THE EXHIBITION

The stage is now set for what promises to be the biggest exhibition ever held in Charlottetown. The date is September 22 to 25. It will be noted that the live stock entries close on Friday 11th and for all other classes on Tuesday 15th.

The official list of entries in the horse races was published in yesterday's Guardian and a glance over it is an irresistible invitation to be present at all the races. The best speed in Canada, is represented by purses are hung out and everything points to the most interesting series of races ever held on this track.

In addition to the usual exhibition attractions ample provision has been made for entertainment between heats. Acrobatic and athletic stunts, comedy of every variety and of all sexes will be continuous features during the races. No one can well afford to miss this year's big racing and entertaining days.

The exhibition is not going to be for entertainment alone. It will be a time of education in our leading and basic industry in all its branches, agricultural, horticultural, live stock handicrafts, domestic science, art and in short everything that concerns our farms, our homes, our workshops. Moreover the exhibition is open to all Canada and we shall have an opportunity to compare ourselves with others to see how others do the kind of work we are doing, to get pointers from those who have done better than we and to give pointers to those who have done worse.

The time is short but much can be done during the intervening days. The live stock can be selected and prepared, our best art can be given the finishing touches which may win the prize. The Provincial Exhibition is everybody's legal and legitimate holiday time. Everybody who is anybody will be there and friends will meet, friends and renew old friendships besides learning the great lessons intended to be taught by all agricultural exhibitions.

The attendance from our sister provinces this year is expected to be larger than usual and this will be an added attraction. Competition also is expected to be made keener by exhibits, particularly in live stock from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and in the horse races by the fastest horses in these provinces.

From now till the 22nd the exhibition will be the biggest thing on the business, social and even political horizon. Let us make it in every way worthy of the Garden Province, worthy of our much admired farms and worthy of our people. Our province has acquired an enviable reputation in agriculture. Let us see to it that we maintain it.

TYPICAL PICTURE

A typical photograph is printed in a recent issue of the Toronto Telegram. It is entitled "Premier proposes for Telegram photographer, along with local Liberal stalwarts who were at the station to greet him. The "stalwarts" are four in number all in a row with Premier King standing head and shoulders above them all. He is standing on a block of wood, some eight inches high to give him the majestic stature which he usually assumes in more ways than physical. His feet low stalwarts are standing on the level platform; he towers above them with the help of the block of wood! A true picture, verily, of the man who stands at the head of the Canadian government. Tall, majestically tall and with an aldermanic front, he looks the part he feels—till one sees the block which has "raised him to that high eminence." When the block is removed he "becomes as other men," shorter indeed than most and looking down on rather than up to it, it was as transparently a false attempt to appear great physically as his efforts before the public to appear statesmanlike. The wooden prop which gives him his physical greatness in the photograph will be a cumbersome thing to carry around with him and, during the campaign now opening he must stand on his own feet, on the level, and his smallness will be as apparent as it has been in his playing politics.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is one thing about being Senator, they can't take his job from him.

Premier King accompanied by a small army of Ministers is spending this week in Ontario. Judging by Liberal newspapers he is reveling in eloquence.

There has seldom been as much grain in stock at one time in this province as there is at present, owing to the vagaries of the weather. We are informed that no damage has been caused so far but farmers with large crops are becoming anxious.

There is said to be some uncertainty as to the Liberal nominations in Queens County. Prince County also appears to be doing some serious thinking with Kings is hesitating between a native of the county and a city man. It is time to get a move on. Someone must take it.

The Lieutenant governors of all the provinces are having their holiday this week as the guests of Lieutenant Governor Narcisse Perreault of Quebec. Great preparation has been made for the visit which ends today. Governor Heartz is expected home Saturday night.

The work of inspecting cattle in connection with the disease area is proceeding rapidly and satisfactorily. It is pleasing to learn that the percentage of reactors is very small. When the work is completed it is expected to show remarkable immunity from disease among our cattle. It is worth noting that in all inspections of hogs the percentage of disease has always been lower than in any other province.

A Portland, Maine, despatch says: Canadian National Railways is ready to sell to the State of Maine the Grand Trunk docks and grain elevators there. S. J. Hungeford of Montreal, Operating Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, held a conference with Henry F. Merrill, Chairman of the directors of the Port of Portland. He inquired whether the purchase of the Grand Trunk terminal would be considered by the State pier officials. Chairman Merrill assured Mr. Hungeford that he would bring the matter to the attention of his associates and other State authorities.

