Cubs Blank Tigers In Opener 3-0

Cubs In High Glee After Winning Opener; Cochrane Praises Hurling Of Warneke

(By Charles Dunkey Associated Press Sports Writer)

DETROIT, Oct. 2—With a roar that shook the rafters, Chicago Cubs stamped through the door of their dressing room today, almost taking it off the hinges in celebration of their first triumph over Detroit Tigers.

"It came big Tex Carleton, the big right handed pitcher, leading the procession. In came Charlie Grimm, the proud, smiling manager of the Cubs, Herman, Ga'an, Lindstrom and all the rest, yelling and sweating.

"Grimm went over to Lonnie Warneke, the pride of the Ozarks, and shook his hand warmly.

"Nice pitching," Grimm yelled. Then he turned to his players and burst out: "You guys are all gentlemen, great big gentlemen."

"Old Charlie Root will go after those guys tomorrow. We're one up on 'em and we're going to make it two up."

"A helluva home run, Frankie," Grimm shouted at Demaree, "great third basing, Stanislaus (meaning Stanley Hack), nice going everybody."

"Warneke did not know that he had tied the world's record for assists made by a pitcher in a world series until he reached the clubhouse.

"If I had thrown Cochrane out in the fifth I would have broken a record, wouldn't I? But what's the difference, I was out there to win. Records didn't mean nothing to me."

Grimm said both clubs were riding high each other and admitted that the Cubs were guilty of saying something not very nice to the Tigers. When Umpire Moriarty went over to the Cub dugout early in the game to warn them against outbursts of profanity.

In the other club-quarters, Mickey Cochrane, Tiger manager who hates to lose, was silent but not discouraged. He said he would start little Tommy Bridges, 150 pounds of pitching dynamite, in the second game tomorrow.

Cochrane praised both the pitching of Rowe and Warneke, regretting that Rowe was a bit slow getting started.

"Warneke certainly was plugging 'em in," Cochrane said. "He had nice stuff and good control. Anybody that can keep a ball over the plate with a little stuff on it is plenty tough."

Cochrane said the ball Demaree hit into the left stands for a home run in the ninth inning was a fast one, shoulder high.

When Rowe dragged his six foot four inch frame into the clubhouse, the Tigers attempted to console him with: "Tough luck, big boy."

"Hell," he said disgusted, "that's all I've been hearing all season."

DETROIT, Oct. 2—The total figures, showing a total paid attendance of 47,391 and receipts of $145,432, for the first game of the world series today, follows:

Players share, $74,170.32.
Commissioner's share, $21,814.80.
Total for Clubs and League, $49,445.22.

Total receipts, $145,432.
Paid attendance, 47,391.

Change In Professional Ruling Sought

HALIFAX, Oct. 2—A resolution asking the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union to allow professionals in one sport amateur status in any other will be presented to the annual meeting of that body here next month by its Maritime Province Branch.

Meeting here today in semi-annual convention, representatives of every branch of sport on the tri-province athletic control board decided to present a united front on that motion when it comes up for discussion before the Dominion body.

There was little likelihood the proposed change would be made, Sheriff C. D. Shipley, Secretary-Treasurer of the branch, told delegates. He said similar resolutions would be introduced by a majority of branches throughout Canada.

Storm clouds of protest regarding migrations of amateurs and the residence clause that controls them failed to materialize and their issues still remain unsettled.

Baseball delegates who brought up the matter of importing players were told the matter could be settled only by their Provincial Baseball Association. The same ruling applied regarding hockey and other sport.

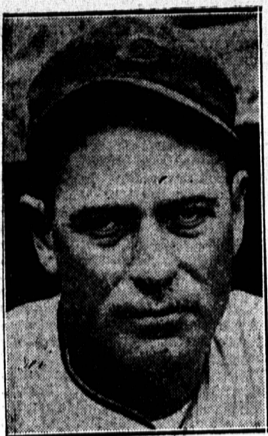

The question of baseball players playing in organized junior games although over age was thoroughly discussed. Although delegates listened to Sheriff Shipley's suggestion that all juniors applying for cards should have to file birth certificates with their applications, no action in that direction was taken.

