ATHENS, March 31 (Special)—After 93 years' of exile, the descendants of "The fugitives of Parga," a seaport of Albania, European Turkey, on the Ionian sea, have returned to the land of their fathers. Under Venetian protection the inhabitants of Parga maintained their municipal independence and commercial prosperity from 1401 down to the destruction of the Venetian republic, in 1797. At Pasha, the Turkish Commander at Janina, attempted to get control of the place on several occasions, but his efforts were thwarted partly by the presence of a French garrison and partly by the heroic attitude of the Pargietes themselves. In 1814 the Pargietes expelled the French garrison and accepted British protection. In the following year Great Britain withdrew her protection because of a convention by which Parga was to be surrendered to Turkey. Rather than submit to the tyranny of Ali Pasha, the Pargietes shouldered their goods and chattels, including the coffins containing the remains of their ancestors, which they buried and fled to the Ionian Islands. Now that the country has again become Christian territory the descendants of the Pargietes, their grandsons and great grandsons have returned to Parga. They have carried with them in sacks the bones of their ancestors, which they intend to bury in the sacred soil of the fatherland.

NEW YORK, March 31 (Special)—Large profits and charges for handling, selling and distributing foodstuffs are the chief causes of the high cost of living in this city, according to a report submitted by Ezra A. Tuttle, chairman of the Committee on Markets of the National Housewives League, and unanimously adopted at a meeting of the league. Copies of the report will be sent to Mayor Gaynor, the City Controller, the chairman of the Board of Aldermen, and each member of the Board of Estimate. A resolution was adopted by the league protesting against the expenditure of any large sum of money for any one terminal market such as has been proposed in the Gansevort district. "We believe it would be wiser for the city to establish ten or more receiving terminals at different points along the Hudson and East River," reads the resolution. The league recommends that a co-operative company composed of producers and consumers establish retail food stores centrally located in

NEW YORK, March 31 (Special)—It is probable that the evidence in the Thaw bribery scandal will be placed before the Grand Jury this week. Einar Chrystie, counsel for the Grievance Committee of the Bar Association and recently appointed Deputy Assistant District Attorney by Mr. Whitman to aid him in investigating the charges relating to Thaw, called at the District Attorney's office and held a consultation with William A. De Ford, Assistant District Attorney, who has been assigned to assist him. After the conference subpoenas were issued for witnesses. It is the intention of the investigators to find just what testimony they may depend upon and to prepare their evidence for presentation to the Grand Jury. Mr. De Ford refused to discuss who will be called to his office but it is possible that Colonel Scott, Or. John W. Russell, superintendent of Mattaewan, Dr. James V. May, president of the State Hospital Association, and John N. Anbut may be included in the first arraignment of witnesses. It is the intention of Mr. Chrystie to become familiar with every phase of the Thaw case, for Governor Sulzer has made it clear that he wishes the entire situation thoroughly investigated and reported upon.

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches

TAYLORVILLE, ONT. "I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians, but yet the Headaches persisted. A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so, with most confess, very little faith. But after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad—and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man!" The plan is not to show the things man produces, but to portray the history of man's progress through the ages by exhibits of the methods employed at all stages of his development in all kinds of industrial pursuits, the arts, and, so far as possible, in ethnological and anthropological studies. The suggestion is made to the Canadian officials that a collective exhibit of Canada's resources—agricultural, mining, and forestry—be made, demonstrating to the home-seeker and investor the splendid opportunity awaiting them in Canada.

BROOKLYN, March 31 (Special)—Word was received here by wireless at the office of the Scandinavian-American line from Captain A. G. Thomsen, of the C. F. Tietgen, of that line, that he had rescued the forty-three passengers on board the Texas, of the Norway, Mexico and Gulf line, which had become disabled in midocean. The Texas, according to the message, bound from Norway to Newport News, with passengers and merchandise, lost her propeller in latitude 48 north and longitude 34 west. A wireless call for help reached the C. F. Tietgen, which responded and came up with the disabled vessel on Saturday. Although a heavy sea was running the passengers on board the Texas were safely transferred in lifeboats from one vessel to the other, together with their baggage. The Texas, with her crew of fifty officers and men standing by, was left behind.

LONDON, March 31 (Special)—Lord Roberts Cecil, member of the House of Commons for the Hitchin Division of Hertford, and son of the late Lord Salisbury, in a letter to the London papers, advocates the deportation of suffragettes convicted of militancy. "Forcible feeding, he says, is futile; so, the courts should be empowered to sentence the women to deportation to some distant island. Once there they could be left at large. Food and lodging would be offered to them, but no compulsion put upon them to accept it. Lord Robert Cecil says that the women would have no right to object, because this would be treating them like prisoners of war, and would be identical with a special kind of treatment adopted for certain criminals.