Notes By The Way

Eight new Senators and as many Judges of Provincial Courts have been appointed to fill vacancies by King Government and partial reconstruction of the Government itself has been made. So far the reconstruction has been practically limited to the Cabinet seats for Ontario and Quebec, as the much-talked of accession of Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan has not so far materialized and by delay is rendered more doubtful. Another point of some significance is that the office of Solicitor General, formerly held by Hon. E. J. McMurray of Manitoba, has been transferred to Quebec.

The reconstruction thus leaves the Government weaker than before west of the Lakes, as it is also distinctly weaker in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes than it was when first organized in 1921. The appointment of Mr. G. M. Gordon as Minister of Immigration can hardly be considered a promising one. He was first elected to Parliament in 1921 for Peterboro, Ont., a middle aged lawyer and utterly without experience in matters pertaining to immigration, one of the most important federal departments and which has so far made a most disappointing record under the present Government.

The Maritime Liberal situation is so critical in view of the overtures effected in the provincial elections that Premier King has announced his intention of coming east and will be in Saint John on September 20. Many prominent Liberals in New Brunswick had freely expressed the hope that Hon. A. B. Copp would be retired from his present seat in the Cabinet and otherwise disposed of, as they consider him quite useless in his present office. It had been thought that Hon. Walter E. Foster, ex-Premier of New Brunswick might be selected to succeed Mr. Copp and the change if made would undoubtedly give promise of improvement, but it seems not likely to be made.

Mr. Foster has been in Ottawa recently, having been sent for by Premier King, as he has told in an interview since his return in his conference with Premier King. Mr. Foster learned that Mr. Copp is quite determined to hold on to his present post in the Cabinet and again contest his present seat in Westmorland County. True, his chances of being again elected are very doubtful at best and many former supporters think this hopeless. Yet as things stand, ex-Premier Foster is not at present a probable Cabinet Minister, and if he were, his chances of election in Saint John would hardly be better than Mr. Copp's in Westmorland.

There is a vacant Senatorship in New Brunswick, long vacant, for which there are many aspirants and there are endless complications over that. There, as was the case in Prince Edward Island, somebody must be appointed to the vacancy before Liberal nominations can be made for the House of Commons and whoever may get the plum there is promise of a kick within the party from many quarters as in the case of Hon. Senator McArthur in our own Province. Premier King will have a busy and anxious time in New Brunswick before he gets matters straightened out.

And when he goes to Nova Scotia there are further troubles awaiting him. Since the disability of Hon. Mr. Fielding, Hon. F. M. Macdonald has been the only Federal Minister for that Province which always before had two, but now doubly entitled to that number for having elected a solid block of supporters of the King Government at the last election. But since then several things have gone awry for the Ministry. Halifax, elected a Conservative at a bye-election. The Liberal Provincial Government has been blotted out by a crushing defeat and the representation of the Province in the Commons has been reduced from a maximum of 21 as it once was to 16 and now to 14 members.

Nova Scotia can only be allotted one Cabinet Minister now—how different from the days when Laurier and Fielding were at the height of their popularity! Mr. E. M. Macdonald is not regarded by his own Liberal colleagues in the Commons as of sufficient calibre to be the sole representative of his Province. Perhaps he himself shares that conviction. Be that as it may, Mr. Hance Logan knows another M. P. Island and a few things yet to set a superman in his own estimation who stands ready to represent all three the Maritimes at a moment's notice. Rumor has been busy with the name of Mr. Macdonald's name

That Body of Hours

By James W. Barkan, M.D. ANOTHER DISCOVERY

A Toronto physician, treating an infected finger, found that it was progressing very slowly. As some patches occurred he gave his patient a few doses of Chloride of Lime. Within forty-eight hours the slowly healing grayish surface of the finger began to show signs of healthy healing. Another patient in the same hospital was suffering with extensive burns of the hands, arms, face, chest, legs and feet, some of the parts being very severely burned with great loss of flesh. Despite skin grafting and other forms of treatment, the patient was still great patches of unhealed surface three months after he was admitted. Accordingly the physician tried out the Chloride of Lime, giving fifteen grains in a teaspoonful of water thrice daily after food. There was marked difference in twenty-four hours and the patient improved steadily till he was cured.

The treatment was given to a number of other cases where wounds were slow in healing, and in old varicose ulcers, and all began to show improvement within two or three days. Those of us who have seen the great amount of lime used for disinfecting purposes, can now see why it likely has the same effect upon harmful organisms in the body as it has outside. As a purifier of drinking water it is at once the cheapest and most effective method known, being used in many large cities, and in all military camps and barracks. And there is the other property it has of entering into the formation of bone and other tissues. Dr. Price, the well known Cleveland dentist, in addition to removing bad teeth, and giving teeth and certain amount of lime daily to stimulate cell activity. It would appear, therefore, that this Toronto physician in giving this treatment to a patient who was bleeding, may have accidentally come upon a new treatment for slow healing processes in the body. And when you remember the uses of lime in disinfecting, in helping bone and other tissue formation, and in general promoting cell activity, it all seems reasonable enough.

