The experience of shareholders in one Canadian life assurance company is evidence of the opportunities open to those who invest in this field.

This company has been paying 20% dividends for years. In one year recently it paid a stock dividend of $125,000. In the next a bonus of $25,000. In the next a bonus of $435,000 on a paid up capitalization of only $500,000.

Large dividends are the rule with well established companies.

The Maritime Life Assurance Company is being more conservatively financed than any other life company in the history of Canada. As a result it should at least duplicate, if it doesn't surpass, the record of such companies.

Its shares are being rapidly subscribed by discriminating investors all over the Province, and it is possible to say definitely that it will be successfully launched. Those who want to ally themselves with the fastest growing financial business in the world, through the one company established in its territory, should write

SAVING TIMOTHY FOR SEED.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Tests made at the Experimental Station, Kentville, go to show that it is quite profitable for one to grow his own timothy seed. This may be done by seeding timothy at the rate of 10 pounds per acre when seeding down. Or, if 8 pounds of timothy, 8 pounds of red clover and 2 pounds of alsike are seeded, a good even stand of clear timothy will be secured the second year after seeding. It is seldom that there is not a fairly clean stand of timothy somewhere on a farm; such area should be reserved for seed purposes. It does not mean a great loss of hay as the straw after threshing is of fair quality and can be fed unless badly weathered. It was found that a seeding of timothy alone in 1920 gave in 1921 280 pounds of timothy seed, and 2220 pounds of straw per acre after threshing. The harvesting was done August 4th, and as the season was dry the seed ripened rapidly. This same area produced 15 pounds of seed and 2475 pounds of hay per acre in 1922.

A considerable amount of other grasses, particularly red top, was noticeable in the 1922 cutting. An adjoining area seeded in 1920 with the clover and timothy mixture mentioned above yielded 156 pounds of timothy seed and 3052 pounds of timothy straw per acre in 1922. This seed was of particularly good quality and much better than the seed from the area in timothy seed for two years.

The practise here is to leave the timothy that is to be cut for seed standing until it is nicely filled and to cut with a binder. The sheaves are stacked neatly and allowed to stand for two or three weeks, or until the heads shell readily. It is the shelling in and threshed in a thrashing mill or with a flail. It sometimes happens that birds cause a great loss from shelling in which case the sheaves should be taken inside to a loft and allowed to stand until they can be threshed.

Never is anything more unjust than an ignorant man who thinks nothing done properly unless he himself has done it.

The Seven World Walkers

(By Dominion News Service) PARIS, Aug. 22.—The Marselles correspondent of the Intransigent states that on 26 August, 1909 seven competitors started from Turin to walk round the world.

Since then one was assassinated by brigands in Albania, another third broke his leg in Croatia, and died from illness in Bulgaria and owing to health reasons.

The remaining two, Chevalier Casile, an Italian the correspondent of several Italian and American papers, and his wife continued the walk. They have just arrived at Marsailles. They have still to cross Japan, China and Russia to Valdivostok before completing their task which they hope to do by the end of next year.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS WILLIAM COFFIN

When the dawn was breaking over the district of Savage Harbor on the morning of August 11, Death the grim Reaper was slowly wending his way to the home of William Coffin and claimed for its victim his beloved wife. Deceased had been in failing health for the past two years and bore her suffering with the cheerful resignation characteristic of the true Christian.

She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church for many years, to all people a kind friend and in the home a loving mother. Her pastor Rev. J. C. Martin frequently visited her in her illness and also conducted the funeral service taking for his text, "Come to me all ye that labor and are burdened and I will refresh you" words of invitation from the Divine Master which this valiant royal servant of God had hastened to answer.

She leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing husband two sons Milton in the old homestead and Melvin in Salvador Sask. and one daughter Lillian at home, besides two brothers Henry in Charlottetown, and Benjamin in the United States and one sister Mrs Charles Pigott, Savage Harbor.

The remains were laid to rest in the quiet cemetery of Mt. Stewart awaiting the fulfillment of the Masters promise "Possess ye the Kingdom prepared for you." (Patriot Please Copy)

GERMAN WORKMEN COMING OVER TO FRENCH SIDE

Workers Declare That If Wage Dispute is Not Settled They Will Try French Employers.

DUESSELDORF, Aug. 23.—The belief was expressed in French circles here today that the constant fruitless bickering between the German workmen in the Ruhr and their employers over the wage question, may result in the desertion of large numbers of the workmen to the French side in the Ruhr struggle.

