

PRINCE EDWARD NOW PLAYING MATINEE 3.15 EVE. 7 & 8.45

THE SCREENS FUNNIEST LOVERBIRDS IN A RIOT OF MIRTH THAT WILL TICKLE YOUR RIBS

You'll never forget it!—The screen's "greatest lovers" on a honeymoon to Niagara Falls accompanied by a doting mother-in-law!

SLIM SUMMERVILLE AND ZAZU PITTS

"OUT ALL NIGHT"

Also "MY PAL THE PRINCE" and "ANYWAY TO GET THERE"

Slim Summerville And Zazu Pitts Great In Comedy Riot At Prince Edward

No more sparkling screen comedy has been shown on the local screen than "Out All Night," the screenplay which opened an engagement at the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday. We recommend it to you highly.

The picture literally bristles with witty dialogue, and the entire story is a constant succession of hilarious situations. Its rollicking humor rushes along at breakneck speed, and the climax comes in a really exciting series of dramatic scenes.

Slim Summerville and Zazu Pitts are co-starred in "Out All Night," which is a recommendation for any picture at the outset. Their peculiar abilities in the comedy field make them ideal foils for each other, and they make the most of every scene in which they appear. Summerville appears as a pampered "mama's boy" raised as a hot-house flower, and Miss Pitts is seen as an attendant in the nursery of a department store, equally ignorant of the facts of life. Their courtship and their subsequent honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls are full of the most riotous humor.

The supporting cast is uniformly excellent, and important roles are played by Alexander Carr, Laura Hope Crews, Shirley Grey, Rollo Lloyd and George Hackathorne.

By all means, see "Out All Night." You will enjoy every minute of it.

"Man Who Dared" Vital Drama At Capitol

"The Man Who Dared" flashed across the screen of the Capitol Theatre yesterday and gave us one of the most gripping of screen plays. This picture, based on some colorful and romantic incidents in the life of Chicago's late mayor, Anton Cermak, is brimful with drama, action, dynamic excitement and a good supply of human comedy.

It takes us through the life of a youth who comes to this country, an immigrant from his native and beautiful Bohemia. It plants him in the raucous Middle West of the nineties, and sets him off on a career that will always stand as one of the most remarkable in American life. Surrounded on all sides by political corruption and crime that acts at the drop of a hat, this strong man carves a career of which the world is destined to take deep notice. His characteristics are primarily a fighting heart and ready fists, but back of these are an outlook toward righteousness that will not be downed.

"The Man Who Dared" is one of those rare films that merges all the precious elements of real entertainment. It has action that alternates with the tenderest of romance. Its setting forms a frame for genuine pathos and hilarious comedy.

Preston Foster has the leading role. While he has appeared in a number of motion pictures, it is this one that thrust him forward as one of the foremost of our younger actors. Zita Johann has the leading role opposite him and makes a believable person of the woman that such a man would love. Both of these young actors show unlimited powers of portrayal. They go through the years together, and not once do they swerve from the characters they depict.

The supporting cast is a notable one, with Joan Marsh and Irene Biller, at the head of it. Others are Clifford Jones, June Vasek, Leon Wrayoff, Douglas Cosgrove, Douglas Dumbrille and Frank Sheridan.

On the short subject program the Capitol offers a very humorous Moran and Mack (Two Black Crows) Comedy called "Hot Hoops" and an entertaining novelty reel called "The Sea."

GREENVALE W. I.

Greenvale W. I. held their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Miller MacPherson, with the President, Mrs. Russell White, in the chair. Meeting opened by repeating the Creed, and roll call was answered with recipes for an invalid dish. Twelve members were present, also one visitor.

A bill of $6.12 at Carter's bookstore was reported paid. There was a general discussion on school needs and it was decided that a drinking fountain and water pail be immediately secured. On motion $2.00 was voted towards School Fair to supplement the $5.00 given by the district.

As the convener for the evening's program was not present, this was left over. Mrs. White gave a report of the annual convention held in Charlottetown. Meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and a pleasant time spent in social conversation. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. B. Matheson on Oct. 4th, when the topic will be Legislation, and roll call is to be answered by each member paying twenty-five cents.

The July meeting of the Institute was held at the home of Mrs. John Mobbs on the fifth. Six members and one visitor were present. The President presided and the meeting opened by repeating the Creed. Roll call was answered with "An Island Product," after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and signed. The members had assisted teacher in canvas for Red Cross. Reflectors had been received from Motor League for distribution to the school children. Prizes for attendance and general proficiency had been given by the Institute. A report was read from Miss Gillan, Public Health Nurse. Mrs. Earle MacRae thanked members for letter of sympathy received. The President read selections re the rayon industry, showing pictures of the different stages in its manufacture. Meeting closed by singing God Save the King. At the close of the meeting the hostess served ice cream and cake.

