SAD FATALITY AT ALLISTON. LOT 63—On Friday night, 4th inst., the lifeless body of Mr. Thomas Hayter, well-known resident of Murray River, was found on public highway. It appears that Mr. Hayter, having visited several places during the day had left Mr. L. J. Acorn's house, Alliston, about 10 p. m. on his way to his home at Murray River, about three miles or more distant. Mr. John Beck, Alliston, while returning homeward, noticed in the faint moonlight, a man lying on the road apparently dead, and at some distance from L. J. Acorn's gate. He immediately called Mr. Acorn and they identified the man to be Thomas Hayter, life being extinct. Later on the arrival of Mr. Hayter's brother, the body was taken to the home of Mr. Acorn temporarily. It is thought that death was due to heart-failure or some weakness, so that a coroner's inquest was deemed unnecessary. The sudden passing of the late Mr. Hayter comes as a severe shock to his family and relatives and to them the sympathy of the community is extended.

The terror of Asthma comes like a thief in the night with its dreadful throttling, robbing its victim of breath. It seems beyond the power of human aid to relieve until one trial is made of that remarkable preparation, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which more than any other acts quickly and surely on the air passages and brings blessed help and comfort. No home where asthma is present in the least degree should be without this great remedy.

NICHOLAS ROBERTSON.

There passed away at his home Mount Albion, P. E. Island, on March 30th, 1930, Nicholas Robertson, aged 83 years. Deceased was a son of the late Nicholas Robertson, and Maria MacPherson his wife, and has one brother Benjamin Robertson, of Lot 48, and two sisters, Mrs. Maria Gay, of Hazelbrook, and Mrs. Amelia MacDonald, of Boston Mass. He married Elizabeth Rankin of Mount Albion, who survives him. There are also three sons Frederick on the homestead, Prof. Malcolm Stewart Robertson, of Raleigh, North Carolina U. S. A. and Freyland Alexander Robertson, of Vancouver, B. C.

Mr. Robertson was an excellent citizen and was very highly respected by all who knew him. He was industrious and thrifty, and many partook the hospitality of his home. He enjoyed good health until a few weeks before he passed away, and even then he suffered little pain, but gradually sank down in weakness, reconciled and uncomplaining, and his end was peaceful.

He was a consistent member and good supporter of the Church of Scotland, and although well advanced in years, will be greatly missed in everything pertaining to the public welfare. The funeral was held on Tuesday April 1st. The roads were in bad condition, but the attendance was large. The services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Ewen MacDougall, of Charlottetown and interment took place in Birch Hill Cemetery.

POWNAI NEWS

The writer has returned from an extended visit with her sister Mrs. Harry MacDonald, South Lake. To say she had an enjoyable holiday is putting it mild. While there she visited Red Point, Kingsboro, East Baltic, Souris and Elmira and found the people free, kind, generous, thoughtful, considerate and hospitable. In denomination the people are Baptist and their pastor Rev. Mr. Bell is a forceful and interesting speaker. Mixed farming is carried on by the majority of the people, while a few are engaged in fishing, trading and sawing lumber. Fox ranches are conspicuous by their absence.

The Northumberland Strait has been open practically all winter. The ice in the lake is breaking up and the morning air is filled with music of the wild geese.

The Elmira branch of the railroad is proving a great blessing to the people of the eastern part of the Island. On the arrival of the train from Charlottetown to Elmira at 7 p. m., the station and post office presents a lively scene. Here the mail is sorted and many a young man goes home with a joyous smile on his face. "Two hear's beating as one."

On Saturday night March 15th, the writer was the guest of honor at a party given her by the young folk of South Lake and Kingsboro. Music, games and refreshments whiled away the hours all too quickly. At the close the guest in a short speech thanked those present for the enjoyable time. The singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," and "We'll Not Get Home Till The Morning," brought proceedings to a close.

Back again in Pownal, the writer has received a big ovation and a hearty welcome from all. So here's hoping she may live up to the expectations of the readers of Pownal notes.

The March meeting of the W. M. S. of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Brown, Mrs. H. E. Campbell, presided. The meeting opened with silent prayer and meditation. Minutes of January and February meetings were read. Roll call was answered by thirteen members. Two visitors were present. The progress as outlined in the Missionary Monthly was followed out. Watch tower was as follows:—Among our new Canadians, Mrs. Calvin Wood; On Turkey, Mrs. Edw. Stewart; Japan, Mrs. Brown. Taken from the monthly missionary Outlook notes—Christian Stewartship, Mrs. Roddy MacDonald; Devotional leaflet, "He is Counting on You," Mrs. N. MacKinnon. The question relating to the duties of each officer in the Women's Missionary Society and C. G. I. F. groups was taken part in by every member present and proved very interesting. Mrs. Arthur Moore and Mrs. H. E. Campbell were in charge of same. Meeting closed with sentence prayers. A pleasing feature of this meeting was a letter of thanks from Mrs. Sarah Jones which speaks for itself as follows:—

To the Women's Missionary Society, Dear Sisters:—My heart goes out to you in love and thankfulness for your kind remembrance on my natal day, for the present of such a large cake, with its bright array of candles reminding me of the years that have passed so swiftly, also the large box of candy. The loving Saviour Himself said: "A cup of cold water given in the name of a disciple shall not lose its reward. May God's richest blessings rest over all who so generously gave to cheer an aged sister. God has so honored us as to be laborers with Him in His vineyard. Ever remembering this blessed promise, whatsoever you ask the Father in My name that will I do, and as we blend our petitions at a Throne of Grace for those who never heard of a Saviour's love, and for those that carry the glad tidings He hath said, Lo I am with you always, blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love. Although ninety-two years of age and confined to her room aunt Sarah penned the above which reflects a heart filled with love and devotion for the work of the Master.—P.

