PREACHED

breaking this rich co-operation in Christian service, and to his wishes and hopes for continued progress under his successor, the sermon of the day was delivered. Taking as his subject "Facing the future with courage," based on the opening words of the twenty third Psalm "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want," the deep value and vital necessity of confidence in the presence, care, leadership of God was emphasized. Not only is God to be regarded as Shepherd, let each in the words of the Psalmist express conviction that the Lord is MY shepherd. With this confidence we shall not want, we shall not want for sustaining, we shall not want for protection, nor for restoration, for leadership, we shall not want for eternal home.

Speaking to another large congregation in the evening Dr. Vincent delivered a message particularly to his city of Charlottetown in which he has lived these more than six happy years. His subject was "The great alternatives" based on Deuteronomy 30:19, "I call heaven and earth to record this day against you that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that thou and thy seed may live." He has in the words of the Psalmist "preached righteousness in the great congregation." During this ministry there have been set before you the great alternatives, life and death, blessing and cursing and all bearers have been implored to choose life. Now what is your reaction as a hearer? Remember that the Master described the hearers, in a vivid parable, as of four sorts: the hard soil of the wayside, the thistle soil of the stony ground, the difficult thorn filled soil, and the good and fruitful soil. To which class of hearers do you belong, for after all the success of the message depends as much on the hearer as on the preacher. Choose ye life! Choose ye this day, that you may live! Choose wisely now, for you are choosing not only for your destiny but for that of the children who may follow you.

The music of the day was finely led by a large choir with Miss Callbeck at the organ. The morning anthem was a notably fine rendering of Prof. W. E. Fletcher's setting of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." The evening anthem was "At even ere the sun was set" (Turner). In the evening anthem the solos were taken by Mr. Quigley and Mr. Dingwall.

service will, as usual, be held on Parliament Hill where a temporary cenotaph has been erected. It will be graced by the presence of Lord Tweedsmuir, the first public function to be attended by His Excellency since his accession to office as Governor General. It was learned tonight that Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who had gone to the United States seeking a holiday, was returning to the capital, that he also would be present.
The ex-service men of Ottawa will parade, accompanied by the Ottawa garrison. Following a service of music and singing which is expected to last just under 30 minutes, wreaths will be deposited at the base of the cenotaph.

Shortly before 11 a.m., representative detachments of the navy, army, air force, merchant fleet and ex-service men's associations, will deposit wreaths on the cenotaph at Whitehall.

In Westminster Abbey a special service will commence at 10.30 a.m. Official deputations bearing wreaths, will pass before the grave of the unknown warrior.

Voices Hope Of Continuance Of Ottawa Pacts

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Nov. 10—The hope that nothing would be done "to vitiate to any degree the more valuable elements" of the Ottawa Trade Agreements was expressed in an interview today by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, retiring Canadian High Commissioner to London.
Mr. Ferguson resigned upon the defeat of the Bennett Government in Ottawa and will be succeeded in a few days by Hon. Vincent Massey.
"The Ottawa agreements forged a solid link between the Dominions, the colonies and the Old Country," he said, "the effect of which, during my years in office, has been increasingly profitable for all concerned."
"They are shortly due for revision. I am now merely citizen of Canada and the British Empire. As such, I hope that nothing will be done to vitiate to any degree the more valuable elements of those agreements."
"The activities of the London offices of the individual Dominions are of growing importance," he added. "They are real factors in the Empire-building. More is done in the way of welding the nations of the British Commonwealth together in its capital than many people seem to realize."

Two solos by Miss Amanda Cannon were very much enjoyed; also readings by Mrs. Joseph Perry.
A colorful feature was the duet "Flora MacDonald" sung and acted by Bud Mountain and Don Baker, Don taking the part of Flora. The accompanists were Miss Sue Meadows, Mrs. Whalen and Miss Daisy Williams. A dainty lunch was served after which Mr. Don Baker thanked the ladies in a few well chosen remarks.—S

PEACE IS CALL FROM EUROPE'S OLD BRIGADE

War Veterans In United Kingdom And Continent Observe Armistice Day Amid New War Threat.