The Gift Of God's Love

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"For by grace are ye saved, through faith and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God."

The cry of depression has been ringing in our ears for many months. Its reality and results are well known to the officers and soldiers of The Salvation Army, for they have witnessed the light of hope fade from the eyes of capable men, the smile vanish from the faces of women, and the tint of health disappear from the cheeks of children. Such conditions emphasize the need of greater self-sacrifice and more generous giving on the part of all.

May we count you as one who will support our work so that light may once again brighten the path of life for many of the stricken ones?

Please help either with money or goods, fruit, vegetables, when the Salvation Army official calls at your door next week for your Harvest Festival Offering. One half the amount raised will be used in Charlottetown and suburbs.

May God bless you in your giving! 1281.

WASHINGTON WOMEN

CHICAGO, Sept. 21—Take the word of Emile Beauvais, hairdresser to the wives of former U.S. presidents, Washington boasts more women of distinguished appearance than any other city. He said so on arriving here for the convention of the national hairdressers and cosmetologists.

Russian Savants To Make Flight In Stratosphere

MOSCOW, Sept. 21—(C.P.)—Several noted Russian aerologists will swing skywards in the gondola of a huge balloon sometime this month to attempt the first Soviet exploration of the stratosphere. This city has been tentatively selected as the starting point of the flight. Weather conditions usually are more favorable in this area at this time of the year than in Leningrad, where the balloon was built and where it was originally scheduled to make the ascent.

The main purpose of the voyage is to study cosmic rays, electromagnetic phenomena and the physiological effect of great heights on human beings. The balloonists, however, also hope to shatter the altitude record of 53,000 feet established by Prof. Auguste Piccard. The first test flight of the balloon constructed at the Air Institute factories in Leningrad along the general lines of Piccard's craft, was pronounced satisfactory by the constructor, M. Vasenko and the chief pilot, M. Fedosenko.

Vasenko and Fedosenko probably will make the first flight with Prof. B. Molchanov, director of the Leningrad air institute and organizer of the ascension, in command. The balloon, designed by engineer I. Chertovsky, was more than a year in construction and only Soviet materials and equipment were used.

The envelope, with a capacity of 20,000 cubic metres of hydrogen gas, is made of a special rubberized fabric to which a paint compound has been applied making it impervious to the sun's heat. The gondola is of non-magnetic, rustless steel and can accommodate four men for a minimum of 12 hours. It is slung in what resembles a basket, the bottom of which is fitted with a shock-absorbing device to soften the impact of landing.

Portholes fitted with non-sweating and non-freezing glass—four around the sides, one in the top and one in the floor—provide the means of observation and photography.

The builders borrowed from the experiences of Prof. Piccard in treating the outside of the gondola to make it immune to both cold and heat. When Piccard made his first ascent in Germany in 1931 his gondola was painted a dark color and he reported suffering from heat. For his second flight over Switzerland in 1932, it was painted white and he suffered from cold.

To counteract the effects of either heat or cold the chemical technological institute in Leningrad prepared a special paint compound with which the cabin has been covered. It is a mixture of both dark and light colors applied in alternate vertical stripes.

Of the 34 scientific instruments to be used 27 were manufactured expressly for the ascent. They include an electrometer for study of the cosmic rays, special cameras with appliances for registering the height of the stratosphere, a spectrograph and a photometer designed for observing the manner in which the surface of the earth reflects light.

There also are navigation instruments, including an altimeter, a special barometer and a radio operating on a wave length of 100 metres. All the instruments are non-magnetic and constructed so as to conserve as much space and weight as possible. The crew will receive necessary air from a liquid oxygen apparatus within the sealed cabin. Besides a small quantity of food, the expedition will carry hunting guns, skis, a lantern and a first aid kit in case of a landing in some isolated region.

BELIEVE COMMUNISTS INNOCENT

International Legal Commission Claims Nazis Burned Reichstag Themselves.

(Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 20—The assertion that grave grounds exist for suspecting that the German Reichstag building was set afire last winter by, or on behalf of, leading personalities in the National Socialist (Nazi) party was contained today in the report of the International Legal Commission which investigated the blaze.

The Commission, an unofficial body, announced its findings at Claxton Hall after several days of hearings. During this time the suggestion was advanced that the Nazis themselves set the fire rather than the five Communists who will go on trial tomorrow at Leipzig, Germany.

