MARITIME WINTER FAIR AMHERST NOVEMBER 30th TO DECEMBER 3rd

AMHERST, Nov. 22.—The closing of the entries last week proves conclusively that the Amherst cultural people in the Maritime Provinces are endeavoring to increase the popularity of the Winter Fair.

Practically all of the classes have a larger entry than previous years, but most noticeable is in the "Dairy Cattle" Class where the entry is sixty-two cows compared with twenty-seven in 1907. The fruit and grain exhibit is almost double of former years, and the success of the Fair from an exhibitor's standpoint is assured.

AN INDIAN MARVEL.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Fred Whitcroft, the Peterborough hockey player, now of Edmonton, has discovered another Indian running marvel. "Fraser is a big fellow, like Fred Simpson, but better built," said Whitcroft. "He won the only two races he ever entered. In the first he did ten miles in sixty one minutes, running in moccasins. I saw him do five miles over a sandy track with a grand stride, and he is tireless. He is twenty-one years of age." Whitcroft does not know much about Acos, the other Western Indian wonder.

RIGHT REV. DR. KELLEY ATTACKS SECRET SOCIETIES

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The first missionary congress of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States was started into outspoken admiration of the daring of a young Chicago clergyman by one of the most remarkable addresses ever delivered at any Catholic gathering. It was the president of the Catholic Church Extension Society of the United States, the Very Rev. Francis Clement Kelley, who hit out from the shoulder at what he considered to be abuses and scandals in the fold of his church, but matters in protest to which no other leading ecclesiastic has ever dared to raise his voice.

Three things he attacked, this friendly iconoclast, the methods of educating the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church in America, the powerful secret societies, the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Order of Foresters, and others, and the participation of American Catholics of foreign birth or descent in the political affairs of any country other than the United States, and that his meaning might not be mistaken, using the case of Ireland as an illustration.

As he spoke one needed only to look into the faces of the scores of delegates, the majority of the hierarchy of the Catholic Church in the United States, seated on the tremendous importance of the preaching of unselfish love for the Church universal, of the glory of self-sacrifice, of that zeal which urges men to sink themselves in the cause of Jesus Christ, of the martyr's room in Paris, and only the other half to theology, we should have a priesthood which would accomplish anything—even the conversion of America."

Dr. Kelley followed this caustic arraignment with an equally unusual tribute to the wonderful progress made by American Protestants in the field of home and foreign missions, lauding the sincerity and unselfishness of the ministers and laymen engaged in the work.

"Let us consider another phase of this question," said Father Kelley. "We have no lack of societies in the church in America, but we have a decided lack of societies which are for more than ornamental purposes and, fundamentally, most of them are selfish. "Those which are the exceptions, to prove the rule, are weak and much neglected. I belong to some of these societies. Without hesitation I say that they are all disappointments. A sop to the religious side by one or Delmar won the deciding "leg" which gave Mr. Smathers the permanent possession.

Smathers once offered the cup back to the Memphis Trotting association for a mile race, the winner of a mile dash to be given permanent possession on. This was refused.