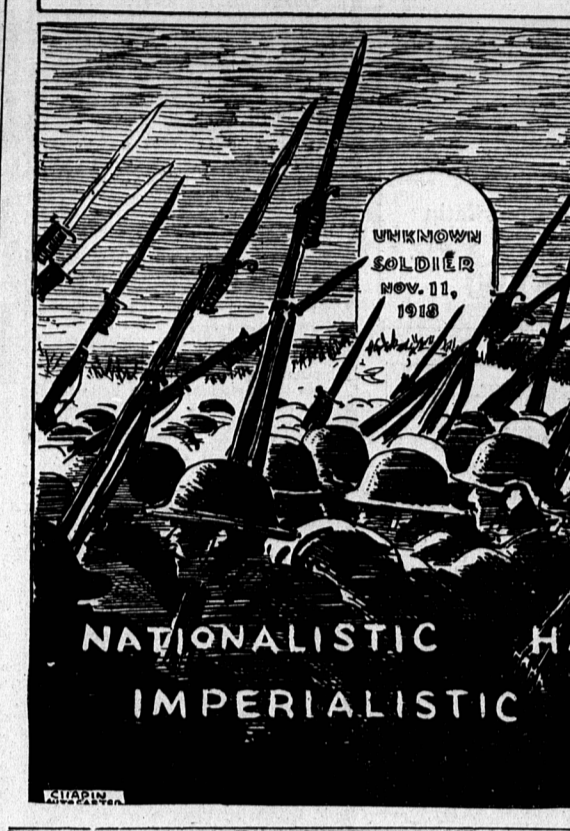

(Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 10—Europe, once more armed, once more tense with the fear and threat of war, is observing Armistice Day under conditions thought impossible 17 years ago.
The flags of truce, which heralded the League of Nations and the hope that war had been outlawed, hang limp in the face of Europe's advancing militarism. Italy's invasion of Ethiopia, the massing of the British fleet in the Mediterranean and Germany's rearmament throw new shadows over the annual ceremonies.
The political significance of the veterans has come into strange variance in Europe. In some countries it remains a vital force. In others it has become lost in the advance of authoritarian government which brooks no interference with their policies.
In the United Kingdom, where the veterans pride themselves on non-political organization, observance of Armistice Day will be regular and traditional, with service at 11 a. m. at the Whitehall cenotaph. In the evening 1,104,890 red poppies—the number of the Empire's dead—again will rain from the ceiling of Albert Hall.
So far only one expression of today's situation has come from the British veterans. The council of the British League supports the government's "efforts to maintain peace through the League of Nations."

French Veterans Powerful
French war veterans, 3,500,000 strong, are unboding the government's efforts against a new war. Through the Confederation Nationale des Anciens Combattants they have called on Premier Laval to "assure peace through respect for the League of Nations."
The French veterans are a powerful factor and Germany's rearmament is viewed by them with foreboding. They intend to parade this year as they did last year.

Across the Rhine, where rearmament has become fact but the once powerful "Stahlhelm" organization of veterans has been dissolved, leaders of German veterans offer this 1935 Armistice Day message to the world:
"As front fighters we seek world harmony and peace; as Germans we are glad we have achieved equality."
In southeastern Europe the activities of veterans have been confined largely to relief work. Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria—longer nations in the war—have not been lavish with tribute or aid to their veterans.
Yugoslavia and Rumania are in the curious position of having veterans who fought on both sides, with only the Serbs and the veterans of Old Rumania well organized. Russia's war veterans, who have no organization because the Soviets maintain the War was a colossal capitalist crime, had their big day Nov. 7, anniversary of the bolshevik revolution. Belgium, where the veterans have extraordinary political influence and prestige, will have an elaborate Armistice Day celebration. In Poland there will be impressive demonstrations.
In Italy all veterans' organizations have offered wholehearted support of Il Duce's Ethiopian campaign and a determined effort has been made to gain the moral support of French veterans.

Scout Conference Brought To Successful Conclusion

The three day Scout Conference in Summerside was brought to a successful conclusion on Saturday evening with a bean supper and moving pictures in St. Paul's hall.

