—WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.—The Mont Carmel Woman's Institute, No. 41 held their regular meeting at the hall on Nov. 10th. Miss Gordon, Supervisor of the institutes gave an interesting instruction on "timely hints" for Housekeeping and labor saving devices. The members are in enthusiastic over the successes already attained and are intent on holding a pie social and musical on Feb. 25th. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanislas Gallant, St. Raphael.—R.

—ORGANIZED INSTITUTE.—The fact that the ladies of Mont Carmel have organized and formed an Institute has already been felt, as the members who are steadfastly pressing in number have proposed to strictly inspect the class rooms in Mont Carmel three department school and to see that proper sanitary conditions prevail in each of the departments, a thing which is too often neglected in rural schools. It is hoped that more districts will follow the example and that the condition of the rural school will become much better thus ensuring the success of the great problem for better attendance.—R.

—WHIST PARTY.—An enjoyable whist party was held in Mont Carmel hall on Nov. 3rd under the auspices of the Women's Institute No. 41. Twenty-one tables were provided for and the players all eager to partake of the enjoyment. Home made candy was served at intervals by the lady members of the institute. About half past ten the sound of the whistle announced that the end had come. On counting the points made it was obvious that the first prize for the gentleman was won by Mr. Alphe Richard whilst the first prize for the ladies was merited by Miss Rosina Richard. The consolation prize for the gentlemen was awarded to Mr. Peter N. Arsenault and the one for the ladies by Miss Brigitte Arsenault. After the distribution of prizes were effected the guests dispersed and peacefully proceeded to their respective homes.—R.

PROUD TO BE ONE OF THE 105TH

Mrs. Malcom Wood has received the following letter from her son in England.

Shorncliffe
England
Oct. 30, 1916

Dear Mother:—I received your letter and photo all right and I was glad to get it.

Before now you have heard about the draft of men that was wanted from our Battalion. It was then one could look in the face of their comrades and see what they were made of. I felt pretty proud and highly honored when we fell in line and waited for the orders to march. Then we were told we were to remain in England a while longer. I feel proud to belong to the 105th. They are all a fine lot of men and are all so eager to give the old Mother a lift. So Earl wants to join. He is too young and would not stand the hardship. Now mamma dear, don't worry about me, if you don't get a letter often for I am well and able to look out for myself. I got weighed yesterday and weighed 170 lbs. We get lots to eat and some pretty dainty meals when we are off duty and there is so much to take up ones attention here that we have no much time to write so now I will close. With love to all I remain

Weak, Ailing Children

Made Well and Strong by Simple Remedy

Here is another letter that has just come to our attention showing the power of Vinol to build up health and strength for weak, puny, ailing children.

Mrs. F. Humphries, of Oshawa, Ont., says: "I wish to say that I am more than pleased with your Vinol. I have a little boy who is four years old and for the past three years he has been very delicate. Every little while he would be ill with his chest and lungs, and each time the doctors would say there was very little hope for his recovery; and after he would pull through it would leave him weaker every time. He was terribly pale and had no energy at all. He would sit a whole morning or afternoon looking at pictures or playing with any little thing but would not runabout. At last I made up my mind to try Vinol having read of it in one of your books which I had from Jury & Lovell; and he had taken only half of one bottle when I could see a decided improvement in him. He now runs about all day long and is looking much brighter and more cooler in the face; and I tell every one it is Vinol that did him good." Mrs. Humphries, Duke Street, Oshawa, Ont.

Vinol is a delicious combination of beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates which creates an appetite, tones up the digestive organs, enriches the blood and creates strength. Children love to take it. We ask all parents of weak, sickly, delicate children in this vicinity to try Vinol with the understanding that we will return your money if it fails to benefit your little ones.

HOW TO SEND CHRISTMAS PARCEL TO THE SOLDIERS

By clipping out and using the following rules for guidance in sending that parcel to your boy overseas, delays in delivery will be avoided, and the contents are likely to arrive in much better shape than otherwise. When to Send.—At once. At least not later than the end of this month. What to Send.—No perishable articles; send only things that will travel well and keep well.

How to Pack.—Each article securely wrapped by itself and packed securely into its place, with excelsior or other filling where necessary to prevent it from shaking loose. The whole should be packed in a tin, wooden, or heavy corrugated cardboard box, or in several thicknesses of heavy wrapping paper. Tightly stretched linen, calico, or canvas should be seen on as an outer wrapping.

How to Address.—The following style should be followed, whether the soldier is in England or France:

No. Private.
..... Company, Battalion
Canadian Contingent, British Expeditionary Force,
Army Post Office, London, England.

This should be plainly written or printed in ink, not on a label, but on the cloth wrapping of the parcel itself, in at least two places. Names and address of the sender should be written or printed in at least one place on the parcel.

