His Worship E. B. McLaren, of Georgetown, Secretary of the Exhibition, said that this was a very

Havana was relatively quiet, but disturbing reports came from other cities.

Demonstrators sacked hardware stores at Cienfuegos and carried off firearms. Army and navy forces protected foreigners there, but trade was at a standstill.

Strikes continued at Santiago and Union members who desired to work were threatened by strikers. Stores there were closed for lack of guarantees of safety.

The army thwarted the efforts of revolutionaries at Santiago to take over municipal and provincial posts. A military edict was published prohibiting the sale of alcohol.

Previously four men had been killed at Santiago as riotous demonstrators sought out alleged former associates of Gerardo Machado whom De Cespedes succeeded in August.

Army Attitude

The attitude of the army, largely responsible for the existence of the present day-old government, was one of the chief problems facing the commission.

Approximately 900 commissioned officers were ousted when non-commissioned officers and enlisted men of the army and navy joined with national police to force through their demands for a more nearly complete "revolutionary" government.

Their attitude was a matter of considerable concern. The belief was expressed in some quarters they would not accept defeat without some form of resistance.

The actions of the armed forces, now headed by former non-commissioned officers, was another problem. Although no disorders had resulted, it was said trouble was not entirely remote.

Battleships in Harbour

Sergio Carbo, a member of the Executive Commission, stated flatly that "rumors of friction between the new Government and Ambassador Welles are untrue," and added: "The presence of American battleships in Cuban waters does not mean a threat to Cuban sovereignty—the United States took the same action August 22."

Carbo also announced that every faction in Cuban politics would receive representation in the new government setup, coupling this with the statement that the most important thing at the present was the ensuring of public order.

Among the new factions to receive recognition, Carbo explained, are the women's revolutionary organizations.

Injured In Accident

Mr. Brent Wood of the Maintenance Department, C. N. R., is a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital suffering from an injured side and probably fractured ribs, the result of an accident at Millview station.

It appears Mr. Wood was returning to the city on an electric speeder about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and on reaching the crossing an automobile coming along the road struck the machine, overturning it and throwing the driver to the ground. At this point the station blocks a view of the track which made it difficult for the autoist to see the small speeder and also difficult for the driver of the latter to see the automobile.

An ambulance was rushed from the city and Mr. Wood taken to the Prince Edward Island Hospital. At a late hour last night Mr. Wood was reported as resting comfortably.

Coroner's Inquest Again Adjourned

The inquest into the death of Charles LeRoy Henry, who was killed on Tuesday by falling from an upstairs window at the home of Mr. L. G. Godkin, Kent St., took place last evening at 7.30 in the Supreme Court room before Coroner J. E. Johnston.

Albert Godkin testified that he had seen the deceased on Tuesday about 1 o'clock by Davis & Fraser's. He did not see him again until he saw him on the sidewalk after he had fallen. Witness said there was a screen on the window. He carried the deceased into the home and phoned for the doctor.

Dr. R. J. Ledwell testified that when he arrived he found patient unconscious. On examination he found wounds on back of neck and both sides of head. The skull was fractured. He had had patient removed to hospital where X-ray pictures were taken. Patient died while preparing for operation. Death was due to a broken neck. There was hemorrhage of the mouth caused by biting his lip.

Mrs. Hattie Godkin, 337 Kent St., gave evidence that the deceased had breakfast at 9 o'clock. He went out and came in again about 1.30. He lay down on a couch, witness washed his face and hands. Witness asked him if he would like to go upstairs to rest. She followed him upstairs and took off his shoes. The deceased did not seem normal. The window was small, about a foot wide, the telephone lines were directly underneath. While hanging out some clothes in the backyard a little girl told her someone was getting out of the window. Witness ran out of the gangway and saw deceased lying on sidewalk.

Roy Quigley, manager of Davis and Fraser's, testified that Tuesday morning deceased had asked him for a job shovelling some coal. About one o'clock when leaving his office he saw the deceased being struck three times and knocked down. Deceased was picked up, appeared dazed, walked up the street, returned and went in a lane near the factory.

John S. Chandler's evidence was to the effect that he saw the deceased in front of Davis & Fraser's factory about quarter to one. He heard a person accuse deceased of something and saw the latter being struck three times and knocked down. The ground was covered with ashes. Deceased did not seem to be able to get up. Some boys around helped him to his feet. Deceased walked around awhile then went home.

The hearing was adjourned until 4 p.m. today at the City Building.

Colleen Moore Interviewed At Moncton

(Special to the Guardian) MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 6—Colleen Moore, one of the stars of Hollywood, was a passenger via the Canadian National Railways today from Sydney, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, where she had been with a party on the private yacht Thalia coastfishing off the Cape Breton coast, hurrying to New York to read over the script for a new picture in which she is to appear shortly. When interviewed at the train the vivacious screen actress stated she thought that Nova Scotia was a most beautiful country and she is anxious to return again to see more of the province. The scenery she said was simply wonderful.

This was her first visit to this part of Canada and she was delighted with her trip and plans to return, possibly next summer, and spend a longer time.

