REPORT OF DIOCESAN CHURCH SOCIETY READ AT ST. PETER'S

Mr. W. G. Hogg, Dele gate To Annual Meetings Of D. C. S. Rea ds Interesting Report.

In St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday evening, the following report was read by Mr. W. G. Hogg who attended the recent session of the Diocesan Church Society held in Halifax:

As your delegate to Synod, it is in order that you be given some account of its proceedings. I might do so in few words by simply making the satement, it is over, I am home. To do so, however, would be neglecting the responsibility you placed upon me and without going too much into detail, I shall endeavor to at least outline the most important events.

The Fifty-second Session of the Church of England in the Diocese of Nova Scotia was opened at 7.30 Tuesday morning with a celebration of the Holy Eucharist in All Saints Cathedral, immediately followed by breakfast for the Clergy in St. Lukes Hall.

At 10:30 sharp the delegates wended their way to St. Pauls Hall for roll call and organization. This being followed by a quiet hour for the clergy conducted by Rev. Canon Gower-Rees, rector of St. Georges, Montreal. After luncheon, which was served to clergy and laity at the Church of England Institute, we met at 2.30 in St. Paul's Hall, at which time His Grace the Archbishop delivered his charge, the spacious hall being filled even the galleries being occupied. The charge was a most comprehensive, statesmanlike survey not alone of matters demanding the attention of the Synod as being related strictly to Diocesan life, but it also reminded those who heard it, of the fact that the "Holy Church throughout the world" is one and indivisible, and, if one member suffer, all the others suffer with it. It was heard with close attention and at various points the applause indicated strong approval. The reference to the Revised Prayer Book, and the airing of differences of opinion regarding theological questions in the secular press receiving such a salvo as seemed to indicate strong accord with His Grace's attitude in that particular. With reference to the Revision of Prayer Book, the Archbishop said:

"I had not intended saying anything about the Revised Prayer Book, which has caused so much controversy in England; but, for many reasons, I am almost tempted to change my mind, and yet, the more I think of it, the less I care to speak about it, especially as any discussion here would be entirely out of order, as we in Canada have nothing to do with it. We are not subject to English Ecclesiastical law

But there is one thing I feel impelled to say and that is in defence of my brother Bishops in England whose action has been greatly misunderstood. Whatever they did in this connection would, humanely speaking, have been the source of controversy and divided opinions. But I believe the Revised Prayer Book was an honest and painstaking effort on their part comprehensively to meet the diverse demands of members of the church of all schools of thought. How far they succeeded is where question has arisen. Attacks made upon them and suggestions of sinister intentions are wholly unwarranted. They never dreamed that rubrics which they proposed to meet the existing conditions would have read into them meanings which were not intended."

Theological Matter in Secular Press

"If one feels impelled to put his views into print there are church papers in plenty wherein a controversy can be held and members of the Church alone could follow it, but others would not have the spectacle thrust upon them of those who should be brothers in spirit wrangling with each other in a manner as useless as it is unseemly. One who has been more free with words than his opponent may have his friends pat him on the back and declare he got the best of the argument. He swells with pride and struts forth as a victor proclaimed. But what good has it done? And what of his opopnent whose friends are equally sure that he was the winner?"

This concluded the afternoon Session and in the evening we met in the Cathedral at 8 o'clock for Evensong, the preacher being the Rev. Canon Gower-Rees. The subject he announced was "The Church," Her Responsibility and Her Mission. In closing his sermon after painting a vivid word picture of Christ and His Life, His Personality, he asked the following questions: "Are we in danger today of hiding Christ behind the Church, of hiding Him behind the Ordinances, of so increasing literatures that men are wandering from the inspired record, the gospels. Religion must master the world, or the world will suborn religion," declared the Speaker. "An apologetic small-spirited church is of no use in the world."

Wednesday at 10 o'clock nomination took place closing at 12. The reports of the various consolidated funds were received and passed, then the changes in the canons of the Diocese, notice of which was given last Synod by Chancellor Harris were brought up for action. The most noteworthy being, the canon 69A, which provides in the event of a vacancy in a parish that the Church Wardens and Synod delegates shall corisult with the Bishop in the selection of a suitable rector and in the event of a parish being vacant for a period of eighteen months, then the Bishop shall nominate without further consultation. This, after considerable discussion much of which was useless, was put to a vote and carried.

Another important item which was carried with very little discussion dealing with the remittance of money received by the various parishes from the right side of the envelopes. This must now be remitted quarterly and must be kept in a bank account separate from the general parish funds and the old practice of financing local needs from that quarter must cease.

