be at Glendale, Queen's County, and the applicants for the incorporation of the company are John J. McDonald, merchant, of Tracadie, Tross; Joseph Egan, farmer of Scotch Fort; Major C. McKinnon, farmer and trader of Glendale; Arthur W. McKinnon, farmer of Glendale and William Henry Townsend, a contractor, of Rollo Bay. Of these, the first three are to be the provisional directors. In the case of the International Fur Farming Company, the chief place of business is to be at Summerside, and while the proposed capital is $25,000, divided into 2,500 shares of the value of $100 each, the applicants for incorporation being John A. Lea, fox rancher of Summerside; Henry P. Cleveland and Frank S. Morrison, brokers of Boston, Mass.; Viola C. Lea, of Summerside, and Walter J. O'Donnell, banker of Boston; of whom the first three are to be the provisional directors of the company. The proposed capital of the last named company is $150,000, divided into 1,500 shares of the value of $100 each; the office or principal place of business is to be at Murray River, and the provisional directors, who are all also the applicants for incorporation, will be Murdoch J. McLeod, merchant; William Kearney, trader; Thomas L. Cook, farmer; Philip Lowe, farmer; William Landry, and Walter Kearney, farmers, all of Murray River.

ISLANDERS SUCCESS.

It is understood that Miss Katherine Hughes, the well-known Catholic writer, has been appointed assistant to Mr. J. Reid, the newly elected Agent General for Alberta, in London, England. Miss Hughes has had a wide newspaper training, and besides her journalistic work has written two biographies, "Archbishop O'Brien, Man and Churchman," and "Father Lacombe of the Black Robe Voyageur." Miss Hughes is a native of this island and well known on account of her writings. She is a niece of the late Archbishop O'Brien, Halifax.

A STRANGE HOAX.

Guardian readers will remember a report published in some of the Island newspapers including The Guardian, of the reported drowning, at Athabasca Landing, of Mr. Samuel Waugh, formerly of North Bedoune, and a subsequent contradiction of the report. A letter was received, Saturday, by The Guardian, from Mr. Edgar H. Waugh, a cousin of the supposed victim of the accident, enclosing a clipping from The North-