As an example of the fruit the dissatisfaction is bearing, the French cite the fact that 27 German railroad men took employment with the French railway regime yesterday. A restlessness is reported, according to the French among other classes of workers, particularly the miners, who have been told by the mine owners that their wages cannot be increased because even now the price of German coal is almost double that of the English product. The miners nevertheless are continuing at many places to agitation for higher wages and intimating that if their condition becomes much worse they might try the French as employers. So far no such action has been reported among the miners, but the French professed to see in such threats the promise of a favorable development for them if the situation of the miners becomes aggravated.

DUESSELDORF, Aug. 23.—Three more coal mines in the Gelsenkirchen district have been seized by the French, it was announced at occupational headquarters here today and 35,000,000 marks have been confiscated in this city. Herr Rudert, editor of the Communist organ Freiheit, who fled after making an inflammatory speech against the French on May 1, has been arrested.

A Curious People

By Dr. Frank Crane.

When I say the Japanese are a curious people I mean they are curious to me, an American. I am, I suppose, quite as curious to them.

The following peculiarities are not intended to imply any slur upon them, and are written in no spirit of superiority. Exception, also, may well be taken to every statement is a generality, and I quite agree with the saying that "every generalization is untrue, including this one."

The traveller from America in Japan sees:

A nation that lives in the woods. (Practically all the houses both in the country and in the great cities are tiny one-storied wooden affairs.)

A nation that lives on the floor. They sit on the floor, sleep on the floor and practically eat on the floor.

The adults ride in baby wagons and the babies live on their mothers' backs. (The jirikisha was invented in 1869 by a missionary living near Yokohama, who fixed over a baby carriage for the purpose of giving an airing to his invalid wife.)

A nation that squats. Where an American would sit the Japanese squats to rest himself. A nation that goes about the streets in bath robes. (A man in a kimono looks like a man in a bath robe.)

A nation that goes on stilts. (They wear wooden clogs which are raised about two inches from the ground by two small cross pieces. The clatter of this wooden foot gear in a railway station or on the street is one of the unforgettable sounds of the country.)

A nation that farms under water. (Rice, which is the principal crop, must be cultivated part of the time under water. It must be about the hardest and most back-breaking labor in the world.)

A nation that pulls the wheelbarrow. (They pull all vehicles and lead all animals, where an American would push and drive. They even pull the spade which is shaped like a hoe. They also pull the knife and the saw.)

A nation with no millinery stores. (The women dress their hair elaborately; they wear no hats.)

Houses with no furniture. (I went through the vast royal palace of Kioto and saw some thirty-six rooms and not one stick of furniture of any kind.)

A language with no alphabet. (The characters represent syllables, not letters.)

A nation that writes one's name, Smith John Mr., instead of Mr. John Smith.

A nation that is ruled by its an-

Gas Attack on Field Mice

(By Dominion News Service)

PARIS, August, 23.—Field mice have been causing great damage to crops in the district round Troyes, more especially to crops of Lucerne. After various methods for their destruction had been tried without success, official experiments with poison gases, were made.

At Arcenville, in the presence of an official from the Paris entomological bureau, five operators, provided with gas masks and advancing against the wind so that the poisonous fumes might be blown away from them, arrayed the mouse-holes with chloropicrin. The mice at once came out, ran a few yards and then fell dead. Seeds poisoned with arsenic have also been used with good effect to destroy the pests. Crops in many fields where no attempt has been made to deal with the field mice have been completely destroyed.

To Facilitate Rescue Work

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, August, 22.—Two Assington colliery officials, Thomas Forsyth and Thomas Boutland are meeting with considerable success in experiments for the utilisation of wireless telephony by rescue parties in mining disasters. Equipped with a portable appliance they have been directed to various parts of the Carl Pit, Assington, from a station at the pithead.

"Our object," said Mr. Forsyth in an interview, "is to establish continuous communication between rescuers and their base, thus removing the necessity of having to carry telephone cables. So far no difficulty has been experienced either from the mineral mass or from electrical disturbances."

cestors. (Americans are ruled by their children.)

A nation that counts on their fingers by turning them down instead of holding them up.)

A nation that figures on an abacus instead of on a slate or a piece of paper.

A nation that writes with a brush instead of a pencil or a pen.

A nation that uses its toes, instead of deforming them in shoes as Europeans and Americans do.

A nation that is uniformly polite, instead of uniformly impolite.

A nation that is clean and odorless. ("The Japanese crowd has no odor."—Lafcadio Hearn.)

A nation that has inexcusably offended Europeans and Americans by being efficient, good natured, hard working, shrewd and declining to consider themselves as inferior.
