New Technique For Examining Heart Action

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
DETROIT, April 20 — (AP) — New ways of seeing inside the heart were announced today to the American Physiological Society.

They tell more accurately which part of the heart may be ailing, where blood clots may have formed, and where heart-beat skips have started.

The seeing is done with electrocardiograms, photographic records of the electrical impulses of the heart during the time of each beat. They have long been used, but it's been hard always to tell exactly what the wavy lines on the pictures mean.

The new findings clear up much of this mystery, and promise to help save lives in heart troubles. They were made by Drs. Louis H. Nahum and Hyman M. Chernoff of the Yale School of Medicine.

The physiologists announced three major findings:

One, aided by X-ray mapping of the heart, is what each part of the heart contributes to the electrical-impulse picture.

A second, that the lower sixth of the heart recovers faster than the upper part during a heart beat, and is warmer in temperature.

Third, an explanation of what happens to the various segments of the heart when the body doesn't get enough oxygen. The parts recover at different speeds, and this shows in the picture. Knowing this will help in diagnosing heart troubles.

Certain changes in the electrical picture occur after coronary thrombosis or other diseases start, it was said.

A new theory of the heart action helps physicians locate a blood clot, the origin of skipped beats, and other troubles, Dr. Nahum and Dr. Chernoff said.

The theory is that each electrical record is created by the interaction of opposite electrical forces from different zones of the heart. The better interpretations of the pictures were made possible by this theory and by findings in animals which were shown to apply to human beings.

The lens of the eye continues to grow in size throughout life.

Saint John Seeks Subsidy For Market

SAINT JOHN, N. B., April 19 — (CP) — The Saint John Common Council today adopted a resolution that it ask a provincial government subsidy to assist in maintenance of the city market.

Sale of the building was opposed at the present session of the New Brunswick Legislature. Several members, some from distant areas, contended the market was provincial in scope and service. One councillor suggested today that it be renamed "the provincial market."

In our childish ignorance we take upon ourselves debts and respond blithely that we can never settle, and as long as we live we have to pay and pay for our folly.

That is your trouble, as it is the heartbreak of millions of other people. You married when you were an undeveloped kid, not knowing what sort of a man you were going to be, or even what you wanted to make of yourself, and now you have to pay the penalty.

But don't let this get you down. You cannot undo your mistakes, but you can keep from repeating them. At 19 the world is all before you. Go out and fight until you make a success of yourself.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Please tell us girls of ways to meet boys. We are lonesome because we don't know where to go or what to do to get acquainted with boys. Can you help us to get dates?

UNHAPPY GANG

ANSWER: In these days when boys and girls go to school together and when almost every girl has some sort of job, I don't see how it is possible for girls to keep from meeting boys. Probably the boys are just as much afraid of you as you are of them. Why don't you break the ice between you by organizing a boy and girl club where you can play games together and get chummy?

who is posing as a single man, is apt to give himself away, as, for instance, his knowing too much about women's little ways. Of course, if there is a baby in the family, there is a tell-tale give-away in the greasy spot on Papa's shoulder that he acquired when he burped the infant.

But, on the whole, girls don't have much chance of finding out whether the handsome stranger has a wife and a houseful of kids, or not. All married men should wear a badge with taken printed on it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a married man 19 years old, my wife is 22, and we have a baby. My wife is very lazy and wants me to do all the work while she does nothing. I want a divorce, but she will not give me one. She won't even let me go uptown to a movie alone, because she thinks that I am going to run away from her. But I wouldn't leave, because she and I both love and want the child.

I can't stand her nagging any more. What shall I do?

SEA VIEW W.I.

The regular monthly meeting of Sea View W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Reginald Mountain on the evening of April 15th with the president, Mrs. Earle McKay presiding. Roll call was answered with "riddles" by thirteen members and two visitors were present. Under the heading of unfinished business the date set for variety concert was April 27th and each family in district was asked to make 2 lbs of sugar into candy to be sold at concert. A committee was also appointed to get new screens made for the platform of Hall and have them made of durable material to be the property of the Hall. School committee reported a bill due on new seats and by motion the Institute decided to pay this debt. Sec'y read a couple of letters of thanks for sick gifts received. Red Cross collectors reported on money received to date.

Two interesting contests were put on by Miss Violet Bassett and Mrs. Leighton Coulson which were much enjoyed, also instrumental music by Mrs. Ray Burt and Mrs. Lorne Campbell which added much to the pleasure of the evening. Meeting then adjourned and lunch was served by hostess assisted by Mrs. Lorne Campbell and Mrs. Buddy Brander. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. John E. Campbell.
