Mr. McLure had made his home in the Heights for over thirty years, and the presence of the large group of neighbors and friends for the funeral services bore eloquent tribute to the high esteem in which he was held. GENTLE TREATMENT FOR MANICURE

Always have, or give yourself, gentle manicures. No scraping at the base of the nail, no cutting of cuticle or other harmful measures. Have the cuticle softened with cuticle remover, then pushed back with an orange stick. Calouses ought to be soaked in warm, soapy water or warm olive oil, then rubbed gently with a piece of pumice. Scrub your hands with a small brush at least once a day. Massage hand lotion into them each time after they have been in water. And don't forget to drink plenty of calcium-rich milk and orange juice. Lack of calcium often causes nails to split, hair to be stringy and dull.

fine loving nature. His love of devotion to children and young people was one of the outstanding features of his life.

His wife the former Isabella MacDonald whose sterling character is so beautifully reflected in the lives of her children passed away in 1923. What greater tribute can be paid to parents than that their children walk in the ways of goodness.

Surviving are four daughters and two sons. Mary, Mrs. Clarence Delano, Bridgewater, Mass., Pearl, Mrs. Don. Chapin, Washington, D.C., Duncan and Archibald, New York City, one grandson Clarence Delan, Jr. He also leaves several nieces and nephews, among whom are Mr. John Brown and Arthur Moore, Pownall, Dan. Dear Teacher, Miss Mabel Auld, Teacher.

We have come to the closing of another school year, and with it comes a mixed feeling of joy and sadness; a feeling of joy when we think of vacation days ahead and a feeling of sadness at the passing of another school year.

Through the year we have profited by your ever diligent guidance and though many times we have tried your patience sorely, you have never failed to give of your best in the interest of our welfare.

In token of our gratitude we ask you to accept this small gift and we sincerely hope that you may enjoy the vacation which you so well deserve and that you will decide to return to us at the beginning of the following school year.

We thank you on behalf of the pupils of St. Catharines School.
