REV. D. MICHAEL J. RYAN PASSES AFTER LONG ILLNESS
(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
PETERBOROUGH, Ont., July 7.—Rev. D. Michael J. Ryan, 74, died in St. Joseph's Hospital here Saturday after a long illness. He was born in Newfoundland April 16, 1881.
Dr. Ryan taught for many years at St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N.Y. He also taught for 18 years at St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. He retired four years ago owing to ill-health.
Daily, until four months ago, he had celebrated Mass in the Hospital Chapel. He is survived by two sisters in Newfoundland, and a sister in Brooklyn, N. Y. Last rites will be celebrated in St. Augustine's Seminary Tuesday.

LOVELY HANDS
The loveliest hands in the world belong to women who have learned to relax. They never sit with clenched fists or nervously drum fingertips on the arms of chairs while talking. They use their hands in conversation, of course, but their gestures really mean something and are done graciously.
If you want your own hands to be of the variety that poets rave about, begin today to do easy exercises that relax arm muscles, keep the wrists slender and the fingers flexible. All of them can be done while you are sitting down.
Let arms hang loosely at your sides and then, bending elbows comfortably, make believe that you are pulling taffy. Bring fingers and hands together in front of you, slowly force arms outward to the sides, expanding fingers as candy is getting quite stiff and that a good deal of effort is required to pull it outward.

Make believe that you are shaking water from your fingertips. Hold the arms loosely, bring hands up and then fling them downward, letting your relaxed fingers snap against each other. Repeat until wrists begin to tire.
Opening and closing hands rapidly will remove stiffness from the fingers, and, providing you do not get tense, all the good old reliable arm exercises that you did in physical training classes when you were twelve are good, too.
Don't forget that massaging is excellent for the hands and wrists. Smooth on a little cream and then massage upward from fingertips to wrists, just as you do when you pull on new gloves.
DON'T LET ONE FLY ESCAPE
Do you know that one fly lays on hundred to two hundred eggs in one batch? It doesn't take much imagination, to figure out the consequences if a few flies are allowed to roam around.
Of course, you and I loathe flies because they are irritating and disgusting but though we all have an urge to get rid of them, we are not all overcareful of preventing their breeding.
All garbage and refuse must be covered or burned, manure, rotting leaves kept well away from dwellings and all surroundings kept as scrupulously clean as possible. However, there will always be some flies around somewhere. Screens on doors and windows will help to keep them out of the house and all exposed food should be kept covered.
Medical authorities and scientists have proved by the most careful tests that the common house-fly spreads deadly germs of infantile diarrhea, the dreaded warm weather complaint that claims the lives of so many little children.
Flies are a deadly menace and must not be tolerated. A fly will come straight from a heap of fish and settle on food or drink if the

VETERAN FINALLY WINS TITLE
(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
TORONTO, July 7.—Fred Hobbizel, Lambton veteran who has knocked at the door of championship golf for years, tonight was inside the portals by virtue of a smashing 20th hole victory over Joe Thompson, young Burlington, Ont., star, Saturday to win the Ontario amateur crown. Thompson came from behind to win the 17th and 18th holes and square the match when he was down.
They moved to the first tee for the extra hole. It was halved in five, one over par. On the 192-yard par three 20th hole Thompson sent his iron tee shot into a trap at the right while Hobbizel cleared the bunker and was pin high but in deep rough. The Lambton "hard luck" player slammed his ball out of the rough to land three feet from the cup. Thompson after getting out of the bunker was just short of the putting surface.
Thompson chipped within eight feet of the pin but he missed the putt, picking up and conceding the hole and match to Hobbizel.
