HEADACHES ALMOST DROVE HER WILD

Until A Friend Advised Her To Use
"Fruit-a-lives"

NEWBURY, Ont., May 29th, 1913.
"About four years ago, I was in a dreadful run-down condition, weak and hardly able to walk up stairs. Weakness peculiar to women was the chief trouble.
I had headaches that almost drove me wild, and most distressing constipation.
I took many dollars' worth of medicine from the doctors without any good results.
A neighbor advised me to take "Fruita-lives" and they proved to be the best medicine I ever got and the only medicine to do me any good. Today, I feel as a young girl, and am able to go about my household duties as usual. My health is splendid and "Fruit-a-lives" is the cause of it". MRS. Wm. CRIM.

This kindly act came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Wilkinson and is highly valued by her.

FILMS AND FILMS.—The following is from "The Saturday Evening Post," of Philadelphia, regarding the writing of moving picture scenarios: "The contention held by experienced photoplay producers that only trained and action writers can conceive and execute moving picture stories to any extent worthy of attention is proved by the success and popularity of the big moving-picture serial films. The first of these, 'What Happened to Mary,' put on by the Edison Company, was the work of a trained magazine writer. The second and largest of the successful moving picture serials, 'The Adventures of Kathlyn,' was written for the Selig Polyscope Company, by Harold McGrath, the novelist, and was then arranged for the film by Gilson Willets, also a noted 'fictor' writer. For writing 'The Adventures of Kathlyn,' McGrath received $12,000. He receives a larger sum for another serial in twenty-six instalments, which will be arranged for the screen by Lloyd Lonergan, the celebrated photoplay author of the Thanhouser Company. 'What Happened to Mary' has been shown, and the 'Kathlyn' series is now shown, at the People's Theatre, so that the patrons of this popular house can see that Manager Hope is giving them the very best and latest for their money. No doubt, 'The People's' will also arrange for the big Thanhouser production.
