Farm Notes

WHY CUT HAY EARLY?

(Experimental Farms Note)
 The farmers of Eastern Canada are dependent to a great extent upon other provinces for their high protein concentrates. Hay of good quality can be produced here and proper handling of this crop is quite necessary to ensure saving the most expensive food nutrient it contains, namely, protein.

The Dominion Experimental Farm at Nappan, Nova Scotia in 1930 undertook to determine the blue, if any, in cutting hay early. Samples of clover, timothy and such were cut in July, and similar samples from adjacent areas were taken a month later.

These were analyzed by the Dominion Chemist at Ottawa.

The results of these analyses show that the early cut clover contained 1.8 per cent more protein and 6.06 per cent less fibre than the late cut. This is in spite of the fact that considerable second growth was obtained in the late cutting.

Timothy showed a loss in protein of 17 per cent and a gain in fibre of 0.43 per cent, while couch lost 34 per cent protein and gained 24 per cent in fibre when cut in August as compared with July. Similar cutting were made in 1931, but the analyses are not yet available. However, these results are very similar to those reported from other sources. For example, Henry and Morrison report analyses for timothy early cut, (in bloom), and late cut (nearly ripe) and show the latter to be 11 per cent lower in protein and 1.2 per cent higher in fibre.

On the basis of a loss of 1.7 per cent of protein in every ton. At a value of 5 cents per pound, (the present cost, using choice cottonseed meal as a basis), it means that each ton of hay cut in July is on the average worth $1.70 per ton more in feeding value than the average hay cut in August. In other words, the protein saved in each ton of early cut hay will replace that purchased in 80 to 100 pounds of protein concentrates.

The early cutting of hay in Eastern Canada in 1932 can do much towards lowering the feed bills and still keep the livestock in good condition. Let this be a slogan to be adopted by all during the coming season.

CARE OF THE ROSE BUSH

Now the spring has returned and the garden regains its place in popular interest, with its promise of a wealth of bloom just around the corner, there is special interest in the care of the rose bush, more particularly with respect to cultivation and watering.

The practice carried out by the Horticultural Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms indicates that by keeping the surface soil loose from spring until autumn much moisture which would otherwise pass off into the air will be held in the soil. After each raked the bed should be hoed and raked, leaving a rather coarse surface: or during a dry time, if it has been necessary to water the roses, the soil should be loosened after watering. It is better to water roses thoroughly occasionally, than to give them a light watering frequently. It is not, however, too often to syringe or spray the foliage with water every day, as this is one of the best preventatives of insects. This syringing is, however, for the purpose of cleansing the foliage, not for adding moisture to the soil. This spraying should be done in the morning, for if the foliage is wet in the middle of a hot, dry day, it is liable to scald, while if it is wet in the middle of a hot, dry day, encourage mildew.

Soils should be kept rich and well supplied with humus by the annual application of well-rotted barnyard manure in large quantities. This may be applied on the surface of the ground in the autumn and dug in at once or in the spring or applied in the spring.

The minutes of the last meeting had our hearty support. The sick and school committee came with no report.

Next came the quilt. On which we have too long tarried. For it goes to the girl of the Institute who first gets married.

The program was the next event. With Lois and Mildred playing. They rendered out some snappy stuff. That kept our feet a swaying.

Next came some readings. Worthy of special mention followed by a contest. Which took up all attention.

Now came refreshments. Which went right to the spot. Everything was dandy. With "Cream Puffs" in the lot.

Then the meeting was adjourned. The National Anthem sung. And for the May meeting. With Mrs. Burns we come.

WHEAT BONUS IS EXTENDED TO JUNE 30

OTTAWA, June 7—(By The Canadian Press)—The Canadian Government will extend the date at which the five cent a bushel bonus on wheat expires from June 15 to June 30. This was intimated in official circles and the order in council making the extension will probably be signed today.

One of the reasons given for the break of over four cents a bushel in the price of wheat in Winnipeg on Saturday was the rush of farmers to get the balance of their wheat to the elevators in time to obtain the benefit of the bonus. As the wheat was delivered at the country elevator much of it was hedged in Winnipeg. With very light export demand this selling of futures against the grain received forced the market down.

During the spring seeding the deliveries to the country elevators fell off but as soon as this busy season for the farmers was over they began drawing their left over wheat to the elevators at the rate of 500,000 bushels a day. The bonus is paid as soon as the wheat is delivered to the elevator. With 16 days added to the time that the farmer may deliver his grain and yet get the bonus it is expected that the daily deliveries will fall off somewhat.

The bonus on wheats was only for one year's duration and in order to have it cleared up before the end of the present crop year, July 31, the date of June 15 had originally been set. The only grain not affected is that which has not been delivered to the elevators. No accurate information is available as to how much wheat is still on the farms. One estimate is that it would be in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 bushels.

ROYAL YACHT

LONDON, June 7—(Canadian Press Cable)—Although she is 44 years old, the King's yacht, Britannia, will be in the Cowes waters again this year. In her long career she has won over 200 first prizes, a record which no other vessel of her class has ever approached.

The flag flown on Britannia on racing days is the Prince of Wales' feathers on a field of red and blue—the colors first hoisted in 1893 by King Edward when Prince of Wales. On King Edward's accession she was sold to William Buckley, the present commodore of the Royal Yacht Squadron, who cut down her racing spars and used her for cruising. King Edward, however, soon regretted losing his beautiful ship and bought her back a year later. But for many seasons afterwards she did not join the racing fleet. She was considered too old.
