In Memoriam

LUCY C. JOHNSTON

The death of the late Lucy C. Johnston following a serious illness on January 30th, 1940, at the home of her sister, Mrs. John MacLean, Peters Road, came as a shock to her many relatives and the large circle of friends and acquaintances with whom she was so long and favorably known.

A daughter of the late Samuel Johnston and Mrs. Johnston, Peters Road, she had completed the third year of her age and had enjoyed excellent health for the greater part of her life.

Falling health seemed to begin about a year ago, becoming more pronounced within the past few months, when she was under the immediate care of her sister with whom she was so long and favorably known.

The best medical skill and loving care of those in attendance could not avert the illness, and as in peaceful slumber her gentle spirit took its flight to that Home Above to re-unite with loved ones gone before.

Of a retiring and modest disposition she possessed singular ability and aptitude in varied spheres of action, whether in rural or city life. For some considerable time she was a valued employee of the T. Eaton Company of the Winnipeg branch.

A trip to Cambridge, Mass., the guest of her niece, Mrs. Charles Ayers, and other relatives, made presumably in the hope of improving her health, did not prove to have the lasting effect her relatives ardently hoped for.

A useful member of society she will be much missed in the activities of social life.

As a member of the Peter's Road Presbyterian Church she was always interested in its welfare in the community.

During her illness she was visited by her Pastor, Rev. A. MacPhail who by reading the sacred word and by prayer brought comfort and peace to the receptive mind.

Following a short service in the home the funeral services were conducted in the Presbyterian Church, Peters Road, by Rev. A. MacPhail to a large assemblage of people—relatives and friends.

The Pastor read from St. John Chap. 11 and 14 and Revelation Chap. 21 verses 1-7 and spoke impressively from these sections of scripture giving strong hope of her future happiness.

The following hymns were sung: "Nearer My God to Thee," "Abide With Me," "Sleep On, Beloved," "Solo 'Crossing the Bar'" by Mrs. M. Macdonald.

The following brothers and one sister survive: Ernest and Earle, Lay Fortune, William and Fred, Murray Harbor North, Garfield, Raulston, Percy and Beatrice (Mrs. John MacLean), Peters Road.

The pall bearers, nephews of deceased were: Emerson, Verne, Elmer, Carl and Gerald Johnston and Carl Boehner.

Many beautiful floral tributes were donated by relatives and friends and many cards and letters of sympathy were received as well as a telegram from relatives in Cambridge, Mass., and other centres in U. S.