The Association found itself stalemated on the question of boxers continuing to hold amateur cards although they flagrantly fought professional matches. It was brought up by D. W. Fraser of Amherst, chairman of the boxing committee.

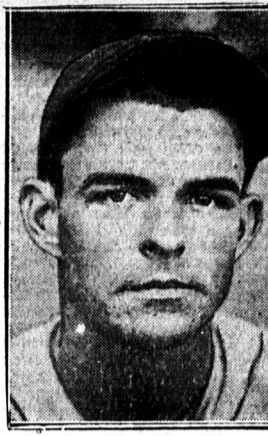

In this case Cape Breton was called the most notable district. There, it was said, it was impossible to get anybody to sign an affidavit naming amateur boxers who had fought in pro cards and any investigation undertaken in the past had been forced to stop at that point. It was suggested a permanent representative be appointed in Cape Breton to keep track of infractions of the amateur code.

The applications of Charles Kail of Summerside, P. E. I., and Bob-Jack of Jackson of Caledonia, N. S., for amateur reinstatement were referred, but only that of F-11 was approved.

Toronto Pro Team Trims British Ryder Cup Squad

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

ROSDALE GOLF CLUB, Toronto, Oct. 2—In rare form on familiar Rosedale's stretches, a team of 10 Toronto professionals today trounced the British Ryder Cup golf team by 9 1-2 points to 5 1-2 in a one-day match. The invaders failed to overcome a five-point lead secured in the morning when the home pros won all five Scotch foursomes.

Without having seen the course before, the Brits lost so much ground on their first excursion to the hilly layout in the foursomes that a gallant bid to win it back in 10 singles matches failed from the start. They managed to do little better than break even.

Lex Robson, veteran Islington star, former Canadian professional title-holder, led the Toronto contingent with a pair of brilliant triumphs. Robson teamed with Bill Kerr to defeat W. J. (Bill) Cox and Reginald Whitcombe, by one up, in the morning's most thrilling match.

In the afternoon he came back with a spectacular stretch drive to conquer Percy Alliss, one of Britain's most famous shotmakers, also by a one-up margin. With a big gallery cheering him on, Robson pulled out in front with a par four on the 17th and then got his par on the 18th to save the hole.

In other singles engagements, Alfred Perry, British open champion, fired sub-par golf all the way to defeat Willie Lamb, Canadian professional champion, 3 and 2, and young Hugh Borthwick, among the most promising of the home-breds, trounced Alfred Padgham, 3 and 1.

Sidelights On Opening Game Of Series

DETROIT, Oct. 2—The Tigers now know how the gashouse gang from St. Louis got gassed. Lon Warneke asphyxiated them with a two-hit shutout a week ago today. He gassed the Tigers with a four-hit shutout today.

Manager Grimm says Warneke is the best fielding pitcher in baseball. He exhibited a few of his gems today, although most of his eight chances were easy. He had the Tigers topping them so regularly that they hit but nine balls out of the infield, including their four hits. Lon's best relieve was made in the third when he deflected Marvin Owen's hard smash, raced almost to third and got his man.

Big Hank Greenberg reached first only once—on a walk in the fourth inning—but he turned in the classic catch of the game. Starting the third, Billy Herman smashed a terrific line drive at big Hank and he hauled it down with a spectacular leap and one-hand catch. Bill Jurgess and Phil Cavarretta also made pretty stops.

Joe Louis, sensational negro heavyweight who will soon make Chicago his home, occupied a box seat with his bride near the Cub dugout. When Al Schacht, movie actor George Raft and several other celebrities tried to get Joe into a fake crap game in a stunt around the pitcher's mound before game time, he gave them a dead pan "no."

Yes, Babe Ruth watched the big show. Dressed in a rhapsody of brown with a white carnation in his coat lapel and a big, fat cigar in his face, the Babe looked on from the press box.

