Big Yield of Cod Liver Oil

From Less Than 27,000 Gallons in 1925, Canada's Production Now Is Nearly 100,000 Gallons

Upwards of 100,000 gallons of medical cod liver oil are yielded every year as a by-product of Canada's expanding sea fishery.

The oil owes its specific medical value to richness in vitamine content and, in a lesser degree, to its iodine value.

In 1925 the production of the medicinal cod liver oil from Canadian fishery was only 26,836 gallons, but since then there has been a great increase. In 1926 the production was 94,383 gallons, and in 1927 slightly less than that—92,597 gallons. Figures for 1928 have not yet been completed and finally revised by the Fisheries Branch, but it is not expected that they will show any very material difference from those of 1927.

The Nova Scotia fishery is the largest producer of medical cod liver oil. Quebec was second in 1927, producing 22,640 gallons, valued at $18,924, as compared with Nova Scotia's 57,264 gallon production valued at $55,130. New Brunswick produced 12,489 gallons which were valued at $12,236. British Columbia's production so far is small.

Cod oil, as distinct from medical cod liver oil, is another by-product of the fishing industry which adds $90,000 or so to the annual fishery production, but oil obtained as a by-product of the British Columbia pilchard fishery represents approximately ten times that figure.

In Memoriam

CAPT JOHN STEELE

On April 17, 1929, in the eighty-fifth year of his age a respected resident of St. Peter's passed away in the person of (Capt.) John Steele, fortified by the last rites of his religion.

In his early years he sailed out of Gloucester where his industry and intelligence soon won him a command, but while still in his prime he returned to his native land and took up farming at St. Peter's, and in due time became one of the most prosperous farmers in the vicinity. A few years ago he retired to enjoy the evening of life removed from the worry of the work in which he was so singularly successful.

The community will miss a kind and sympathetic neighbor of sterling integrity, while his family are left to mourn the loss and cherish the memory of a kind and loving father.

Numerous Mass cards and letters of sympathy as well as the large concourse of people who followed his remains to their final resting place showed the esteem in which he was held. His funeral took place on April 19th; Rev. Father MacAuley, officiating at Requiem High Mass and also at the grave.

He leaves to mourn six daughters; Emma Teresa, and Catherine in New York, Mrs. D. H. Lane of Chicago, Mrs. E. G. Fleming of Regina, and Mrs. Archibald O'Hanley of St. Peter's; also one son John of Vancouver, B. C. His wife (nee Mary A. MacKenzie) predeceased him. R. I. P.

SEES HEAVY INFLUX OF BRITISH MONEY

WINNIPEG, Man., May 14.—British investments in Canada are on the verge of a heavy increase, believes Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner in Canada, who arrived in Winnipeg yesterday after a three-week's tour of the West.

He pointed out that the depleted resources of Britain and the discounted value of the pound sterling have held back British investors in Canada since the war. He believes, however, that these disadvantages have been overcome and that Canada is to profit from an influx of Old Country money.

ALEXANDRA NOTES

The cars are running in fine style, as the roads are in good shape.

We regret to learn of the illness of John MacLennan, and Wallace Burhoe. Let us hope for their speedy recovery.

Miss Helen Judson has arrived home, after her recent operation and is progressing nicely.

While sawing lumber for Mr. Harold Beaton's new house, Mr. Forden Judson had the misfortune of being struck on the shoulder with a board, which accidentally dropped on the saw. People cannot be too careful around machinery, especially where circular saws are concerned.

Seymour MacLennan and sons intend erecting a new barn in the near future.

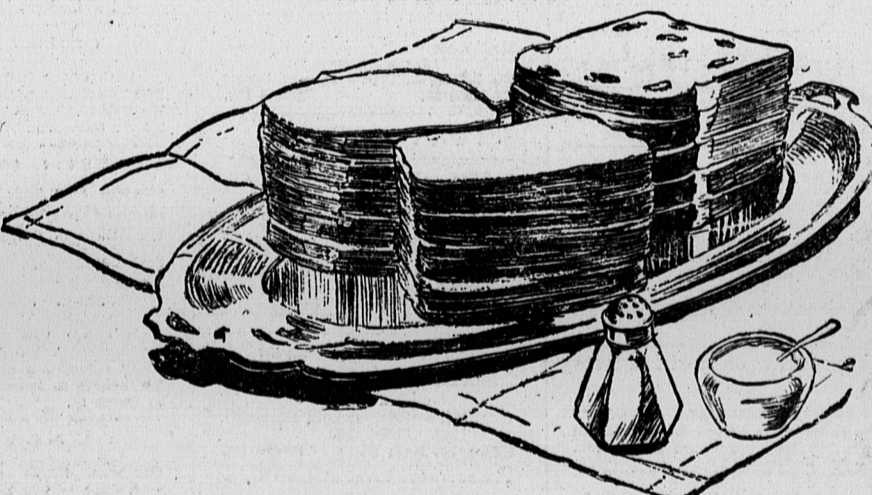

The majority of our fox ranchers report good luck this spring.

A considerable number of the young folk met at the schoolground a few evenings ago and enjoyed a good game of baseball, but the writer is of the opinion that it cannot replace the skating of the past winter.

How many BREADS on your platter?

Do you serve in your home only one kind of meat—one kind of vegetable? Certainly not! You give your family plenty of variety in all these foods because you know it is necessary for their health, and that they would quickly tire of the same menu over and over.

Did you ever stop to think that this applies to bread too? Your regular white loaf of Stewart's Bread is a necessity you must have on the table at every meal. But your Baker also carries a variety of other breads he bakes.

Try serving some of these along with the regular white loaf. More than one kind of bread on the platter offers a choice that every one will enjoy. With these to choose from, you can serve as much variety of bread and other baked goods, as you do in other foods.

Variety of Breads

White bread, Whole wheat bread, Raisin bread, Parker House Rolls, Vienna Rolls, Sugar Buns, Filled buns, American Buns, German Buns, Biscuits, Butter Horns, Plain Bread buns, Whole wheat buns, Bran muffins, Stollen, Butter Fly Buns.