The Report

Concerning four of the defendants, the report said:

"The accused Torgler, Dimitroff, Popoff and Taneff ought to be regarded not merely as innocent of the charge, but also as not having been concerned or connected in any manner whatsoever directly or indirectly with the arson of the Reichstag."

"Documents, oral evidence and other material in possession of the Commission tend to establish that Van Der Lubbe could not have committed the crime alone."

New Suture End One Surgical Risk

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—Relief from one of the surgical risks now largely beyond the control of medical men is promised in a new method of making the sutures for sewing wounds reported to the American Chemical Society, which ended its meeting yesterday.

These new sutures can be made so that they will be absorbed by the body in any length of time desired between two days and a full month. They can be manufactured so that there is absolute certainty about their strength, regardless of whether the animal substances from which they are made are originally strong or weak.

At present, said Dr. George L. Clark, of the University of Illinois, who reported the discovery, a large margin of safety in strength and absorption time is usually allowed. The new method will permit the manufacture of sutures that surgeons can time with precision.

Laboratory Discovery

They were discovered by making sutures in the Illinois laboratories under X-rays. Extraordinary effects, Dr. Clark said, were seen when the suture materials were stretched. Before stretching, the long particles composing the materials could be seen under the X-rays pointing in every direction, like matches dropped on a floor.

But when tension was applied by pulling the sutures, these minute rods, called micelles, began to lie parallel.

The longer the pull the more they aligned. The more they lined up the stronger they became. Also the longer they resist the bodily digestion which ultimately absorbs them.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. RODERICK MACLEOD

Death always brings a shade of sadness, but seldom does the demise of a citizen call forth such universal sorrow as was evinced by the people of Hartsville, and the surrounding community on Wednesday morning, Sept. 13th, when it was learned that Roderick MacLeod had passed to his eternal reward. Although he had passed his seventy-fourth year, none looked upon him as being old, as he was young in spirit, and being of a sociable disposition had made many friends. Few, indeed, enjoyed so wide an acquaintance and such intimate fellowship, his genial disposition made him a welcome guest in any home he visited. A lover of children, the little ones were naturally attracted to him, and he was "Uncle Rod" to many of the children of the neighborhood.

Ever ready to forgive and forget an injury, few things grieved him more than to witness the maintaining of unpleasant relations between members of the community. Broadholding clear and strong convictions, he had a real sympathetic and impartial allowance for those whose creeds or principles differed from his own. He was always ready to help those in trouble and to give a word of cheer to the discouraged.

He became a member, in full communion, with Hartsville Church some thirty-six years ago, where he was active as a member of the official board and in the Sunday School for many years, as well as leading the service of praise. He was appointed Elder a number of years ago and in all of these capacities, as well as in everything that was for the betterment of the church and its surroundings, he manifested an admirable spirit of devotion.

At the time of the union of the churches in 1925, with which he was in full and hearty accord, he united with the men of like faith at North Wiltshire, where also he faithfully and efficiently filled the office of an elder, until the time of his death.

He leaves to cherish his memory, his widow (nee Katherine MacSwain, Pleasant Valley), two daughters, Florence, Mrs. Horne, of Marblehead, Mass., who came home to look for the last time on the face of her devoted father; also Isabel, of the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Charlottetown. Four sons, viz.: Archibald B., in Alta.; John S., Postmaster at Hunter River; Murdoch and Lloyd at home. His eldest son, Daniel, made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, and an infant daughter predeceased him.

He was visited by his pastor, Rev. F. E. Boothroyd, and some intimate friends to whom he declared all was well as he was on the Rock.

The funeral was held on Sunday, the 17th inst., and was one of the largest ever held in the community. The pastor was ably assisted by the Rev. J. M. MacLeod, of Charlottetown, and a solo "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," by Mr. A. R. Gillis, added greatly to the solemn and impressive service. Burial took place in Hartsville Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Daniel Lamont, George Godfrey, Dougald MacPherson, Joseph MacDonald, Wm. Darke and D. M. MacDonald.

Husband And Wife Candidates

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 20—Several months ago a court named H. A. McCormick to succeed E. B. Swankey as township tax collector.

In yesterday's primary election, Swankey ran against McCormick for the Republican nomination for the job and beat him.

Swankey's wife opposed McCormick for the Democratic nomination and beat him.

Husband and wife will be opponents at the election.

WOMEN URGE EQUAL PAY FOR EQUAL WORK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Strongly backed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, women willing to work for the rights of their sex are daily drumming against wage differentials in industrial codes.

