WAS A REAL GRAND GUIGNOL

(By Dominion News Service) LONDON, Nov. 3.—"You behaved extremely well, and it was very plucky of you to tackle such a job in that ruined and deserted kind of place. It is more than many people would do."

In these words Dr. R. L. Guthrie, the East London Coroner, complimented Elizabeth Clark, aged 17, who gave evidence today at an inquest on Carl John Anderson who committed suicide.

Miss Clark related how, when passing a disused timber yard in Poplar High street, she saw a man in an almost sitting position with a piece of thick string round his neck and fastened to an iron post. She called the attention of some men who were passing, but beyond merely taking a look they would not do anything. As they walked away she sent a boy after them with a request that they would lend her a knife with which to cut the body down, but they all declared they did not possess such a thing.

The witness added that she then tried to bite through the string with her teeth, but failed.

As a last resort she searched about until she found a piece of rough edged tiling with which she sawed through the string and thereby liberated the body.

The coroner, in recording a verdict of Suicide while of unsound mind, again complimented Miss Clark.

SEEING BY WIRE

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Many experimenters have attempted to transmit living images by wire and wireless, and the promise of our being able to see "over the telephone line" has often been made of late years, but the electrical properties of selenium, the "eye" which has been used to transmit the light picture, has always failed. William Prior, an English electrical engineer, claims to have invented a new selenium cell which is so rapid in its response to light changes and of such great sensitivity that we are brought a step nearer to the solution of this fascinating problem.

The electric "eye," if sufficiently sensitive, could be employed without difficulty, but always at great cost to transmit images instantaneously, and more than 15 years ago a British scientist, Professor Ruhmer, succeeded in seeing at a distance letters of the alphabet which were held in front of the selenium instrument. Little progress has been made since his experiments, chiefly on account of the great inertia and sluggishness of selenium cells.

Mr. Prior's cell which has been favourably reported on by some well-known physicists may prove of great value in solving the popular problem of producing sounds with the cinematograph. Here the sounds from a telephone mouth-piece are converted into light by a simple process, and are photographed on the moving film side by side with the pictures. The projecting lantern throws the picture on the screen in the usual way and the light images on to a selenium cell, an electric current passing through which is made to actuate a loud-speaking telephone.

THE NEW LEPER CURE

The treatment with the ethylesters of the Chaulmoogra or Hydrocarpus oil seems the beginning of a solution of the, up till recently, hopeless problem of leprosy. "The doctor conducts a constant hand-to-hand struggle with the bacilli, fighting now one way and then another. It is worth it all. What a treat to go about our home now! They may have no toes, but you can see them stumping round as if they were hale and hearty. Instead of sixty or seventy dirty dressings, now we have only fifteen, and these are largely new-comers." This is from Dr. Isabel Kerr, who is working among the lepers at Diephall.

THE MYSTERY OF CHINA.

The most inscrutable of all people are the Chinese; no one can say exactly what was the past history of this mysterious race, though there can be little doubt that they were civilized whilst we of the Western world were still barbarians. We always ascribe the invention of printing from type to a Dutchman, who taught the art to William Caxton, the first English printer. Caxton has been dead only three and a half centuries; but the Chinese undoubtedly used type of the most modern kind more than two thousand years ago!

There is not a shadow of doubt that they used the mariner's compass ages before it came to the West, and their ancient records show that they possessed quite a good working knowledge of electricity. They had something very like the telephone ages before Edison was thought of. Gunpowder came into use in Europe about 600 years ago, when the Chinese had been using it for centuries. They were the first users of poison gas, which they employed in warfare a thousand years before the Huns reinvented it in 1914.

The Chinese were making the most perfect pottery at a time when our ancestors ate and drank from the crudest clay vessels. But whereas we have advanced by leaps and bounds, China has stood still, or even gone backward. Many of her old secrets are lost; she is glad to-day to re-learn from the West the art of making things and of years ago within her own borders.

ANOTHER ELEGY

(Spokane Spokesman-Review)

The Klaxon sounds the knell of a departing day, Some late arrivals through the dust clouds creep And three hours after we have hit the hay The noise calms down so we can get to sleep.

Save where, from yonder pennant-clad sedan The radio set emits its raucous squeal And underneath a nearby light, a Pounds until daylight on a busted wheel.

Beneath those tattered tops, those patent tents, Where falls the dust into each sunburned pore, Each on his folding bed of slight expense

The rude explorers of the high-way snore, Let not ambition mock their creaky cars, Their khaki clothes, of vintagee obscure, Nor grandeur view, with hauteur like czar's

The short and simple flivvers of the poor, The boats of shiny paint, the pomp of power, And all that charms the motorist's eye

Await alike the inevitable hour— The paths of touring lead but to the shop.

