THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 27, 1907.

MINISTERS' SONS AND DEACONS' DAUGHTERS.

There is a proverb that we need not here repeat about minister's sons and deacon's daughters. For that matter we may leave the daughters out, as they are not in politics in Canada—as yet. Bye and bye, when they grow tired of bridge and golf, they may add new distractions to our public life, as they are already doing in Australia, New Zealand and elsewhere. But leaving them aside for the present, it may be fitting to inquire why there should have been a proverb about the sons of the good men who attain to office in the churches.

For, be it observed, a proverb is a common, pithy saying, supposed to express what is generally recognized as true. Is the proverb to which we have referred true? Well, we may mention in passing that the Honorable Henry R. Emmerson is a Baptist minister's son, while the Honorable George Eulas Foster and George Weeden Fowler are Baptist deacons' sons. We have only to add what the excellent Liberal journals have said and are saying about George E. and George W. to what the worthy Conservative journals have said and are saying about Henry R. to make out a strong prima facie case for the proverb in question.

Not that they are really so bad as they are painted, or that the Baptists are any worse than the others. (The Honorable Clifford Sifton hails for a Methodist and the Honorable Charles Smith Hyman is an Anglican, we believe, and there are others.) Besides, the boys may improve as they grow older. Foster is only yet a young fellow of sixty, Emmerson a youth of fifty-four and Fowler a boy of forty-eight. We must allow something, too, for the wayward boyhood of Hyman at fifty-three and Sifton at forty-six. Many a boy has been a little unsteady and sowed some wild oats in his verdant youth. They may yet come all right.

Various theories have been put forward to explain the conduct which has given rise to the musty proverb. Two of these may be referred to, heredity and environment. Your worthy minister or deacon had at the outset just as much of the old Adam in him as other men, but he restrained his evil passions, which, being thus dammed up within, were transmitted with double volume and intensity to his offspring. That is the theory of heredity. Again, the boy whose parents were a little more pious than other men may have found the home standard too strict, or he may have been tempted to think that he could allow himself a little latitude on account of the extra piety at the head of the house. That is the environment theory. What chance has a boy to make a good average in politics with two such theories against him?

Mr. Foster has still another proverb on his track. "Three moves are as bad as a fire." He has had more than that number of political removals—from Kings to York, from York to St. John thence to North Ontario and thence to North Toronto. Think how many times he has had to check his baggage, in addition to the handicap of being a deacon's son at the outset. It is really unkind after all these troubles that the Montreal Star should rise to warn him that he must keep off the grass, just as he was about to cut across lots to jo Mr. Borden in the Maritime Provinces.

Perhaps it would be better for the good men's sons and for the country as well, if they were debarred from politics until they attained years of maturity and the steadying influences of experience. Think how the men we have named have had to struggle against the potent tendencies of heredity and surroundings and other malign influences and besetments. Think of how much smoother and clearer the stream of public discussion might now be flowing had the simple restriction been imposed in the election law that no minister's or deacon's son should be allowed to enter public life, until he had reached the age of three score years. Above all, let us have charity for all who enter public life under a handicap which has become proverbial.

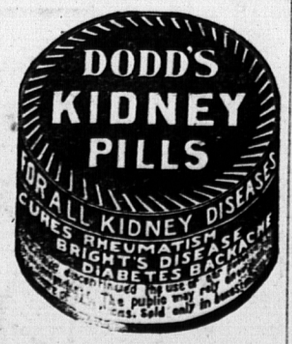
CANADA'S TRADE.

The volume of Canada's foreign trade for the twelve months ended with June last was $612,652,107. This is an increase of $55,723,069 over last year's record returns. Allowing for a population of six millions we have a trade of over $100 per head, or over $500 for each family of five persons, on an average. These are prodigious figures.

The imports alone made a total of $331,480,433, or over a million dollars a day for the working days of the year. Imports alone show a gain of over 64 millions. The imports alone last year were more than twice as great as the total trade in imports and exports in the year 1868. And the total trade of the year was three times the total trade of 1889 and more than twice as great as the total of 1898.

The figures of last year show, moreover, an enormous trade with the United States. We imported from our next neighbors to the value of $215,739,701, as against $89,067,350 from Great Britain. We imported in fact, more than twice as much from the States as from all British countries taken together. The exports for the year to Britain were $127,901,688 and to the States $114,267,194.

Over in St. John where a by election for the House of Commons is pending and where Hon Dr Pugsley has been nominated as the Laurier Government candidate, Mayor Sears, an old time Liberal, stands ready to oppose him if the Conservatives do not nominate a man. If they do nominate a Conservative candidate the Mayor will not run, but in any case the election of Dr Pugsley seems likely to be contested.



The Chronicle tells that fully two thousand persons were present, and the Herald says four thousand, at the open air meeting addressed by Messrs Borden, Bergeron and Foster at Middleton N. S. on Saturday afternoon last. Reading the two accounts together gives the impression that the gathering was a large one and not wanting in enthusiasm.

The Guardian would tender counsels of moderation to its respected contemporaries, the mouth-pieces of the Liberal and Conservative parties respectively. The people are not so ardent in their partisanship as they formerly were, and a savage attack upon the standard bearers of an opposing party is not now either so much admired or so effective as it was twenty-five years ago. If we may be permitted to make the remark, The Patriot's article of Saturday in its allusions to Mr. Borden and the Conservative candidates for Queens might quite unintentionally, make friends for those gentlemen among independent and thoughtful electors. We would say the same if a like censorious article should appear in The Examiner with respect to Sir Wilfrid, and the Liberal candidates for Queens. Be moderate, gentlemen. "Nothing in excess," was the motto of a wise old Greek.

SHE WAS WILD WITH PAIN.

From Willow Creek, Ont., Miss E. Diegel writes: "A few years ago I was drenched with rain and got lumbago; it was like a steel rod piercing my back. I also had earache and was just wild with pain. I applied batting soaked with Nerviline to my ear and rubbed on Nerviline for the lumbago. The rubbing relieved and in a few hours I was well. No other liniment could do this." It's the penetrating power of Nerviline that makes it superior to all other liniments. Nothing beats it. 25c. at all dealers.