Mike Jacobs, the ticket broker from New York who handles the duets for most of the big sports events, had a unique experience in the lobby of a downtown hotel. A couple of local brokers singled him out as a prospect for tickets which otherwise, in the vernacular of their profession, they must eat. They offered Make a pair of $6.60 box seats for a total of $4. That's how tough a day the scalpers had. They were scalped.

T.L. MacDonald President Of M.P.B.A.A.U. of C.

HALIFAX, Oct. 2—T. L. MacDonald of Halifax was elected President of the Maritime Provinces branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada at the annual meeting here today. He succeeds C. C. Gillespie of Moncton.

Sheriff C. D. Shipley of Amherst, N. S., was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. Vice-presidents appointed were Gus Chisholm of St. Stephen, for New Brunswick; Byron Brown of Charlottetown, for Prince Edward Island; and D. W. Fraser of Amherst, for Nova Scotia.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island delegates included W. W. Muttart, President of the P. E. I. Baseball Association; W. T. Whellock, President of the N. B. Baseball Association; W. Whitlock, St. Stephen; E. A. Ward, Summerside; Kenneth Staples, Devon; and W. Mallart, Summerside.

More Hockey Players For London, Paris

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Oct. 2—Still the exodus of Canadian hockey players to Europe continues. Passengers liners sailing this week-end will take more than a score of players to England and France.

Jules Cholette, fleet forward of the crack Ottawa Senator line of Olsen, Finnigan and Cholette of the senior group, is among the party of Ottawa and Montreal players that sails on Friday.

With him will be Albert Jholette, Lucien Lascelles and Bernard McCann, all of Ottawa, and Paul Gagnon, Dollard Belhumeur, Laurent Laframboise, Jean Mignault and Franois Cadorette of Montreal. They are to play for the Palais de Sports in Paris.

A dozen players from Ontario sail on Saturday for London to form a team that will be known as the Earl's Court Rangers. They are D. E. Summerhayes, Manager; Don Hodges, John W. Acheson, Gar E. Preston and R. McAlphine, of Toronto; Ernest Gates and A. Higginson of Ottawa; Howard Peterson and J. W. Chappell of Oshawa; Don W. Wilson of Bradford; R. Forder, of Oakville and Paul MacPhail, of Kirkland Lake. G. Dewar of Chicago completes the team.

CHELSEA PLAYER'S LOSS

LONDON—Young Jack O'Hare, the Scottish back, who has played some fine games for Chelsea this season, recently suffered a sad bereavement. His father was killed in a colliery accident at Arma-dale, Scotland.

Budlong Wins Free-for-all Straight Heats

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

HALIFAX, Oct. 2—Mrs. M. Ballard's Calumet Budlong won all three heats today in the Free For All, feature of the opening program of harness racing at the Nova Scotia Exhibition here.

Even with a game leg, Budlong had plenty to spare in the first two heats, winning them with the slow times of 2:11 1-4 and 2:13. A thrilling finish that had R. Jabalee's Marjorie M. and a Saint John horse, C. M. Alexander's The Great Guy dashing headlong down the stretch with Budlong failed to better the times as the North Sydney horse nosed out the challengers at 2:13. Dermot, owned by Power Bros. of Charlottetown, was the only other competitor.

Two other races were on the card: The 2:22 Trot, won by H. T. Fulton's Marjorie, three straight; and the 2:17 Trot and Pace, won by R. L. Isnor's Patrick Direct, three straight.

Warneke Hurls Brilliantly To Effectively Silence "Big Guns" Of Tiger Club

Jittery Defense Of Rowe And Mates In Opening Inning Allows Cubs Two Run Lead. Demaree Clouts Homer In Ninth To Climax Victory.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

DETROIT, Oct. 2—Chicago Cubs are still the "hottest" club in baseball. They demonstrated it conclusively today for the benefit of 47,391 somewhat subdued fanatics and Detroit Tigers by galloping off with the first game of the 1935 World Series, 3-0, behind the spectacular pitching of Lonnie Warneke.

