Death Yesterday Of Mrs. Burnett

It is with regret that we record the death, which occurred yesterday at her home, 24 Upper Hillsboro Street, of Mrs. J. R. Burnett, wife of the editor and managing director of The Guardian. The deceased had been in delicate health for some time, but had been confined to bed only for the past fortnight.

Mrs. Burnett was a daughter of the late Mr. J. B. Trotter, of Colinton, Mid-Lothian, Scotland, and of Taymouth Manor, Essequibo, British Guiana, sugar planter. Her maternal grandfather was the Rev. Charles Theodores Moore, of Drogheda, County Meath, Ireland, chaplain to Her Majesty's forces, and the first missionary of the Church of England to the Carib Indians. He accompanied, in 1878, the late Sir Everard Im Thurn on his eventful journey to the famous Kaieteur Falls and Mount Roraima in the hinterland of British Guiana, and assisted in the preparation of Sir Everard's work "Among the Indians of Guiana."

Mrs. Burnett was of a gentle, retiring disposition, and, apart from her family, her interests were most largely centered in the Church. She loved God, the Church, her home, the young, music and flowers; while no appeal for help was ever made to her in vain. She was an active member of St. James Presbyterian Church Missionary Society, of which she was First Vice-President; a member of the Ladies' Aid of St. James Church, and, until her first illness, of St. James Choir. Mrs. Burnett was also a member of St. James Church Boy Scouts Committee, and of the Ladies' Aid of the Prince Edward Island Boy Scouts' Association. She took an active interest in the Caledonian Club and organized one of the most successful concerts in connection with its Lecture Courses. She was a member of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, in the work of which she was ever deeply interested.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by five sons and one adopted son, viz: Ian Allan, William Robertson, Niall Hope, James Evelyn, George Mathieson and John Denny; one brother, David G. Trotter, sugar planter, Essequibo, B.G., and three sisters, Mrs. Angus Inglis, Glasgow, Scotland; Mrs. Dalrymple Jones, and Miss Ethel Trotter, Georgetown, B.G.

The funeral will take place from her late residence on Tuesday at 2 p. m.

PRETTY CALENDAR—Mr. G. J. MacEachern, Economy Meat Market, has the Guardian's thanks for a very pretty 1933 Good Luck calendar.

PLENTY OF GOOD SEATS for Abble-Hawk game tonight. 6896-11

BANDED WILD DUCK SHOT—Mr. Wesley MacQuarrie of Nine Mile Creek shot a black duck on Wednesday, Nov. 30th, which had a band on its leg carrying the address of the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C., and the number B 65748.

RESERVE WEDNESDAY, Dec. 7th, Junior C. W. L. bridge in K. of C. Hall, 815 sharp. Tickets 25 cents. Refreshments. 6893-11

SUCCESSFUL DANCE—A large number enjoyed the dance in the I. O. O. F. Hall Friday evening conducted by the Abegweit Sisters. The chapromes were: Mrs. Ivan Reddin, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, and Mrs. H. L. Palmer. Excellent music was furnished by Dixon's orchestra.

SERIOUS LOSS—About 4 o'clock Sunday morning November 20th, the family of Mr. Chas. Hancock, Melville, was awakened by the moaning of the whistle on Mr. Hancock's saw and planer mill, which they discovered in flames, the heat of the blaze raising the steam to such an extent that the pressure caused the whistle to sound the alarm. A rotary carriage and a quantity of belting was all that was saved. The building, machinery and about 5,000 feet of lumber were destroyed. Mr. Hancock has commenced rebuilding and the work is now well under way.

Miss Emily B. Murray, Bradabane, has returned home after spending a pleasant week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ackland, Hampshire.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. A. C. Vincent in his morning sermon at the Baptist Church spoke on "Portraits of Christ," basing his thought on Hebrews 1, 1-3. In these words the writer of the epistle to the Hebrews presents a most vivid and complete series of word portraits of Jesus, setting forth three views of his relation to God, three of his relation to the universe, three of his relation to man.

The morning anthem, "What of the night, O Watchman?" was finely rendered by a large choir, with Mr. R. D. Quigley taking the tenor solo. Dvorak's setting of "Goin' Home" received impressive interpretation in Mr. V. L. Dingwell's baritone solo.

The morning service was broadcast by station C. H. C. K. Reference was made by Dr. Vincent to many appreciative letters received from members of last Sunday's Radio audience.

The concluding sermon of a series on God's whirlwinds was delivered to a large congregation in the evening, the subject being "The Whirlwind speaks of farewell." Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer" was the anthem of the evening and deep impression was made by the tender choral rendering of "I love to tell the story," by the choir.

Next Sunday, the evening service will be broadcast by C. H. C. K.
