TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

We have entered upon the last month of another year with all the activities of the Church functioning in a satisfactory manner. The attendance at Sunday School yesterday was 424. Children's Day will be observed next Sunday afternoon when gifts in money, groceries, clothing &c, will be presented for the less fortunate of the congregation.

Rev. Mr. Brown spoke on the subject of "Prayer" at the morning service. The scripture selections were from the 6th and 7th chapters of Matthew. "Prayer is the outcome of a man's faith in God," declared Mr. Brown. It is the expression of his belief in a Supreme Being, the "existence of God and his relationship to us does not depend on our feeling. We are ever in his presence and our prayers draw us near to God. We have fellowship with him through prayer and we come to accept his desires as our desires. Not our will but thine be done. Then our prayers will be answered and his purpose will be fulfilled. Nothing is more fundamental to our life and an exhortation was made to set a part of each day for prayer.

In the evening Dr. Ramsay took for his subject "Conversion." He said that if we open the New Testament anywhere we find ourselves in the presence of a life thrilling through its every fibre with the joy of a great deliverance. The resources of language are taxed to express it. Now it is spoken of as re-birth, now it is a resurrection, again a new creation, or a deliverance from slavery, or a change from darkness to light, or simply conversion. There are different kinds of conversion mentioned in scripture sudden, explosive like St. Paul's or gentle almost imperceptible like Timothy's. But of whatever type, conversion is a mighty reality both necessary and possible for all men. The preacher made an appeal that every one who heard him might be sure he had entered into that life.

The evening service was broadcast by CHCK. The choir of 32 voices rendered beautiful anthems, "How long will thou forget me O Lord,"

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Yesterday morning, the Rev. A. C. Vincent spoke on "Jacob's Dream." His text was from Genesis 28, 12 "And He dreamed." All of us dream. Lives may be dull and uneventful, they may be monotonous and joyless, but there are no dreamless lives. History shows on every page the power and value of dreams. Out of dreams Jacob found the way to a greater vision of God, a greater value in life, a mighty destiny. Dreams showed Joseph the road to power. Dreams led Joan of Arc to a fruition in a country liberated, strong and free.

Sigmund Freud sets forth a theory that dreams are but the subconscious expression of inhibited desires. It may be true, Jacob, well taught, of godly parentage, lived an early life of selfishness, deceit, unscrupulous seeking for gain. In his dreams there were expressed his better self, which he had inhibited, set aside, thwarted. In his dreams he saw the vision of "some better thing." He saw God, he saw a life great, kindly, useful and triumphant.

He was alone, Amiel remarks that we are alone in the great things of life. As children we have sympathized with the lonely Crusoe, the lonely Enoch Arden upon their islands of the sea, we have pitied Bunyan in his twelve lonely years in Bedford Jail, we have sorrowed for the loneliness of Jesus. But out of Bedford came Pilgrim's Progress, out of the lonely days of Jesus came the world's redemption.

The Revealing Vision. Somehow out of Jacob's dream he saw as we may see that while this world is a workshop and a place of pleasure it may also be an entrance to the very house of God. "Surely God is in this place" said the dreamer, and to us this morning can come the vision of the nearness of our gracious, mighty, loving Father in Heaven. As we look today at the Master's nail scarred hands, let us realize that there is before us a ladder which reaches from our souls to the very presence of God.

—CONDON — LAUGHLIN NUP-TIALS—A pretty wedding was solemnized in the chapel at St. Mary's Convent, Summerside, at 6 o'clock on Wednesday morning, November 26th when Mary Ida, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Laughlin of Sherbrooke, was united in marriage to James Edward Condon, son of Mrs. Mary Condon of Richmond. Rev. Bennett McDonald performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. As the bride entered the Convent Chapel Sister St. Lydia played the Wedding March. The bride looked charming in a wedding dress of beige satin with over dress of radium lace made in the new princess lines, her hat and shoes were in matching shades of brown. Her only ornament was a beautiful white gold and French crystal necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Noonan of Richmond. During the service the Sisters of the convent sang very sweetly the following hymns: Causa Astrae Lactitiae Eucharistic Hymn by Stanfield, Ave Maria by Rosewig. Amid showers of confetti the bride and groom left by car for Borden on a honeymoon to the Maritime Provinces. The bride's travelling dress was brown chiffon georgette and muskrat fur coat with hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Condon will reside in Richmond where he is a very prosperous farmer and fox rancher. The bride was the recipient of many lovely gifts including several checks. The Guardian joins a host of friends in wishing them every happiness. S.
