"You Only Live Once"
Current Attraction At Capitol, Summerside

"You Only Live Once" a thrilling human drama full of action, fiery romance and charm held an appreciative audience spell bound when this picture played last evening at the Capitol Theatre.
Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda the sweethearts of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" are the stars in a film which will make history. There two young actors carry the audience from one dramatic scene to another, keeping everyone on tip toe to the very last act which is a breath-taking climax and daring solution of one of the finest stories of the screen.

Fast and Furious Drama
Sylvia Sidney has her best role to date as Joan Graham, who loves Eddie Taylor, a convict released through the efforts of Joan's employer, Stephen Whitney, public defender, who also loves the girl. And Fonda, as Eddie, displays a dramatic power unhinted at in his previous roles.

Cast Excellent
The supporting cast is uniformly excellent, headed by Barton MacLane, famous "heavy," who scores in the sympathetic role of Stephen Whitney, Fonda's rival; Jean Dixon, as Joan's sister; William Garigan, as the prison chaplain; the late "Chic" Sale, Warren Hymer, Margaret Hamilton, Gunn Williams, Jerome Cowan, John Wray, Jonathan Hale and others.
Lang, a master at letting the audience "experience" the story, achieves some unusual and some times startling effects without jarring the smooth-running tempo of the story.

Magnificent photography, credited to Leon Shamroy, lends rare beauty to the picture, especially in the scenes laid in the mountain retreat of the hunted couple and on the edge of the desert, and the settings by the noted Hollywood art director, Alexander Toluboff, provide a realistic background for the powerful story.
"You Only Live Once" is the cinematic thrill of a lifetime. It will give you a jolt—but you'll love it!

Refuses Grant To Aid Empire Games Team
(By The Canadian Press)
BURLINGTON, Ont., Nov. 24—Refusal of the Ontario Government to grant the Canadian British Empire Games team $50,000 may mean reduction in the personnel of the team to compete in Australia next February, M. M. (Bobby) Robinson said today.

Refusal of the grant, announced in Toronto by Premier Hepburn, means "if other provinces come across with money their athletes will go and the Ontario ones will be left at home," the secretary and organizer of the Canadian team said.
Robinson said at least $35,000 will be needed to send a team of 70 from all parts of Canada. The committee has raised $21,000, including a $10,000 grant from the Federal Government, and "we have to get $14,000 more or else we simply must cut down the team selected."

To date only one province has contributed money towards the team, New Brunswick donating $1,000 and specifying that expenses of sprinter Sigurd Nelson of Saint John and his coach be paid out of the $1,000.
The team is scheduled to sail from Vancouver Dec. 15.

Had Many Boils On His Neck and Body

While the skin seems to be the cause of the irritating and painful boils the real trouble, according to the doctor, is the blood, and when you think you are rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your agony.
All the poulticing and lancing you may do does not, as a rule, get rid of them. What is most essential is to give the blood a thorough cleansing.
When the blood is purified, cleansed and vitalized by Burdock Blood Bitters the boils disappear, your misery is at an end, your health and strength renewed, and the skin clean and smooth.

Mr. ALFRED A. FERRIER, Falkenburg, Ont., writes:—"Several years ago I suffered greatly from numerous boils on my neck and body, and had three blind ones on my knee.
Our druggist advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters, so I took two bottles, and in a short time I was completely rid of the boils."

IROQUOIS SEEK RIGHTS UNDER INDIAN ACT

Dissatisfied With Present Conditions On Reserve—Council Members Quit.

(By D. E. Burritt, Canadian Press Staff Writer)
CAUGHNAWAGA, Que., Nov. 24—Down the boulder-pocked road that snakes over a ridge to his little brick home, Mayor Joe Delisle trudged today with a team of shaggy horses and a load of trouble.
For Mayor Delisle, a bronzed farmer a tattered wind-breaker, life is not too smooth. There is a lot of political unrest and general dissatisfaction among the some 3,000 Iroquois living on this Indian Reserve.
Joe manoeuvred his team and wagon chassis through a narrow gateway, upsetting the gate as he passed, and then shuffled into the house to tell newspapermen why he and the Reserve's 12 councillors had sent in their resignations to the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa.

"We want to get rid of that Indian Act," said His Worship, ruffling his greying hair to emphasize his feelings. "When the Government offered this act to the Indians, they said 'take it and try it out. If it doesn't work, why bring it back.' So we have found it doesn't work and we want them to take it back."
But that is only one of the grievances voiced by the Chief Magistrate of Caughnawaga, whose family has lived alongside the Lachine rapids nearly 300 years. The white man, he says, is infringing on the Iroquois rights. White foremen oversee road-building jobs. White storekeepers cut in on the business of the little town, across the river from Montreal. And white residents on the Reserve are increasing in number. All this appears unfair to Joe and his fellow councillors. So they complained to Ottawa.