The screen star stated she was troubled with insomnia and train connections at Truro enabled her to take advantage of an opportunity for a walk. Her walk coupled with the restfulness of the drawing room in the Canadian National sleeping car in which she travelled induced her to sleep, she stated, and she had a most restful sleep all the way from Truro to Moncton. She had intended telephoning to New York from Moncton but she only awakened a few minutes before the train pulled out and was therefore not able to do so. She was summoned to New

C.W.L. HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the C. W. L. was held in the Assembly Hall of St. Dunstan's Basilica Tuesday evening with Miss Florence Dorsey, President in the chair and a fair attendance of members who cordially welcomed the newly appointed chaplain Rev. Louis Dougan to this first meeting after vacation time. Father Dougan is an enthusiastic friend of the Catholic Women's League, having had close association with the work done in Edmonton where the sub-division has upward of 1,000 members who do a marvellous amount of charitable endeavor and social service along many and varied lines for the church and the municipality.

Miss Dorsey presented a full report of the financial results of the meals served in Holy Name Hall during Exhibition week, stating that while the receipts were less than formerly she wished to express her thanks to all the members who helped and all the kind patrons and generous contributors. Special praise was accorded the splendid service of Mrs. Winnifred Murphy of Notre Dame Convent who so successfully conducted the lottery of a wonderful two story decorated fruit cake the gift of the Reverend Sisters of the Convent, and thus added materially to the funds, which were voted toward the Sacred Heart Home for renovation purposes.

Mrs. F. J. Casey voiced the deep appreciation of the members for the zealous and capable work given the cause by the President who had entire supervision previous to and during the week.

Matters that came up for discussion were the coming membership drive, study clubs, the resumption of the sewing club for the Social Service Department of the City Hospital also regarding ways and means of carrying on the work of the Zita Club composed of girls employed in Charlottetown and away from their homes and the reorganizing of the Catholic Collegiate Club.

The resignation of Mrs. Frank Murray as recording secretary owing to serious illness in her family was received and accepted with the keenest regret. Mrs. Murray has been one of the most faithful and devoted members of the sub-division since its inception.

Reference was also made to the great loss sustained by the Charlottetown sub-division by her removing from the City to Bedford of Mrs. J. J. Trainor, 1st Vice President. Her loss to the local unit will be a gain for the Tracadie sub-division where Mrs. Trainor will continue to serve her church and community generously as she did in this city.

The vacant offices will be filled by the Executive committee at their next meeting.

Two new members were welcomed and Father Dougan spoke a few words of encouragement and cheer for the coming season, commending the past work and urging a continuance of the good spirit of service to God and country.

At the October meeting Miss Dorsey will read her report as delegate to the National Convention held in Quebec last June where she represented this sub-division and also the report of the Diocesan Convention held in Charlottetown July 13-14-15.

After prayer by the Chaplain the meeting adjourned.

CUCUMBER CUPS

Now that cucumbers are plentiful they make a delicious first or last course, hot or cold. In both cases, peel the cucumber, divide it into two inch lengths and steam it till tender, then scoop out some of the centre. The filling may consist of any kind of cooked fish, freed from skin and bone and finely flaked.

For a hot dish, mix the fish with a little good white sauce, seasoned well, and fill the cups.

For a hot savoury the sauce may be made with cheese, a little grated cheese sprinkled on top of the filling, and the cups finished off under the grill. For a cold dish the fish may be mixed with saad dressing or mayonnaise and possibly a few minced capers.

"Two dozen loaves, please," demanded the zoo keeper.

"Are you having a party," asked the grocer in amazement.

"No," replied the keeper, "the kangaroo kicked the elephant and I want to make a bread poultice for him."

York from Sydney by a wire from Jesse L. Lasky and the Canadian National Telegraphs messenger got the message to her on the yacht.

BRIT. FARMERS VOTE TO FORM DAIRY POOL

National Board Responsible For Marketing and Supply Contracts.

LONDON, Sept. 6—British farmers have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a National Dairy Pool. The result of the poll of registered dealers taken recently was announced today and showed 96.42 per cent in favor of the scheme and 3.58 per cent opposed. A two thirds majority was necessary for the adoption of the plan.

With its national and regional pools the scheme will be one of the biggest undertakings in the United Kingdom. Farmers will sell their milk through the pools which will divide the profits among participants according to the amount of milk each delivers.

The National Board, which will be in charge, will be responsible not only for marketing and supply contracts but will also have the task of utilizing surplus milk for cheese making and the manufacture of dry milk on a large scale. The Board assumes control October 1 for a trial period until the new year when the scheme itself becomes operative.

When registration opened at the end of August the farmers were so apathetic that fears of failure were entertained. Personal canvassing and urgent appeals by Major Walter Elliott, Minister of Agriculture, finally resulted in a last minute

COMMISSION

(Continued from Page 1) Mr. Scott said he was not necessarily presenting the official opinion of the Quebec Government, but his brief indicated "what the government of the province feel to be the general opinion of the people of Quebec towards the Canadian banking situation." A central authority, he said, "would not appear inappropriate if it increases the habits of caution and restraint which should be cultivated by the banks as well as by the public."

Today's was the first sitting of Lord MacMillan and his four colleagues in Montreal, and a progression of briefs from interested bodies and individuals kept the commissioners busy morning and afternoon. Tomorrow the Montreal hearing will continue, possibly concluding at one o'clock. It may be necessary, however, to hold an afternoon sitting.
