Rev. Alexander Sterling, Kensington was unable to deliver his lecture last night in the Presbyterian Guild on "The Greatness of John Geddie." An excellent paper on "The Life of David Livingstone" was read by Wm. Green, a divinity student. The paper gave a brief but comprehensive synopsis of the character and work of the great explorer and missionary and was much appreciated.

The Stanley made one of her record trips on Xmas day and another yesterday which show the possibilities of the western route. She returned to Summerside in time to connect with both eastern and western trains which leave here at 11:20 and 11:45 a. m. respectively thus enabling passengers to go direct to their homes without any stop. Among the passengers on Xmas day was John McLean ex M. L. A. who had left Halifax on Sunday night and who reached his home in Souris Monday evening, which would have been impossible even by either of the summer routes and was certainly impossible by any other winter route than that viz Tormentine and Summerside.

Margate school had its public examination on Friday afternoon last. There was a number of visitors present who took an active part in hearing the young children reading and reciting, and these exercises they did remarkably well. After the children were examined two of the trustees passed around a Christmas treat, in which the children and visitors had a share.—James Parsons is the guest of William Pound, Margate.—Prince William Division is progressing very rapidly at the present time. There are about one hundred enrolled, and no doubt there will be more in the future, as all the young ladies and gentlemen are taking a great interest in temperance work.—On Saturday a large number of the sports were in Summerside getting their Christmas supplies.

On the evening of Dec 12th in the parlors of the Aberdeen House at Campbellton, Lot 4, the young ladies of the W. F. M. S. held a bean supper and bazaar. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion and the many varied and beautiful articles to be sold were very artistically arranged and in charge of two young ladies of the society. Every thing sold well with urgent calls for more and the young man who failed to fill his pockets with something for his best girl, turned away with a very disappointed look. The dining-room was presided over with the usual hospitality of the Campbellton ladies. The best of good order prevailed and the sum of $383. was realized. The following program was ably rendered:—Remarks by Chairman, Chorus by Choir, Recitation by D. Riley, Chorus by Choir, Solo by Laura Reid, Chorus by Choir, Recitation by Polona Coughlin, Chorus by Choir, Recitation by Maggie Adams, Recitation by Lily Pratt, Dialogue by Laura Reid and Hudson Coughlin, God Save the King. The remainder of the evening was interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. And after bidding the host and hostess a pleasant good-night the company broke up.

On Xmas afternoon a number of the prominent citizens of Summerside paid Captain Brown a visit on board the S. S. Stanley. The captain was in apparent good humor and in his genial manner welcomed his guests aboard with a very hearty shake hands and exchange of Xmas greetings. They congratulated him on his efficiency as captain and wished him many happy returns of the season (and to Summerside.)

At the last regular meeting of Court Onaway L. O. F. Alberton the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chief Ranger—Albert Forsythe. Vice Chief—Robert Bell. Recording Secy.—J. R. Dennis. Financial Secy.—Joseph L. Dyer. Treasurer—Fred L. Rogers. Physician—Alex. Ross M. D. Orator—D. McAlduff. Sr. Woodward—John McCabe. Sr. Woodward—Chas. N. Pridham. Sr. Beadle—P. B. Clark. Jr. Beadle—Ernest Champion. Court Deputy—M. A. McNeill. Past Chief Ranger—George Gard. One new member was initiated and the proposition to have a free ward in the Hospital was carried almost unanimously.

An entertainment and picnic social was held in Scarlettown Hall on the evening of 21st inst. when all the local talent was brought forth, which had been lying dormant for the past two or three years; and as Scarlettown was formerly famed for its good entertainments everyone vied with each other to get there, and were well repaid for their endeavours. The night was everything that could be desired. Great credit is due to Messrs Woodcock and Robt. Howatt, Cape Traverse. The former rendered recitations and solos, while the latter furnished amusement with his violin and gramophone. Credit is also due Clifford Robinson, teacher, for his indefatigable efforts in making the social a good success. There was a ten cents admission fee, and the sale of upwards of twenty pies brought this very enjoyable evening to a close. The sum of $9.75 was realized. The object of the above social is to assist in building a large shed for the hall, the lack of which is now very much felt at times of inclement weather.

The rooms of the Cape Traverse school were crowded Friday last by the pupils, their parents and friends, who were overjoyed with the manner in which the scholars acquitted themselves and the rapid progress which is being made in the line of education. Cape Traverse school is going ahead by leaps and bounds thanks to Miss Noonan, principal and her assistant Miss Muncy. Mr. Robinson, teacher at Scarlettown, and others examined many of the classes in the principal's room. On behalf of the scholars Miss Teresa Howatt came forward and presented Miss Noonan with a beautiful carmen gold bracelet. The clever principal was much impressed and entirely taken by surprise. She also received a paper weight from Eber Bell, a vase from Misses Jean and Hilda Campbell, a card receiver from Annie Irving and a glove case from Della and Flossie Howatt. Many presents were given to the assistant by the little ones among which was a glove case from A. Bell, perfume from Fred Irving, picture from J. Arsenault, vases, souvenir cups and numerous other presents. The examination was then proceeded with and prizes awarded viz., for general proficiency sixth class, a writing portfolio presented to Eber Bell by E. H. McEachern, Charlottetown. General proficiency in fifth class, special prize presented to Jessie Bell by Mrs. Wm. Irving. General proficiency in fourth class, Tennyson's poems to Miss Norma Donli, presented by teacher. For best attendance to Misses Tillie and Mamie Howatt, book and ink stand by teacher. For best attendance in fifth class special prize to Miss Olga J. Crosby, book by Mrs. N. A. Woodcock. To youngest pupil in principals room, pen knife to Verna Bell presented by Mrs. N. A. Woodcock. In Miss Muncy's room Arnett Howatt was presented with a chatterbox for punctuality and Mont Hennessy, writing desk in third class, both presents being made by teacher. Miss Noonan also gave each scholar a photograph of school house and grounds and Miss Muncy handed each of her scholars nice souvenir cards.—Com.