"Women should very decidedly do everything they can to see that in every code the principle of equal pay for equal work between men and women is recognized," Mrs. Roosevelt said today.

Previous pronouncements by the United States President's wife on this same principle were credited by Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the Women's Bureau of the Labor Department, with giving great impetus to the work on this new woman's rights front.

"The practical experience of the women's bureau in its investigations on women's employment has shown that women's work has been used to lower the wage scale," Miss Anderson explained. "We don't want this practice perpetuated in the codes."

Chinese Doctor Acquaints East With Dominion

MONTREAL, Sept. 19—(O.P.)—While students of McGill University returned to their studies in the various departments work was received here that Dr. Kiang Kang-Hu, chairman of McGill's department of Chinese studies, who is on a year's leave of absence, is appearing in a somewhat altered role in his native country. Instead of delivering lectures in Canada on China, he is in China delivering lectures on the Dominion.

On the front page of a recent edition of a Shanghai newspaper appears a lengthy account of an address delivered by the McGill professor at the Y. M. C. A. there. In the address Dr. Kiang is pointed out as saying Canada is anxious to trade with China and as declaring that in order to develop cultural and trade relations the Chinese Immigration Act must be modified.

(Mrs. Zachariah Buote), Mayfield. Her funeral, which was held on Tuesday, Aug. 22nd, at St. Ann's Church, Hope River, was largely attended, showing the respect the community had for the deceased. The Mass of Requiem was celebrated by her pastor, Fr. W. V. MacDonald, who also officiated at the grave. The pall bearers were Cyril Buote, Peter Kurray, Jeremiah Peters, Frank Gallant, Robert Gallant and Andrew Pineau.

May her soul rest in peace. (Patrol please copy)

Beautiful Children Prize Awards

Pictures of two hundred Charlottetown children were shown at the Prince Edward Theatre last evening when the winners in a contest for beautiful children were announced. This contest, arranged by the De Luxe Studios of Toronto, Ont., has been held in connection with the theatre and the judging was done by officials of the studio at Toronto. There were several classes, the winners ranging from 7 months to 12 years of age.

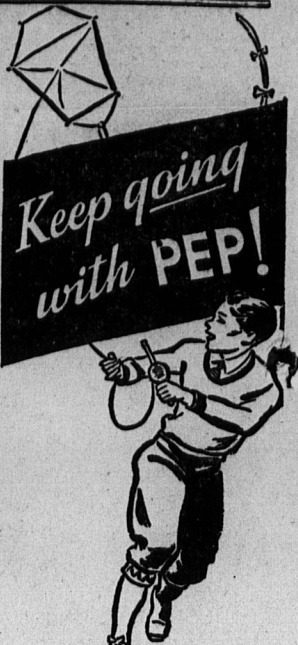

The following awards were made: First Prize—Lloyd Oaks, 7 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Oaks, 85 Kent Street, The prize, Baby Diamond Ring.

Second Prize—James Douglas Garrett, 20 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Garrett, 36 Kensington. The prize is a Silver Cup.

Third Prize—Elizabeth McCormack, age 8 years, daughter of Mrs. Pearl McCormack, 121 North River Road, the prize, a Wrist Watch.

Fourth Prize—Norma Peppin, age 12 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Peppin, 342 Euston Street, the prize, a Silver Trophy.

Much interest has been shown in this contest and it was difficult to pick out the winners among the large number of lovely children whose photographs were entered.

MY FIGHT

My memory goes back to my boyhood days, Days that were full of fun; Days that were full of life's sweetest hours, Too swiftly they fled along.

I know the patch where the berries were best, And where blueberries and May flowers grew, I opened my heart to nature's full charms, Each day I gloried anew.

I watched her unfold her pageant of gold, Each petal, each leaf at its time; And the lessons of God from the lowly sod, Grew into this soul of mine.

They tell me now that it all came by chance, They tell you the "why" and the "when"; One came from another, through millions of years; And I find it so hard for to ken,

I believe that God planted it all by Himself, And watched it grow daffy, from thence; Each kept its species, and order of life, That I believe, and not chance.

My legacy this, from my mother's knee, No matter how oft I may sin; This faith in the "Governorship of God," Has kept me from further sin.

And whenever I question the goodness of Him, Who gave to the world His own Son; My heart is renewed, by the order of life, Once again, my day's battle is won.

And when I arrive at the end of my days, Like Paul as of old, I shall say; "I have finished my course, I have fought the fight, He'll reward me upon that Great Day."
