—SUDDEN DEATH. —Citizens of Kensington were shocked to learn Monday morning of the sudden death of Mr. Charles Crowley who was found dead in his bed at an early hour. Deceased was 80 years of age, recently had a misfortune to break a leg and seemed to be recovering from the effects of the injury. When called to breakfast there was no response and his wife was shocked to find upon investigation that he was dead. The sad event is deeply regretted.

—DEATH REGRETTED.—Many will regret to learn of the death of Mr. James E. Campbell, a well known resident of that place. He was 62 years of age and leaves to cherish his memory four sons and six daughters. The sons are Garnet, Leslie, Lorne and Edwin, at home and the daughters, Kate, Lella and Ruth at home. —SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR. — A very successful social evening was spent at the home of Mr and Mrs Chester Howard on Wednesday, Jan. 20th by the members of the Margate Mission Band. Violin and instrumental music was given by Mr. Lloyd Howard and Mr. Frank Mayhew. Much enjoyment was taken out of the three contests that followed. A beautiful lunch was served to all present. Then the use of the tape-measure by Mr. William Profit, assisted by Mr. Ch. Howard and Mr. C. C. Peifer caused much merriment for all present. Mrs. J. A. Johnson, president of the Band thanked Mr and Mrs Howard for their kindness and hospitality to all that had the pleasure of spending the evening in their home, and also to all that helped to make the social a success. Mr. Howard replied in a few well chosen remarks, and hoped that before long, there would be another social evening in Margate.

MOON INFLUENCE

A correspondent writes:— We note with interest and amusement a sketch contained in a recent issue of "The Guardian" in which the author attributed the activities of the St. Peters Driving Club in their attempts to clean the ice, to be inane efforts at farming operations, and inferred that these futile tactics were the result of the influence of "Moon Spots" on the persons engaged therein, taking his cue from the Scientific America's late article on "Sun Spots." We quite agree with the writer of the production in "The Guardian" as to the possibility of Moon influence on the human race, and though our latter day wisdom would seem to flout this idea, nevertheless we have frequent evidence of its truth, the latest of which is the sketch referred to above. The writer must certainly have been the victim of some erratic seizure when he could suppose that a bunch of boys cleaning the ice for a horse race were "cultivating" it. We give the Moon influence notion the more credence from the fact that his knowledge of progressive farming, and under ordinary conditions we surmise that he would never have put such ridiculous ideas in writing.

We moderns claim to have out-lived the simple cause and effect beliefs of the early philosophers, and in many cases rightly so, but the Moon influence theory seems to have survived the scientific criticisms of the ages, through which it has been handed down, and owing to this fact, we would suggest to the writer of "Moon Spots in St. Peters" the wisdom of building up a proper resistance at the right period during the monthly visitation of the Silver Goddess, bearing in mind always the fact that Luna the Latin word for moon is the derivation from which is developed the extremely apt English word lunatic.

Dunstafnage

Following was the programme: Reading, Myrtle Stewart; solo, Herb Court; reading, Marguerite Terrell; mouth organ selection, Herb Court; M. Terrell; contest, M. Stewart. Meeting closed with singing of National Anthem.

In Memoriam

MRS. ALEXANDER MATHESON

On January 17th after a short illness, Mrs. Alexander Matheson Belle River, aged 72 years, passed peacefully away. The funeral in St. John's Church, Belfast was largely attended. The services were efficiently conducted by Rev. Mr. McDonald of Murray River. Her favorite selections, "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms," "Over There," "The Hour of my Departure" were beautifully rendered by the choir, also a solo by Miss Jean Beaton, Melville accompanied by Miss Lauretta McDonald Flat River, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

She leaves to mourn seven daughters, viz: Mrs. D. Rourke, Whim Road; Mrs. N. McDonald, Whim Road; Mrs. A. McKenzie, British Columbia; Mrs. R. Turnbull, Massachusetts; Mrs. A. McDonald, Flat River; Mrs. A. McMillan, Wood Islands; Mrs. G. Ross, Rosebery; two sons, Daniel and William of Massachusetts and three sisters Mrs. Mary A. McInnis, Rosebery; Mrs. Margaret McInnis, Belle River, and Mrs. Welling Compton, Flat River; also two brothers, Samuel Ross, Flat River and Norman, British Columbia.

To her many friends who were deprived of the privilege of visiting her bedside it will be a comfort and consolation to know that she retained her faculties until the end, that she bore her illness with patience and resignation. As her strength ebbed away her trust in God grew stronger and she surrendered her all into the hands of Him "who doeth all things well."