THE WIND

Whichever way the wind doth blow Some heart is glad to have it so. Then blow it east or blow it west, The wind that blows, that wind is best.

RAILWAY DIRECTORATE

Sir.—Regarding the appointment of Mr. Nelson Rattenbury to the Board of Directors of the C.N.R., there is considerable interrogation. How long is it good for providing there is a change of government? What salary is there connected with this appointment? There is an impression that this appointment is good for ten years. Be good enough to give us some light on this subject. I am, Sir, etc.

BRINGING UP DAD.

A change of government may necessitate a change of Railway directors, as was the case when the King Government took office. The salary of the directors is not public property. The Minister of Railways having declined to satisfy the House of Commons on the subject of the ground that it was had policy to divulge details of the company's administration. Ed. G.

THE SENATORIAL APPOINTMENTS

Sir,—I was surprised, I AM surprised, that The Patriot and The Guardian should unite in commending the appointment to the Senate of Messrs. Hughes and McArthur. If the right thing had been done, if the Constitution of Canada had been respected the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Verdon would have been filled by the appointment of Mr. Nash or some more suitable man, before the opening of the last session of Parliament. Then upon the sudden and unexpected death of Senator Murphy at the beginning of the session some good Catholic returned. But the right thing to do was not done by the party politicians at Ottawa. Instead they allowed Prince Edward Island to be misrepresented throughout the whole session by two of its Senators; and then they took from the Provincial Legislature a man who was but lately selected "by the skin of his teeth," so necessitating the expense and trouble of another Provincial election. Evidently the interests of the people were not at all consulted by the deal that has been made. I have nothing against either of the newly appointed Senators, personally. Indeed I know very little about either of them. As both have succeeded in making their way out of the people of this Province, it must of course, be concluded that both are smart fellows. What I object to is the utter disregard of duty shown by the government in this matter and the utter disregard of the interests of the people. I am, Sir, etc.

A DISGUSTED ELECTOR

Sept 8th, 1925.

Where It Goes

The following article has been sent in by a leading Prince County farmer and is clipped from the "Huron Times": "A few years ago the secretary of a commercial organization in Columbus, Mississippi, began to wonder how many times a dollar changed hands in his community in a single year, so he took a number of dollars, pasted a slip of paper on the back of each and started them out through the regular channels of trade. On these slips appeared instructions to pass the dollar along the usual way, and check it when it went on to the next party.

At the end of the year each of these dollars was returned to the secretary by the local bank, and it was found that on an average each dollar had passed through 220 different hands during the course of twelve months. If one could have interviewed one of those dollars he would have received about such a travelogue as this: "After I left you I went directly to the grocer's till. My visit there was brief, however, for a farmer entered the store with a crate of eggs, and the grocer turned me over in exchange for a dollar. I was going to get a little trip into the going, but I never left Columbus, for my farmer friend took me down the street a short distance, and turned me over to the shoe dealer. "Well, I couldn't take the time to tell you about all of the fine people I visited during the year, but I remember that one was a minister, another a workman helping to build the new pavement through the city, another a school teacher, who receive me in exchange for instruction given to your children. I also visited a doctor, a lawyer, and a man working on the new community house. I spent some time in the bank and earned a little money while there for some of my friends.

I feel that I have brought a considerable amount of happiness to the people of Columbus during the year, and I am ready to go out now and put in another strenuous year helping to build up worth while things in the community. "That is what happens to a dollar that stays at home."

Fishermen Drowned

MAMILLA, Sept. 8.—Thirty-five fishermen are believed to have been drowned in a typhoon in the Gulf Sea near the island of Palawan. An account of the tragedy was brought ashore by five survivors who drifted in a sailboat after battling with the gale for several days.

Consistent Increase At no time has there been lack of evidence as to the resourcefulness of Canada, but no achievement affords a finer example of the country's stability than the progressive record of the Great-West Life Assurance Company. Since incorporation thirty-three years ago, the Great-West Life has never fluctuated. It is a story of consistent increase, year after year, till at the close of 1924 the ordinary business in force stood at $380,641,720 with secured assets of $63,921,233.15. This great business has been possible only through the unwavering confidence of the people in the management of the Company—especially in the disposal of its investments.