The Scout Conference was under the direction of Field Commissioner Greenway of Ottawa who has been on the Island giving instructions in Cub courses. These courses opened in Summerside on Thursday and were attended by ladies from Borden as well as the Scout leaders of the Summerside groups; also leaders from other troupes.
On Saturday afternoon a Scout Conference was held in St. Paul's Hall which was attended by Messrs. J. J. Morris, R. C. Parent and F. A. Driscoll, Assistant Commissioner from Charlottetown, Scout Master Arnett and leaders from Borden, five Scouts from Alberton and a number from Bedeque and Preetown besides leaders from the two Summerside troupes. After the Conference a bean supper was served in the C. M. B. A. hall by the mothers of the Summerside Scouts. Besides the Scouts and members of the Scout Council, there were a number of invited guests.
After the supper had been heartily enjoyed by all present the Chairman, Com. J. J. Morris called on Mr. Arnett for an address of welcome to their distinguished guest.
Mr. Arnett in extending a welcome on behalf of those present, said, he was always pleased to be associated with youth and he felt assured that the instruction that the Commissioner Greenway had been giving the boys would be of great value not only in their scouting activities but also in their future life. Any movement that fitted boys to be better citizens should have the support of all right thinking people and he was very pleased to extend a hearty welcome to Field Commissioner Greenway.

Field Commissioner Greenway was then called upon to address the boys and gave them a most interesting account of Scouting in the various countries in the world. Field Com. Greenway said that the Scout movement was the greatest movement for peace that the world has ever known. He emphasized the influence that the correspondence between Scouts of different nationalities will have in the future to make for peace between nations.
Italy and Germany are the only countries in the world today that have no Scout groups, but there is evidence that many of the young people are in sympathy with the movement and are always welcome.

Field Com. Greenway brought greetings from Chief Commissioner John A. Silies, Ottawa; Mr. W. Nickerson, President of the Scout Council at Halifax; and W. E. Trifts, Commissioner at Halifax.
He complimented the Summerside Scouts and citizens on the great assistance which they had rendered in the recent Scout Campaign sponsored by Lord Bessborough. He was pleased to say that there was an increase of nearly a hundred Scouts in this Province. He also congratulated the boys on the success of this rally and he also congratulated the Leaders and ladies who have taken the Cub Masters Course. He reminded the boys of the Scout laws and principles of Scouting and concluded his excellent address by leaving this message with the boys: "To live not to be served but to serve."

Ready To Take Balloon Up 14 Miles
(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
RAPID CITY, S. D., Nov. 10—The United States army aviators poised themselves tonight for an attempt to guide the world's largest balloon to the greatest height ever reached by man.
Captain Albert W. Stevens, the commander, and Captain Orvil A. Anderson, the pilot, ordered inflation of the 3,700,000 cubic foot bag for a takeoff at dawn.
Their goal was attainment of a level of 75,000-feet more than 14 miles. Their objective was the collection of scientific secrets in the outer atmospheric layers of the earth.
Stevens and Anderson have been ready since Oct. 1 for their third attempt to journey into the stratosphere. Their balloon—Explorer the 2nd—has been rebuilt since last July 12, when it burst just before a scheduled takeoff. The big envelop has been strengthened to preclude recurrence of that trouble.

