NEXT Tuesday there will be a general election throughout Nova Scotia, when more representatives will be returned than were elected at the recent Dominion elections. The municipal contests will take place, when some 400 county councillors will be chosen. Some people do not attach much importance to municipal elections, but they are important, as they have much to do in a general way with the expenditure of monies that come through direct taxation.

MAW and weid are the stories that continue to be told about the so-called hooded I.C.R locomotive that figured in the recent bad accident at Oxford Junction, in connection with which, last week, James McAuley lost his life. The latest and most ghoulish is one that comes from Moncton to the effect that one night, when one of the wipers went to put a fire in the fire box he in the dim light saw a man standing in the cab with his hand on the throttle. He spoke to the man, thinking that perhaps it was one of the machinists making some repairs. For this reason he did not take particular notice, but went on with his work. However, not receiving any answer to his remark, he looked again in the direction he had seen the man standing, and was surprised to find that he had disappeared—gone without making the least noise to attract attention. Inquiry elicited the fact that neither a machinist or any other employe, saving the engineer, had been on the engine up to the time mentioned on the night in question. Such is the story as it is being told among railway men. There are many who have no hesitation in stating that in their opinion the proper place for 230 is in the scrap shop. They never want to see her in commission again on the road.

After a protracted illness of several months Mrs. Cecily McDougall, relict of the late Nell McDougall of Grand River, Lot 14, passed peacefully away on Saturday morning Nov. 5th. Mrs. McDougall and one brother—Kilian McKinnon of St. Augustine, Florida, were the only surviving members of the family of the late Frederick McKinnon, one of the early pioneers of Grand River. When yet a young woman she was left a widow with six small children to maintain and educate, and although possessing little of the goods of this world she courageously strove to support her great charge with unbounded confidence in the goodness of God who so efficaciously helps those who tries to help themselves. Graced as she was with all the virtues that rendered her a truly Christian woman the deceased was endowed with a force of character rarely found in her sex, which contributed much to her success in surmounting the many trials and troubles inseparably from a life such as she led. Among the many excellent qualities of her nature the deceased was particularly noted for her cheerful disposition, despite the many adverse circumstances common to a life such as was hers. At the time of her demise she deceased was seventy nine year of age, with all her faculties bright and intact. Consoled and strengthened by the last holy rites of the Catholic Church, she died as she had lived in peace and love of God, surrounded by a most devoted family as well as many friends who knelt by her bedside to recite the psalm "De Profundis" as her happy soul passed from time to eternity to enjoy the just reward of a holy Christian life well spent in the vineyard of the Lord. The remains were followed by a large concourse of mourners, relatives and friends for interment at St. Patrick's Church on Monday morning. A Solemn High Mass was sung by the Rev. A. J. McDougall—son of the deceased, assisted by the pastor Rev. J. A. McLean and Mr. J. C. McLean, Summerside. The deceased leaves three sons—Rev. A. J. McDougall, Tignish; Dr. G. P. McDougall, O'Leary; R. A. McDougall, Brae and two daughters—Mrs. Angus McDougall, Union House, Summerside; Mrs. Joseph McDougall, Brookton, N. Y., and Mrs. Dwan of Boston to mourn the loss of a most affectionate mother.

FACIAL PARALYSIS Mr. W. J. BRENNAN, Westbeth Hill, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "My face was all twisted out of shape with facial paralysis and five doctors failed to cure or even relieve. By the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been entirely cured, and have returned to work strong and well. I have gained in weight and feel that I have a new lease of life."

OUR GENERAL PRICES ARE NOT SO HIGH that we have to use a bait to induce customers to enter our store. It does not take much of a reasoner to see that it would not pay them to deal at that sort of store. Our prices all round are so low that we could not, unless we had stolen the goods, cut say 25 per cent off an already cut price. It is against sound business principles, and if we did it we would have to take it out of our customers in some other way, should we get the opportunity.
