

Blame The Nerves

When you cannot sleep and are easily irritated and worried you have reason to suspect that the nerves are below normal.

They are not getting proper nourishment from the food you eat, and need a little special help. A few weeks' treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do wonders for anyone in this condition. Note your increase in weight while using this food cure.

The average girl is a queer creature. She'll make fun of a young man one day and marry him the next.

MONOPY ON POTASH GONE FROM GERMANY

AMSTERDAM, July 16.—Discovery that Germany does not hold a world monopoly on potash comes as a blow to innumerable economists who repeatedly have assured the Germans that the Fatherland could impose its own terms of peace, because the world, and especially America, was bound to come to Germany for fertilizers.

The Government has just presented a report to the Reichstag containing the warning that Spain has unexpectedly entered the market as a large producer of potash, and the German mine owners are urged to organize their forces to meet the new situation. Germania says: "Our supposed independence as regards the fixing of our own prices is gone."

GERMANY HAS LOST HER LAST CHANCE

LONDON, July 22.—The British people are determined completely to eliminate German influence and activity from their social, commercial and political life. For a generation previous to the great war insidious German propaganda made its influence felt in British commercial affairs, and in the belief of the majority, in policy and administration of public affairs. The people are thoroughly aroused and determined that until German Kultur ceases to be the German creed the people of that nationality must be foreigners to the British, and must be segregated from British activities.

Since the outbreak of the war 25,000 civilian enemy aliens have been interned, but there still remain at liberty, though registered, nearly 22,000 of these nationalities. That this number will be greatly reduced in the near future is assured by the prevailing sentiment, "A German at liberty in Britain is as menace to Britain," but even more drastic action is being taken against those of German birth in Britain. All naturalizations granted those of enemy alien origin since the war will be cancelled and others naturalized previous to the war and shown to be out of sympathy with the British purpose will lose their citizenship. Nor will any German be permitted to become a British subject for at least five years after peace is declared.

Even such sweeping measures do not satisfy the majority of the British people, and more far-reaching action is possible. German and Austrian banks in Britain, the most powerful agencies in propaganda of peaceful penetration, are being wound up and such institutions will not be allowed in Britain again while the memory of German efforts to paralyze Britain remain. All great British concerns are eliminating German interests.

Check German Metal Control.

Most important of all is the unified effort of Britain and the dominions to check forever the German effort to control metals essential to success both in trade and war. The Imperial conference has agreed that such metals in the Empire must be controlled by the British Empire for the British people and proved friends. The same policy on other essential war materials has been adopted throughout the Empire. It is equally true of the products, formerly the monopoly of Germany, of dyes and potash. The German Empire will no longer be able to place its citizens in security in Britain while they work for German interests in British concerns. Germany cannot paralyze British trade by securing control of essential metals and other similar resources with the Empire, nor threaten the stability of British industry by the monopoly of certain essential products.

British seamen will complete the segregation of German influence from British affairs by refusing to work with Germans or transport German products for a long period after the war. This country now understands why the Germans took the British oath of citizenship, why the Germans sought to control British institutions, commercial or otherwise, why German capital flowed into various parts of the Empire to control rare and necessary metals, and why Britain so nearly fell a victim when Germany struck. The slogan in Britain today is: "The British Empire for Britons."

STEFANSSON WILL REMAIN AT FORT YUKON

NEW YORK, July 17.—Vihjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, stricken with fever last April at Herschel Island and taken to Fort Yukon on a dog sledge, will spend the summer there in order to recover his strength, according to a letter from him received here today by the Explorers' Club. "I am able now to walk a mile," the letter said, "but only at the cost of becoming more tired than walking 40 at this time last year. The physician says it will take from three to six months of rest to get me in trim again. It seems likely, then, that I shall spend the Summer here."