WINDSOR ROLAND MACNEILL

"One more to make the strange "Beyond" seem fair".

On January 9th, the angle of death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacNeill, Cardigan and claimed for it's own their son Windsor at the early age of 30 years.

The loved and loving son brother, friend died where manhood's morning almost touches noon, just in the happiest hour of all the voyage when eager winds are kissing ever sail. He had not passed on life's highway the stone which marks the highest point, but while yet in love with life and raptured with the world he passed to silence and pathetic dust.

Win as he was usually called received his early education at the New Perth and Cardigan Schools and Charlottetown Business College. He then decided to take up Buttermaking. He managed several factories on the Island successfully then took a course at Ontario Agricultural College Guelph, winning several prizes while there. After college closed he went out to the Canadian West where he managed two large creameries at Cudworth and Lanigan Sask. He came back to Charlottetown N. B. with the Farmers Co-operative Co. as Buttermaker. Some years later he went with the Fredericton Ice Cream and Butter Co. now the General Dairies of N. B. Two years ago his health failing, he gave up and came home. His father a veteran cheesemaker and Buttermaker taking his place with the Co. He gained in health for sometime, spending some months in the hospital. He then came home last June, where he remained being tenderly nursed by his mother, until he answered the "Call" on the above date. At his bedside were his parents brother Lynwood and two sisters Florence, teacher at Ammanville and Elsie student at Prince of Wales College. Another brother of the Regiment National Bank of Boston, was to Elmira was not present.

Windsor was a young man of splendid character and had a humor and loving disposition. He was very upright and well liked by all. He charged all public trust. He was the great, yet sympathetic, weak and with a willing hand gave alms. His intellectual was greatly admired by all those who had the pleasure of conversing with him. He was ever patient, never complaining even in his most trying hours but was perfectly resigned to the will of God. In every storm of life he was oak and rock but in the sunshine he was vine and flower.

During his illness he was visited by the clergymen who were supplying the church and then the present pastor Rev. W. E. Davies. He was always ready to listen to the reading of Holy Writ and to converse there on. His bible being his dearest treasure, it was always near him and often read. Rev. J. C. Martin a former pastor came to visit him in his last days and spoke words of great comfort to him and the family. The Elders of the Church also visited him often. His funeral on Sunday Jan. 12th, was largely attended. The singing of the Shepherds Psalm and prayer by the Rev. J. C. Martin comprised the service at the house, then the remains were taken to the church where the service was conducted by the Rev. W. E. Davies assisted by the Rev. J. C. Martin, the singing of favorite hymns and prayer was followed by an address by Rev. Davies, the text being John 14 2: 3. Mr. Davies spoke very forcibly on the "Heavenly Home" "The House of many Mansions" then a solo by Mrs. Davies "God shall wipe away all tears" was much appreciated by all. A short address and prayer by Mr. Martin ended the service.

The casket covered with beautiful flowers was taken from the rail to near the door, the congregation reverently standing with bowed heads. The casket being opened the congregation slowly filed out, taking their last fond look at one who was a favorite with young and old. The service at the grave was conducted by Rev. W. E. Davies who committed to mother earth the kindred dust of a dutiful son and an affectionate brother, there to await the Resurrection Morn.

Lord Gladstone

LORD GLADSTONE—RT. HON. Heretofore John Gladstone, M.A., P.C., G.C.M.G., G.B.E., First Viscount—deceased in London, was the son of William Gladstone. He was born in Downing Street, but never attained it afterwards. For he inherited few of his mighty father's talents. He was even less like W.E. than Austen Chamberlain was like Joseph; but to his credit—and despite Lloyd George's sneer at "a dwarf strutting about in giant's clothing"—it could be said for him that he never cultivated a resemblance. He was energetic, courageous, absolutely honest, no fool. Sport—he was a better sportsman than politician—kept him young, and in his seventies he looked more like fifty.

Educated at Eton and Oxford, and initiated into politics as his father's private secretary, he had an excessively modest career. He held a suc-

Avalanche

A single rock bounding down the hillside gathering others in its wake and uprooting, destroying, as it goes. Avalanche—disaster. So it is with life. Today, safe, prosperous, secure, with liabilities balanced by possessions. Then the unforeseen—the unexpected, bad debts, economic upheaval, falling markets, maybe loss of a partner and good will, or any one of a dozen rocks that may start the avalanche of disaster.

These are risks every business man must face, but the right kind of insurance gives him certain protection against them all.

ession of minor posts—Under Secretaries, Financial secretaries—until his work as whip for his party in the 1906 elections got him a Home Secretary ship, which he held until 1910. Then, ennobled and decorated, he went to South Africa as its first Governor-General.

Returning to England in 1914 he sat in the Lords as if it were a painful duty and not a pleasure, saying little one way or the other about anything. In 1922, when Asquith and Lord Grey were campaigning against Lloyd George, they called him to be Liberal whip once more. Obeying for "the sake of the cause," his party got nowhere in particular.

Lord Gladstone apparently did nothing to change the course of human progress in Britain or anywhere else, but as an ordinary-minded, sport-loving, "inherited tradition" man, who had a pretty shrewd idea of where he stood in the scheme of things where.

he did nothing to bring discredit upon either his name or his country.

DOGS ENTITLED TO SAME CONSIDERATION ON STREETS AS PEDESTRIANS

HAMILTON, ONT., April 8.—Because he drove his car over a Boston bull dog, Robert Miller, this city, was found guilty of cruelty to animals in police court Saturday. He was allowed out on suspended sentence, but must make good the value of the deceased animal which was $80.

Magistrate Burling ruled that dogs were entitled to the same consideration on the streets as pedestrians.
