Dezeng Diagnostic Professional Unit

COMFORT FOR THE PATIENT
EFFICIENCY FOR THE OPTOMETRIST

The Wellworth Unit presents a compact selection of scientific instruments that enables the Optometrist to cover completely his ocular examination, without the patient leaving the chair and with each individual instrument within instant reach.

An important requisite of a refracting outfit is absolute comfort for the patient.

This has been accomplished in the Wellworth Unit with adjustable seat, head rest and armrests. The chair can be reclined, raised or lowered and adjusted to the perfect comfort of any patient. A comfortable patient can be more quickly and easily examined.

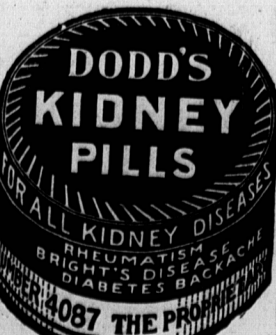

Accuracy and efficiency for the Optometrist is accomplished with Dezing diagnostic instruments of minute precision which are within instant reach and swing before the patient.

This Unit is used in all ocular examinations by

Office Connected With Drugstore

An engineering journal gives interesting details of a real Ford car miracle.

A broken-down car was recently picked up by an aeroplane in Chicago, taken by air to the motor-car works at Cleveland, and on arrival there was reassembled in fifty-one minutes and made ready to drive away! The story is authentic.

Hockey at Borden

The Cape Traverse "Sassy Susies" crossed sticks with the Borden ladies Friday evening, Feb. 18th, at Borden and set them back to the tune of three goals to nothing. The game was replete with thrills and spills and kept the large crowd of onlookers in a continuous fervor of excitement. All the tallies came from the stick of Doris "Nat" Campbell diminutive left winger, who by her brilliant rushes and accurate shooting proved to be "the sassiest Susie of Cape Traverse ace, though playing excellent hockey, fell a little short of the brand that this clever young lady is capable of. Edith Crossman, on the other wing, put up an aggressive argument all the way, and when crowded to the boards, did everything, positively everything that is being done, but the defence used her great weight to advantage and those who collided with her invariably lost a lot of their confidence, to say nothing of their complexion powder. Elva Howatt, the other member of the defence, played stellar hockey until she had a head-on collision with Thelma Gaudet. From then on both young ladies showed a decided preference for those parts of the ice surface that were not too thickly inhabited. Hilda Howatt did not have much work to do. She was called upon to stop only a sprinkling of pucks and she could probably have stopped a blizzard. Helen MacWilliams was used to spare and was much too good for the position. Her rushes resembled the gyrations of a small cyclone.

For the losers, Catherine Howatt showed ability above the ordinary and was ably supported by the flying flappers, Verna and Helen Darrach. This trio played fine hockey consistently and persistently and were certainly not to blame for their team's reverse. On the defence, Alberta MacPherson and Thelma Gaudet did not hold their positions very well, being inclined to follow the rabble. Consequently the goalie at times when the opposing forces were threatening, would suddenly discover that she was without friends, Miss MacPherson, however, showed flashes of very short flashes of real dyed-in-the-wool hockey ability. McNally in the nets played a very creditable game, although the last goal was easy. She could have blown it aside.

After the game, tea was served by the Borden ladies, and, as they say in Squamassit, "a good time was had by all."

We think we voice the general sentiment of the fans in these parts when we say that we would like very much to see those two smart teams in action again.

Carnival and Hockey at Cornwall

On Friday last, the Cornwall rink was the scene of considerably activity in the form of a carnival, and a hockey match between Queen Square School and the local team. There were some pretty costumes on the different skaters and some the opposite. About a half an hour after the hockey match was over and skating was on, the winners of the prizes for the carnival were chosen. For the most original—Canada—Miss Lilian Hyde won the prize. As pierrettes the prize went to the Misses Ida and Kathleen McLean, and Miss Ina Livingstone won for the funniest. The judges were, Mrs. Wm. Crosby and Messrs Gordon MacMillan and Leo MacDonald.

