To Install Modern Heating Plant At S'side Station

One of the most modern heating plants available will be installed in a re-assembled Mount Pleasant airport boiler house at the R. C. A. F. Station, Summerside in the near future. The system, to be installed by the firm of Reid and Cambridge Ltd., of Montreal will be used to heat the Summerside Station.

The boiler house at Mount Pleasant is probably one of the five large buildings which the Summerside Station is reportedly planning to obtain from the war time airport through the Surplus Assets Corporation. The building, already being dismantled will be moved and re-assembled by M. F. Schurman and Co. Ltd.

Negotiations to purchase the Mount Pleasant airport by the Provincial Government have been dropped as a satisfactory agreement on the price could not be arranged. The first offer of the Corporation was about $87,000, or eight per cent of the cost.

The Government was desirous of purchasing the airport so that it might re-open the part of the highway which ran through the property on which the port was built. The Government claim that this road, closed when the airport was constructed and built around it instead, will have to be re-opened in any event.

There are about thirty buildings of various sizes comprising hangars, administration buildings and other structures at Mount Pleasant. All equipment such as the lighting plant has been removed with the plate glass and instruments of the tower being used at the Summerside Station.

Among buildings which have been removed from the airport are the present school at Lennox Island and the Miscouche Memorial Home.

SAINTS COME FROM

a corner after Hoffman had put him in the clear with a well-timed pass. Cliff Bernard got the picture goal of the evening half way through the period rounding the Airforce defence in one of his scintillating speed bursts to beat Crawford from close in. The Airforce went out in front about a minute later when Hulme's bull's eye found a slit between Fradette's pads and the goal post. With the Saints short, when McIsaac was banished for holding, Mahar broke away while the R.C.A.F. were pressing and evened the score once again. McIsaac was still in durance vile when the Saints scored their next tally to put them one up. It was a nicely-executed play by Mahar and Rodgers. Hulme's short flip to Greig gave the latter a bead on the S.D.U. net and he fired it home. The period ended 4-all.

Houde gave the Saints the lead again in the see-saw contest at the 4-minute mark, then Beardmore shot his two goals, the first one on a pass-out from MacDonald and the other unassisted. This was at the half-way mark and put the Airforce in front 6 to 5. They held this lead until six minutes before the bell. Hoffstrand was sent to serve time because the R.C.A.F. had seven men on the ice but no damage was done during his absence. Mahar finally scored on a pass from Rodgers, and the same two players combined for the winning tally a minute later. Crawford coming out to clear, but losing an exchange with Joe Mahar who banged the disk into the draperies.

Junior Assembly S'side High School

—The Junior Assembly in the Summerside High School Auditorium on Friday afternoon was presented by the Grade IV classes, under the direction of their teachers, Mrs. J. Garth Toombs, Mrs. Hazel Dystant and Miss Patricia Saunders, accompanist. The following numbers were announced by Hester MacPhee and Robin Lidstone. The playlet, "The Cat and the Queen", was particularly well staged. As the curtain rose, the servants, played by Margaret Coffin, Cecilia Darby, Alan Holman and Edward Boates, were busily dusting and straightening up the throne room in the Queen's Castle in preparation for the arrival of the Queen, taken by Lorna Gentleman, to knight the subject who could, with his own invention, best protect her throne. Among these was the Bugler, John Hancock, the Hatter, Bruce White, and the Cat, Ronald Sullivan. As the Queen was addressing her people she heard the squeals of a mouse under the throne seat and being terrified jumped upon the chair. The only one able to take care of this difficult situation was the Cat, therefore he was chosen to be knighted.

The next item was a Spanish Ballad, entitled "No, Sir", in which thirteen girls and thirteen boys took part. It was the story of a boy in love with a girl, whose father, a Spanish Merchant had told his daughter that she must always say "No, Sir", to this boy. It was interesting to learn how the boy, through indirect questioning, was able to get a favorable answer. In a skit on safety entitled "Are You A Dunce", the following took part: Enid Mill, Barbara Casselman, Barbara Clark, Lowell Clark and Eric Lewin.

Eight boys and eight girls took part in the marching and singing drill entitled "The Song of the Bottle", and stressed in song and action the health values to be found in milk.

The precision was especially good and showed much careful training by the teachers. This excellent program was brought to a close by the singing of The National Anthem.—S.

Contract Let For S'side Royal Bank Building

It was officially announced over the week-end that the contract for the erection of the new Royal Bank building in Summerside had been awarded to Messrs. R. T. Holman, Limited, who, it is understood, have sublet the contract to the County Construction Company of Summerside and Charlottetown.

Demolition of the old building, which was constructed in 1883, will begin at once and it is expected that the new office will be ready for occupancy by late summer.

The new Royal Bank building when completed will be of one-story construction, modern in every way. It will have a forty-foot frontage and will extend approximately sixty feet back from the street with an addition at the rear for a vault, giving an overall length of seventy-four feet. The facing will be of Queentsone limestone.—S.

Canned Lobsters Alive Not New In Summerside

In a recent article in the Wall Street Journal the shipping of live lobsters was commented on as a novel discovery.

Although it might be a new way of shipping this delicacy from the city of Boston, Prince Edward Island can claim to be the first shippers of live lobsters as they have been exported from here for some time. Last year approximately forty or fifty thousand pounds were shipped in this manner by Jenkins Bros. of Summerside.

Mr. G. Franklyn Cameron, secretary treasurer of Jenkins Bros., states that the franchise rights to ship live lobsters in cans is held by the Island Trading Co. of Summerside, and they have given the production rights to his company. Jenkins Bros. are the only company in Canada privileged to use the process whereby lobsters are taken out of the can by the consumer as alive as the day they were taken out of the ocean.