Evangelist Holds Services

Under the title of "The Mother of Adam" a very stirring lecture was delivered last evening in the Oddfellows' Hall by Evangelist F. W. Johnston. Since Adam was the first man that ever lived there could be only one answer as to who was the mother of Adam. The first man was made from the dust of the earth; for of course he had no human mother and therefore the earth itself, said Mr. Johnston, was the mother of our first parent. But this very mother earth, he said, was conceived in the mind of God and as recorded in the first chapter of Genesis it took six literal twenty-four hour days for it to come into existence perfect and complete. It came into being by the bare word of the Lord so he read from Ps. 33: 6, 9, and this very mother earth gave birth to the first man.
But how, enquired the evangelist, did the Lord Jesus who created the earth (Col. 14, 16), how did He celebrate mother earth's first birthday. The answer, he said, was plain; for the Lord Jesus Christ could not celebrate her birthday till she was complete, and since the earth was not fully completed till the close of the sixth day, the Lord chose the seventh upon which to celebrate. Mr. Johnston read from Genesis 2: 1-3, how that on the seventh day God rested, worked and rested on the seventh day and blessed it, setting it apart henceforth for man to celebrate in all future time. Thus as he read from Ps. 111: 4, how God hath "made all his wonderful works to be remembered."
Mr. Johnston then referred to a text very often used, so he said, by those who did not want to be restricted to the observance of the day God requires. This text, he said, is found in Romans 14: 5, 6, where it says that "One man esteemeth one day above another, and another esteemeth every day alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind." This text, so he said, tells us what other people are doing; for the Mohammedans esteem Friday above every other day, the Jews esteem Saturday and the rest esteem Sunday. Others regard every day a holy day and others say every day is a working day. Now in view of the fact that people differ so much in regard to the day to be observed we are therefore exhorted by the apostle to "let every man be fully persuaded (or as the margin says be fully assured) in his own mind."
But where must we look to be fully assured on anything religious? There is only one answer—in the word of God. This is a general principle governing all things of a religious character. The Bible is the only infallible rule of faith. It settles all questions and the common man may read it for himself and find out the truth. But since the question under consideration is that of the right day that everyone must be assured of, we therefore raise the question, said Mr. Johnston, as to what day the Bible assures us of? There is no assurance whatever for keeping the first day of the week. The only day assured of in the scriptures is that of the seventh day or Saturday, so Mr. Johnston said.
But how must we keep the Sabbath, he enquired. It is not to be a day for secular work or pleasure. Isaiah 58: 13, 14. Nor should it be a day for the preparing of food. Friday, he said, was the day for preparing for the Sabbath, so he read from Ex. 16: 4, 5, 22-28. The evangelist also specified the time when people should begin the Sabbath. He said it was not at midnight as Rome says but at sunset as the Bible says. He read as proof of this from Lev. 23: 32 and Mark 1: 32, the latter text showing that even at sunset. He read from Jeremiah 17: 20-27, how Jerusalem was destroyed because it did not keep the seventh day properly, and showed the fulfillment in 2 Chron. 36: 14-21. He pointed out from Amos 8: 4-6, how that the Israelites broke the Sabbath by making plans for their common weekly labor on the Sabbath and even scheming to cheat when the Sabbath would be over. If God was particular then about the keeping of the seventh day or Saturday he will be particular now. He said that God had not changed his mind on this point any more than on any other truth. He read from Ezekiel 22: 26, how that because clergymen are making no difference between the holy and profane and are hiding their eyes from God's holy day that God is profaned among them.
Mr. Johnston held Sabbath school Saturday at 145 p.m. and preaching service at 3 p.m., with a goodly audience present. He spoke from Romans 7: 4. He said that President M. N. Campbell of the Seventh Day Adventist Canadian Union conference would be present next Saturday and Sunday and would speak at both meetings.

INCREASE IN PRICE OF POTATOES

Potatoes took a sudden jump in price on Saturday at Summerside from 35c to 50 per bushel. Turnips are only fetching 12c per bushel. Considerable produce was on the move on Saturday. Two steamers are expected this week to load potatoes and with the price 15c higher the farmers will do better. S.

New Method Of Preserving Potatoes

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
AMHERST, N. S., Nov. 10—A new method of preserving potatoes from fall to spring without danger of them sprouting was described at the Maritime Winter Fair here Saturday in a paper read by Stanley Wood, Federal Livestock Superintendent at Fredericton.
According to E. M. Taylor of the Fredericton Experimental Farm who discovered the method and wrote the paper, potatoes could be kept in perfect condition almost indefinitely when dumped in a slough trench having natural drainage and covered with straw and earth. Mr. Taylor found boiled potatoes were kept in even better condition by his system.
The experiment may prove of great value to hog breeders. Spring is the time when potatoes for the hog are most needed, but it is then that the tubers begin to sprout and the spruds become dangerous food.