The hockey match was a well contested game with Queen Square having the edge on territory throughout the three periods. Considering that the Cornwall team was minus a couple of their regular players, a splendid effort was put forth. The game was won by the city boys with the final score reading 7-4. The first period saw considerable action with the Cornwall team pushing things and, after about two minutes of play, shooting past Dillon for the first counter of the evening. MacDonald secured the puck at the face-off, going through for a score that put up and down the rink and later MacDonald scores again for Queen Square. The Cornwall boys played harder than ever now and, after shooting past Dillon for the first counter of the evening, MacDonald secured the puck at the face-off, going through for a score that put up and down the rink and later MacDonald scores again for Queen Square. The Cornwall boys played harder than ever now and, after shooting past Dillon for the first counter of the evening, MacDonald secured the puck at the face-off, going through for a score that put up and down the rink and later MacDonald scores again for Queen Square.

The second period opened with a rush and Cornwall determined to even things. Brown, MacDonald, and Snow get in some hard shots at Dillon, while Queen Square's combination line gives Crosby some trouble. Blanchard and Ryan combine and the latter gets past the Cornwall goalie for a goal. The local team now opened up for his team. Hughes relieves Blanchard and later gets in close for a shot that finds its mark. This ended the scoring for this period and the count now reads 6-3 for Queen Square.

In the final session the local team put forth their best efforts and sent some wicked shots at the Queen Square goalie. After about five minutes of play, Crosby secures the puck and goes through for a score. Later, in a mix-up in front of the city boys' net, the puck went in some way for Cornwall's final counter. The Queen Square team now played a defensive game and all efforts on the part of Cornwall were blocked. At the final whistle the period and game ended 7-4 for Queen Square school.

After skating for a while, the city boys were surprised when they were called up to the dressing room to partake of hot tea and refreshments donated by the good people of Cornwall. None of the boys can complain of the treatment they received in their short stay at Cornwall and no doubt anybody else would be treated with the same spirit.

The teams lined up as follows:

R. Dillon	Goal	J. Crosby
E. Hornby	Defence	W. Livingstone
A. Gormley	Centre	H. Snow
G. McMahon	Forwards	W. Brown
L. Blanchard	Subs.	Len. MacDonald
C. Ryan		F. Jewell
F. Hughes		Lou MacDonald
C. Cullen		G. Frizzle

When the little children come home

From one end of Canada to the other children come trudging home from school each day. Some come across wind-swept prairies—some through damp and blustery streets.

It is then they need real food.

Mothers—buy a bottle of Bovril to-day. When the children come home dissolve a spoonful in a cup of boiling water. See how they relish it. See how it helps their growth and adds to their strength. Bovril is a splendid drink for children—and puts beef into them.

BABY'S OWN SOAP

Best for Baby

Best for You

The first game in the Eastern section of the Eastern Prince Rural Hockey League, was played in the Tryon rink on Wednesday night, Feb. 18th between the Tryon Arrows and Victoria Unions, in which the Unions finally came out on top with a score of 6-2. It was the best exhibition of hockey seen for some time. With a score of two all at the end of the second period, and no score in the second period, both teams played the limit to gain the lead.

The combination of the Unions gave them the advantages, and they ran in four goals in short order.

NOTES

Mr. Leo MacDonald refereed the game satisfactorily.

Keep going Cornwall you have a good team.

"Young Darb McMahon" played a great game.

Bill Brown got excited and put his arms around one of the Queen Square boys.

"Quiba" Blanchard had them all guessing.

Two sleighs full of rooters arrived just before the game started.

Crosby and Dillon turned aside many a hard shot.

Hughes, Lou MacDonald, Cullen and Frizzle played well.

How are you?

HOCKEY

The third game in the Eastern section of the E.P. H. L. was played on the Tryon rink on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 9th, between the Augustines Cove Stars and the Victoria Unions, with the Unions on the long end of a 9-7 score. The game while no so fast as the former game showed good hockey in spots, and had the Stars played the first period like they did the last the score might have read keep till morning.
