IN MEMORIAM MR. JOSEPH SHEEN Mr. Joseph Sheen of Kensington arrived home Thursday night from Boston where he had gone to attend the funeral of his brother, the late Mr. John E. Sheen, whose sudden death was reported last week. Some of the Boston papers in their usual attempts at the sensational published statements which were directly in opposition to the facts of the case. The facts as related by Mr. Sheen are that his brother who had been in very poor health for some time, having had to undergo two operations for his throat within the past two years, left home at 1.30 p. m. with the intention of taking the train for New York on business. Not feeling well after reaching the depot and buying his ticket he went into the Essex hotel near by where he engaged a room, being too unwell to proceed on his intended journey. The evidences indicate that he was overcome by one of the choking spells to which he was subject while in a fit of coughing and thus died. There were absolutely no suspicious circumstances in connection with his death, the tablet found in his room being merely one of those prescribed by his doctor for heart weakness. The deceased, who was 51 years old, was a man of fine character and exceptional business ability and was the President and owner of the Dunlop Cook Co., Boylston Street, one of the leading fur companies of Boston. Deceased had been married only three months and also leaves to mourn besides his wife, his mother, and four brothers and a sister. Leading furrier and dealers of Boston attended his funeral at which Rev. G. J. Prescott, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Boston, officiated, the Episcopal ritual being used with selections by the Schuber Quartette. The body was taken to Mount Auburn cemetery where it was placed in a vault.

THE OIL OF THE PEOPLE. Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

Uncle-In-Law, Wife And Child Shot. VANCOUVER, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Edward Clegg is dead and her five year old son Edward, and an aged uncle, Henry Morgan, are believed to be dying in hospital, and Edward Clegg, husband and father is being sought by the police here following a brutal shooting here last night. The Clegg family came here from Toronto eight months ago.

Search Being Continued. VANCOUVER, Feb. 4.—Altho the country in every direction is being searched by the police officers, no trace of Edward C. Clegg alleged to have shot his wife to death in their home in North Burnaby early last night and to have seriously wounded his young son and an aged uncle of his wife, had been found late this morning. The search was maintained during the night and is being continued today. It is now believed that Henry Morgan, aged 78, shot through the head by Clegg, and the five year old boy, shot in the head, will recover.

Had Served in War. TORONTO, Feb. 4.—Edward Clegg who is being sought in Van the Pacific Coast.

Interviewed today, J. Clegg, brother, stated that Edward served in the war, going overseas as an original in the Royal Army Medical Corps, and he believed (Edward) was affected by his experience in France. Edward Clegg is about 37 years of age and was married six years ago.

FINAL APPEAL

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF CHARLOTTETOWN Ladies and Gentlemen:

As you are aware, Wednesday 5th instant, is the time appointed for you to decide who is to be the Mayor of our city for the next two years. Being the first to issue a Card to the Electors, I set my general policy, and on that policy, together with my eight years record of service—I appealed for your support. I also stated that I would not violate the intention of the Ballot Act, consequently could not make a personal canvass. The campaign is drawing to a close, and you are the best judges as to whether I have kept faith with my published statement. I maintain there is a high principle involved and I have faith in the citizens of Charlottetown to sustain me in taking the path I do. True, the house to house canvass gives the office seeker an opportunity to resort to questionable means in order to secure a vote, and to obviate that the Ballot was given you. If secrecy of voting is the law, why violate it?

In my Card I did not claim all credit for improvements made during the last eight years, but my fellow Councillors will bear me out in the statement that I have supported every movement tending to the best interests of the city, and have neither shirked a responsibility I placed my Card fully before you—not in verbal numbers to suit an occasion would arise, and, if I have not kept it constantly in the press, it is because I am not a millionaire. You know what it contains.

I have but this final word to say before you cast your Ballot. If it can be proven that I have not been faithful and loyal to the trust reposed in me in the past; if I have claimed credit for gifts which belonged to others; or, if I have been extravagant in the administration of your (Public) property, as Chairman, then your duty is clear. If on the other hand you believe I have paid close attention to your wants, and have exerted myself to have them remedied; if you think my spirit of progressiveness is tamed by that measure of common sense in keeping with our revenue without placing further financial burdens on those who already find the load heavy; in short, if I measure up to the standard of honor, prudence and integrity, which in your estimation should characterize your Mayor, I shall appreciate a very great deal the support of every voter so thinking.

A square deal to every one has always been my motto and must continue to be in whatever position I may occupy. Having every confidence in the general integrity of the electorate, I leave the ballot with your conscience, and ask you not to be hasty, but count THREE from the top before making your mark. Thanking you in anticipation of your support, I am faithfully yours, L. B. MILLER

Movie Director Murdered In Home

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—Mystery tonight surrounded the murder of William Desmond Taylor, internationally-known motion picture director, who was found dead at his desk in his home this morning.

The bullet which ended his life had been fired into the neck from behind and had ranged downward, piercing the heart. On his desk behind his head lay a mass of cancelled cheques, which he apparently had been inspecting when the fatal shot was fired.

Robbery, according to the police, could not have been the motive for nothing was missing from the apartment, although a considerable sum of money and jewelry was found undisturbed nearby the body.

Most of the early efforts of the investigators today were directed to an attempt to locate the former servant of Taylor's against the motion picture man had lodged a complaint with the police some time ago.

Taylor declared the man had stolen some of his belongings and forged his name to a cheque, and that he believed a burglary of his apartments some time later was committed by the same person.

Germany May Use Postal Airplanes

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—The Government announces that it is its intention to utilize airplanes to keep the postal service in operation as far as possible, should the railroad strike develop to great proportions. Plans will fly between Berlin and Dresden, Dortmund, Bremen, Hamburg and Spettin as opportunity permits. They will handle only urgent mail matter. A few mail trains, also are to be kept running manned by emergency crews.

The question of food supplies for Berlin still is being considered. It is feared the shortage will develop into serious proportions in the event the strike is prolonged.

Owing to the abandonment of the steam railway services, Berlin's underground and surface traffic is very heavy. Men, women and children today sought for places in the trains, which were running at every station where they stopped. Some of the passengers were unable to get off at their stations, and had to make round trips on the trains.

The newspapers already are short of print paper and have cut their editions to a single sheet, in order to avoid possible suspension of publication in a few days. A number of the papers have only a five days supply.