Can streamline hoods or silver-plated hubs Back to the mainstem call the missing spark? Can plush upholstery foil the clumsy dubs

Who bang into your fenders in the dark? Full many a boob of purest ray serene Succumbs each summer to the touring itch; Full many a car is doomed to blush green,

And waste its sweetness in a western ditch. REVERE HOTEL

A PAN-ORTHODOX SYNOD.

For nearly a month, ending June 8th, there met in Constantinople a Pan-Orthodox Synod representing the principal Churches of the Orthodox East, whose considerations were of momentous importance, and whose sessions were ended by the attempt at forcibly kidnapping the Patriarch Meletios as he was presiding in the Synod. The Living Churches, a Chicago religious paper, claims to be "in position to state that unanimous decision was reached" on the following points, among others: To adopt the western style of calendar; to permit second marriage of clergy; to permit first marriage of clergy after ordination, but to require bishops to be unmarried; to call Ecumenical Synod (Sober) in 1925, which will be 1,600 years after the first Ecumenical Synod, and to call all the Christian world to celebrate this anniversary.

COMMONPLACE

There was a girl in New York City who had been working for eight years without a vacation. She was thin, white, and her shoulders were stooped. She had an old mother dependent upon her, and for eight years she had been toiling to free her home from the incubus of debt. One night she took an "elevated" home. In her hand she tightly clutched an envelop. She ran all the way up the street and could hardly turn the door-knob. She hurried into the room where her mother sat and dropped the envelope into her lap with a sob. The mother opened it and discovered that it was a cancelled mortgage. The debt was paid. Just a commonplace girl—that was all. But oh! the beauty of that sacrificial love for her mother!

EXCEPTIONAL RIDING COMFORT

The new Dodge Brothers Touring Car is exceptionally comfortable to ride in; it is good looking; and it incorporates many important refinements of detail.

The body is longer and lower, eliminating side sway, affording more leg room, and enhancing the beauty of the lines.

Deeper seats, long underslung rear springs and longer front springs, give ample assurance that cross country touring can be enjoyed without weariness or fatigue.

Yet with these improvements, and many others, it is still fundamentally the same car—built on the same chassis and powered by the same sturdy engine.

The price is $1275 f.o.b., Windsor.

POLYGAMY PROBLEM

A Colonial Office report for 1922 on the British Mandated Sphere of Togoland, West Africa, states that Fetichism (the worship of idols, at their lives some kind of mysterious power) is the dominating religion, and converts to Christianity in many instances still uphold the spirit of the Fetich influences. Polygamy, in particular, is very prevalent, and the missionaries do not seem to be able to combat it. The individual will marry in church, but in the majority of instances insists upon having more than one wife. In those cases he is permitted to attend the church, but is barred from partaking of the Lord's Supper.

MAY BUILD NEW PRINTING BUREAU

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The $500,000 appropriated at the last session of the Federal Parliament of the erecting of a new printing bureau to replace the present building, which is considered inadequate to meet the demands made upon it, may be used in the near future, according to information received from semi-official circles. It is stated that the Minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. J. H. King, in conjunction with the Minister of Labor, Hon. James Murdock, have before them three suitable sites for the new printing bureau, and the choice of the best site is under contemplation.

CHURCH RADIO.

The radio is being used effectively in ministering to what is said to be the largest Presbyterian Church in the world—the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle, Wash.—and not only so its membership of 7,500 but to uncounted thousands all over the North-West. At the same time it has intensified the ministry and Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, the pastor, had found that looking after a flock of 7,500 was a tremendously difficult task, even with a group of able assistants, and of course it was only at rare intervals that he could be present at the services of any one of the scores of chapels and mission houses which carried the influence of his church far beyond the walls of the big structure at the corner of Seventh avenue and Spring street in Seattle.

Then the church installed a radio broadcasting station at a cost of $15,000, and receiving stations were set up in all these chapels and mission houses, so that the worshippers there are able to listen to the same music, the same prayers, and the same sermon as do those in the mother church. But that, important as it is, is only a comparatively small part of the achievements record for KTW, as the church's station is known. Let Dr. Matthews tell something of the story: "Our radio station is one of the best in the country," he says, "and in its construction we have followed the modern of all the best ones. We are perfecting it as rapidly as the builders can work. We use wave length 360 and 460 and can develop a wave length of 900 or 1000. "We have been heard beyond Alberta, Canada, in Phillips, Main, Newark, N. J., several cities in Pennsylvania, and in Houston, Texas—traveling in distances from 800 to 4200 miles from Seattle. When the station is perfected we ought to be heard in the Philippines, China, and Japan, as plainly as we are being heard in different parts of this country. Moncton.