Postage.—(a) When soldier is known to be in England: 12 cents per pound or fraction thereof; limit, 11 pounds.

(b) When soldier is known to be in France: 24 cents for the first three pounds or fraction of three pounds; between three and seven pounds, 32 cents; limit, seven pounds.

Letters From Soldier in England

Private W. P. Warren, of the 105th Battalion, writes from Shorncliffe to his mother, Mrs. Margaret Myers, of Mount Albion as follows: Dear Mother,—

I received your ever welcome letter a few days ago, and was glad to hear from home again. Well, we have had lovely fine weather ever since we came to England, just a few wet days, but the weather is getting pretty cold now. I was up to London a few weeks ago on a six days' mess. I put up at the Union Jack Club white there, that is a place purposely for sailors and soldiers. You can get a bed for the night for sixpence and meals cheap also. Well mother, I could not commence to tell you all or half of what I saw. The first day I went to see the Tower of London, first when I went into the tower. I saw a lot of ancient cannon which were captured by the British in years gone by, also a lot of old breast helmets, they I went up a flight higher and saw a lot of old spears and shields, also the executing block and axe on which Sir Walter Raleigh met his death. I saw the Duke of Wellington's uniform and the cloak in which General Wolfe was wrapped when he was wounded at Quebec in 1759. I then came to all the old rifles and shot guns used in the early days of war, and hundreds of other things which I couldn't start to write down. Next I went to see Buckingham Palace. Saw the King's Life Guard mounting, also the mounted guard. Of course I could not see very much of the Palace—just the outside wall, and a few big gates, and the mall. Then I went to see Piccadilly and Leicester Square, the Parliament Buildings, and Westminster Abbey and a lot of other big buildings, and bridges. I went across the Thames River, over Waterloo Bridge and came back under the same river in an electric car. Then, spent a day at the zoo, and believe me, that is the place to see animals, birds, etc. There you will find polar bears, black and brown bears, elephants, camels, buffaloes, tigers, lions sea lions, and a lot of other animals with such queer names it would take more than a lawyer to tell you what they were.

Well, mother, they were trying pretty hard to draft the 105th Battalion, but they didn't get along with it. They picked out one draft and had them all ready to go, when word came that the draft was cancelled, and that we would go all together. We are going to form part of the fifth division. Well, I will close for this time. Write soon.

From your loving son,
W. P. Warren,
Army Post Office,
London, England.

SPADE THWARTS RIFLE

Dr. James J. Walsh, at Opening of Everett Forum, Discusses the War in Europe.

EVERETT, Nov. 18.—Dr. James J. Walsh, instructor in physiological research in Cathedral College, New York, spoke at the opening meeting of the Everett Forum in the First Universalist Church on "The Place of This War in History."

He said that beginning with 1560 some nation has been at war on an average at least every other year. Dr. Walsh said that the European war can be carried on seven years without exhausting the powers financially.

He said it was the general belief that modern weapons had made war practically impossible, they were so deadly, but the spade, man's first invention, thwarted the modern rifle and prevented effective use of many dreaded engines.

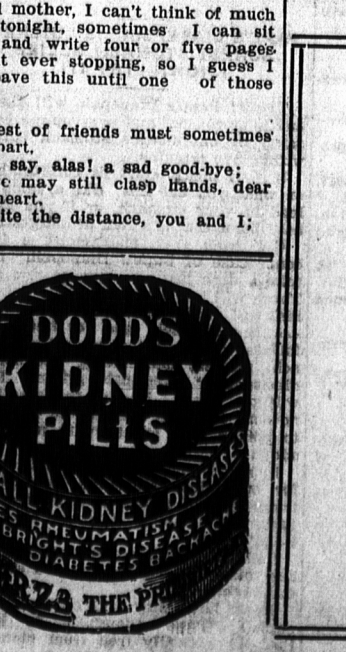

He predicted that the survivors of the war will be capable of great things. Men taken from the cities and put in the trenches were expected to break down under strain. He said that on the contrary, for every man killed, two men had been made and that these, at the close of the war, will be prepared to cope with almost any situation.

And tho', from you I now must wander
Our love will surely never wane.
For "absence makes the heart grow fonder,"
And soon we'll have to meet again.

From your loving son,
POPE.

TANKS ABLE TO LOOK AFTER THEMSELVES.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A Daily Express correspondent at British headquarters tells of the exploits of a "tank" at the Amcre. The machine, he says, got ahead of the infantry, and while standing alone, apparently helpless, waiting for them to come up, a few Germans, decided to attack it, crawling up and pelting its sides with bombs. Still more Germans came out of the ground with more bombs, when quite suddenly the tank came to life and spit bullets into the Germans in all directions. A few survivors hurried their crevices in the mud until they were fished out by British infantry.