LONDON, March 31 (Special)—The members of the House of Commons were astonished when informed by the Foreign Office that it was only from the newspapers that the British Government had received knowledge of the change in the American government's attitude toward the Chinese loan. Mr. Acland, Parliamentary Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, who spoke on behalf of Sir Edward Grey, said that as late as March 3 the United States Minister at Peking, acting on the instructions of his government, had joined the ministers of the other Powers in presenting to China proposals in connection with the loan. He continued: "The British government has since then had no intimation of any kind from the government of the United States that the American official attitude toward the Chinese loan had undergone a change and I have no information about the matter except what I have read in the newspapers."

A Racking Cough And Sore Throat Cured In Five Hours

Use the Proper Remedy and Coughs and Sore Throat Disappear.

"When I came home last evening," writes Mr. Thomas E. Jarvis, "I was all used up with cold and a racking cough. I felt sick all over. My wife rubbed my throat and chest every hour, and made me gargle with Ner-viline and water. I was soon warmed up and made comfortable with the Ner-viline, and the chilly sensation passed away. At 11 o'clock, after five hours' treatment, I was practically well. I therefore write you at once in order that it may be publicly known that Ner-viline will knock out a bad cold over night." It is a fact that Ner-viline will ease up a tight chest, will relieve that sore, wheezy feeling, will knock out a cold in just a few hours. It penetrates deeply, draws out the congestion, cures promptly. Get a large size bottle, 50c.; small size, 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarthosone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

VIENNA, March 29 (Special)—Joseph Brucker, the German-American

aironaut, who plans to cross the Atlantic in a dirigible balloon, has arranged to sail by steamship from Trieste tomorrow for the Canary Islands, where he expects to begin his voyage in about three weeks. Mr. Brucker is taking the balloon with him on the steamship and is accompanied by the two assistants who plan to make the aerial voyage with him. The balloon is called the Suchard II, and is the largest balloon in existence. Its diameter is 80 feet and its gas capacity 200,000 cubic feet. It is a non-rigid dirigible of the Far-seval type and will carry two engines of the type used in the Far-seval. Each of them is 100-horse power and weighs 800 pounds. The balloon was finished many months ago and it was planned to attempt the trip a year ago, but there were some alterations to be made, and this delayed the start so it was planned to leave the Canary Islands this spring. It is expected that with favorable winds the trip can be made in from six to eight days. It is expected that the landing will be either in the West Indies or at some point on the northern coast of South America. It is planned to run the motors alternately fourteen hours a day and to drift with the trade winds at night. The present plan is to make the trip at a height of from 500 to 600 feet. The dirigible will be steered by an ordinary vertical rudder. It is provided with large fins for rising and descending and for balancing. The balloon bag is coated with a special preparation that absorbs water from the atmosphere to counteract the effect of the sun's rays. She will use sea water for ballast, descending to pump it in and discharging it when required. Under the gas bag is a gallery and suspended below this will be a power boat which is intended as the main living quarters of the balloon. The boat can be cut loose and used in case of accident. The dirigible will carry an ordinary compass and also a large supply of brilliant red aluminum globes. These will be dropped overboard one at a time and used as points by which to steer, it being impossible to allow for the leeway of a dirigible or aeroplane when steering by compass alone. Mr. Brucker has an abiding faith in the success of the attempt, and feels confident that unless there is some weather phenomenon not heretofore recorded in the course of the northeast trade winds, he will succeed. Every precaution that human ingenuity or professional skill has suggested has been taken, and Mr. Brucker is of the opinion that only a calamity that cannot be guarded against can defeat the expedition.

ROME, March 29 (Special)—It is the desire of Pope Pius X., to be buried in the crypt of St. Peter's, and for that purpose he has already given directions concerning the building of his tomb. His Holiness has also decided that the body of Leo XIII., his predecessor, shall continue to remain in St. Peter's, notwithstanding that a tomb has already been prepared for its reception at St. John Lateran's. Thus there will be no chance of an outbreak of mob violence such as attended the transfer of Pope Pius IX's body in 1878. The tomb planned by Pius X. is simply a recess in the wall of the crypt, and it is being made large enough for the reception of a coffin. The recess after the latter has been put in place will be sealed by a simple slab of white marble, upon which the name of his Holiness and his holy offices will be carved. The crypts occupy a space under the nave of the modern Basilica, and portions of them formed the crypt of the ancient church. Little change has been made through all the years. In these crypts are the tombs of several Popes, and a number of important personages. Few people have been through the crypts, which are carefully guarded. Though some of the earlier Popes were buried in the Catacombs, it was not until the time of Leo X. that St. Peter's became recognized as a place for the burial of Popes. Originally they were buried in the forecourt only, but later on the tombs were made in the interior. Unfortunately, some of the oldest tombs have been destroyed, but there still remain a number of ancient monuments. Most of the early Popes had monuments in the old Basilica, but several were removed to other