The long, lean right-hander from the Ozarks blanked the American League champions with four hits. Except for one spell of wildness in the fourth inning, Warneke had the Tigers "topping" most of their shots with a sharp-breaking "screw ball." He took the honors in an all-Arkansas pitching duel with Lynnwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, giant right-hander of the home town, and topped off his superlative performance by equalling a World Series record with eight assists.

LON WARNEKE

Pitching Duel

It was an old-fashioned hurling duel, one of the best any World Series opener has witnessed in at least a dozen years. Rowe, employing a sharp-breaking curve and a fine change of pace, allowed only seven hits. The big right-hander struck out eight Cubs but was the victim of his own as well as his mates' jittery defense. The School-boy got better as the game went along but it didn't do him any good as the Tigers failed to seize any of their scattered scoring chances.

The Cubs, leaping to the attack with the same aggressiveness that marked their belated charge to the top of the National League, settled the game with a two-run rally in the first inning. Augie Galan's double, caroming off Billie Rogell's hands, followed by Rowe's bad throw on Billy Herman's attempted sacrifice, brought in the first run. Freddie Lindstrom's sacrifice and Gabby Hartnett's sharp single to right scored Herman with the second marker.

As a final salute to the Tigers and their rooters, Frank Demaree marked the first of Rowe's fast balls high into the temporary left-field bleachers at the start of the ninth. It was the best shot of the day and helped convince all of the sundry onlookers that the National League champions have the punch, as well as the speed, spirit and pitching to keep the Tigers back on their heels.

Hits Homer

Whether or not the Chicagoans are off on another streak to cap the climax of their 21-game drive to the pennant, remains to be seen. They were much the better ball club today, hustling, taking advantage of opportunities and putting up a brisk defence all the way against a team that still seemed to have a hang-over from its erratic last month of American League campaigning.

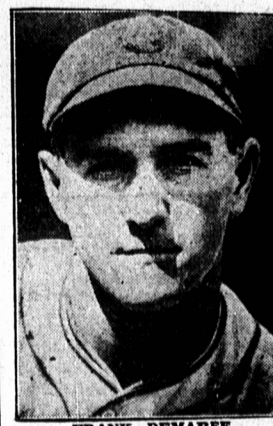

The Cubs not only are "hot" but they are playing with all the carefree ease and nonchalance of a bunch of collegians. They are one of the youngest outfits to enter a World Series in years but they didn't show a sign of tension under fire and before a howling crowd of Detroit rooters.

Warneke made their job easy, not only by his brilliant pitching but by personally attending to the disposal of a third of the home team. Lonnie's total of eight assists tied the series mark, set in 1906 by Nick Altrock of Chicago White Sox. He could have made it nine and a new record for himself if he had tossed to first on Mickey Cochrane's fifth inning roller, instead of running to first to make the out.

With a total of nine chances, including this solo putout, Warneke was two shy of Altrock's mark of 11.

There was only one spell of un-easiness for Warneke and his mates. That was in the fourth when, with one out, Lonnie suddenly lost control in his attempt to cut too many corners. He walked big Hank Greenberg, clean-up clouter of the Tigers, as well as Goose Goslin. He pitched seven successive balls. The crowd was yelling like maniacs and all familiar artifices were employed by the home side in an attempt to stimulate a "blowup" by the Cub ace.

Pete Fox, who got half of the Tigers' four hits during the afternoon, came to bat in this critical juncture but the best he could do was dribble a grounder to Bill Jurgess, who made the throwout at first base as the runners each advanced. Billy Rogell was equally unable to rise to the emergency, with a basehit needed to tie the score. He rolled weakly to Phil

Tomorrow the veteran Charley Root, right-hander whose comeback was a factor in the late-season surge of the Cubs, will be pitted against slim Tommy Bridges, the 150 pound Tennessee curve ball artist of the Tigers. Bridges tamed the Cardinals once last year with a brilliant exhibition. If he has control Tommy will be hard to beat but his teammates will have to do something on their own account if Detroit is to stay in the contention.