"And what do we get from that?" demanded the Mayor. The reporters couldn't answer that, so Joe, leaning forward in his easy chair, volunteered to continue. "Well, this is what we get: In the two years I have been Mayor, we have passed 468 resolutions and forwarded them to Ottawa for action. Mind you, 468 resolutions! In reply to those resolutions we get 40 answers. That's what we get."
"We get only 40 answers because in the Indian Act it says we can pass whatever resolutions we wish, do whatever we wish and ask whatever we wish. But at the bottom of the act there is a provision that says it will be all right if the Government says 'yes.'"
"We asked $3,000 to build a road and give work to our people. The Government gave us $1,100 and a white foreman. We didn't want the white foreman so they withdrew the grant. Now we have families on relief, some with six or seven children, getting seven dollars a month. Figure out what that comes to per meal!"

The council was divided on the question of asking Ottawa for withdrawal of the Indian Act and for permission to reestablish tribal government. So seven of them quit. They sent in their resignations to Ottawa. The other six still are in office. A new election will be held in January.

am satisfied, however, that the visit has been a valuable one, furthered by the desire, which I believe to be generally felt in both countries, for the establishment of closer relations."
Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, pressed for an answer to a question asking an assurance that there is no truth in the report that the Government are considering giving Germany a free hand in Austria and Czechoslovakia in exchange for no demand for colonies for six years.
When the Prime Minister replied that no pledges had been given Mr. Mander gave notice he regarded the reply as unsatisfactory and that he would raise the question again on a motion to adjourn the House.

Tonight, however, Mr. Mander saw the Prime Minister and it was understood that in view of the "reassurances" the Prime Minister gave him, the Liberal member did not plan to pursue his announced intention.

Announcing the French visit the Prime Minister said:
"The French Prime Minister and the Minister for Foreign Affairs have accepted an invitation from His Majesty's Government to visit London on Nov. 29 and 30 for an exchange of views on the international situation with myself and the secretary of state for foreign affairs."
It was understood Lord Halifax reported to the cabinet during the day on his Berlin visit and that Mr. Eden reviewed the international situation with his colleagues, with stress on the German conversations and the coming meetings with the French statesmen.

year. School committees were likewise appointed monthly and the school scrubbed when necessary, also at Christmas and June closing. Our annual donation of $25. to that worthy institute the Provincial Sanatorium was made also $5 each to the Prince County Hospital and Carnegie Library. A box of clothing used in the program was sent to the Protestant Orphanage. Passengers were appointed who collected for the Red Cross as usual. As has been customary after three years duties to honor the secretary with a suitable gift we had the pleasure of presenting Miss Mae Walker with a fountain pen at the December meeting. Another ice cream freezer was purchased this year which now gives us three and makes it much more convenient to prepare for an ice cream social. A fee is charged each time the freezer is used in our program, which makes it rather a paying proposition. To replenish our funds which were running low we held a pantry sale and ice cream social and served supper at a Field Day held by the Dairying Association in Summerside, which we received very nice sums.

At our last annual meeting Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson of North Bedouque gave a very inspiring address on Peace and during the year papers on Music in the School and Amusement for Children along educational lines were prepared and read by two of our members, and certainly proved that we are not lacking in local talent. The different questionnaires were discussed and filled in and papers prepared and read on a number of the subjects. Other items on our program were songs, readings and contests, which all proved entertaining. Letters of sympathy were sent to several bereaved members, and your president wishes to express sincere appreciation for the warmth and many kindnesses extended to herself and family in their bereavement. And now as above mentioned our tenth anniversary was celebrated on May 11th by holding a banquet in King George Hall, Kensington, which was attended by practically all our members and husbands and proved a most enjoyable party of six which recently took up a winter vigil farther west in the Aleutian Islands.

U. S. Patrol Planes For Arctic Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—(AP)—The United States Navy Department, disclosing the dispatch of six patrol planes to Sitka, Alaska, for an all-winter stay, stressed today the move was for training and scientific—not military—purposes.
Accompanied by a tender, the mine sweeper Lapwing, the planes flew unannounced from Seattle to Alaska.
They will be used in making aerological observations, the Navy said, supplementing reports from a naval party of six which recently took up a winter vigil farther west in the Aleutian Islands.