Dr. Moore of Kings College gave an excellent report on the progress of the rebuilding fund, stating that the objective of $400,000, had been passed by some $60,000, and the pledges were coming in splendidly. Some, of course, had fallen by the wayside but as a whole the results were most satisfactory. He made an appeal for all Church members to be on the lookout for students for Kings. At the conclusion of his report the Synod tendered its thanks to the Doctor for his splendid work and the gratifying results. This took the form of a standing vote and was unanimous.

Dean Lloyd then made an appeal for the completion of the Cathedral, urging that the present temporary front be replaced and the word proceeded with. Dean Lloyd spoke of the Cathedral as a diocesan centre and the plans for its future. As a result of his appeal, a committee was appointed to go into the question as recommended by His Grace the Archbishop.

Other matters, such as Social Service, School for Blind were dealt with and the Fifty-second Session of the Synod of Nova Scotia brought to a close, the Archbishop giving his blessing to all assembled.

One thing that impressed me forcibly on my return home was the fact that our Island papers contained nothing relative to our Synod Session, while every paper in Halifax devoted columns to it. I took it upon myself to bring this lack of interest to the attention of one of the City papers with the happy result that Friday, June 8th, they began the publication of the Archbishop's charge. One could not help but be impressed with the wholehearted support given the Clergy by the Laity of Halifax. They are a splendid lot of Churchmen, especially those of the Cathedral, and are ever willing to be of service. Of the seven lay readers installed and invested with their badge of office at the early Eucharist Wednesday morning, four were from Halifax, two from other parts of Nova Scotia and one from Charlottetown. Through the growth of this body from year to year, our vacant parishes can be kept together and by God's Grace I trust that some from this branch of the Church's servants may serve Him in the higher service of Holy Priesthood.

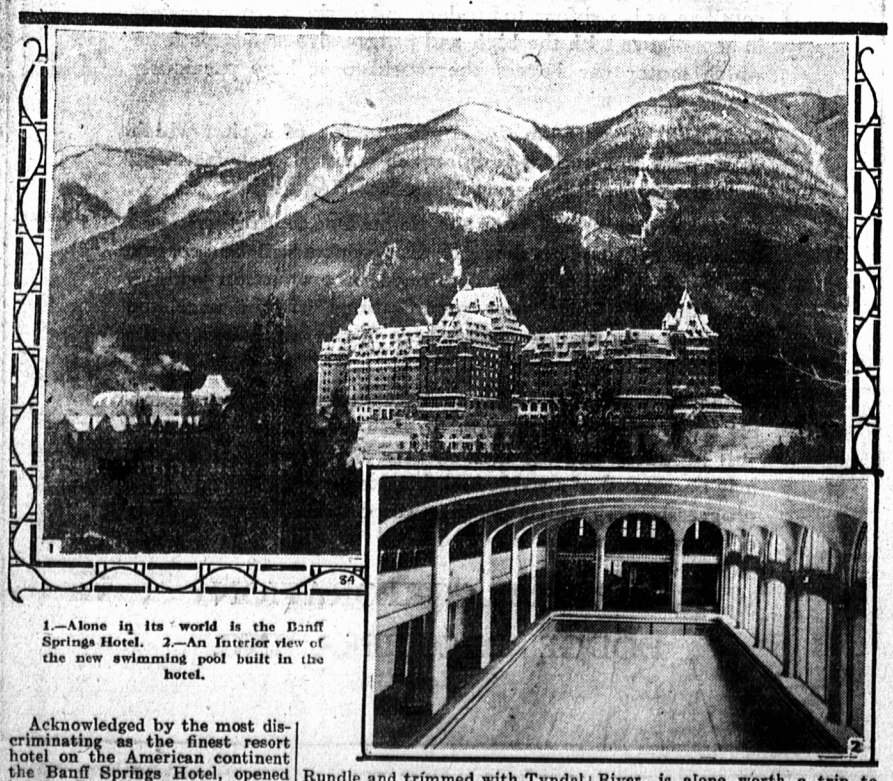
FOR EATING INSECTS

For eating insects spray with paris green, a serie of lead, hellebore, or some patent poisonous preparation. Paris green is usually applied at the rate of 1 oz. dissolved in ten gallons of water. It is well to add a couple of ounces of freshly slaked lime to make this mixture stick and to prevent burning. Arsenate of lead in powdered form is applied at the rate of 1 scant oz. to a full gallon of water. As hellebore rapidly weakens when exposed to the air, a fresh supply of this poison must be secured every year and applied at the rate of 1 oz. to a gallon of warm water. It may be dusted on dry, when the foliage is damp. Cut worms which eat through the stems of plants close to the surface of the soil require special treatment. These grubs are about three-quarters of of an inch long, gray in color and about one-third inch in diameter. If the tomato or other plant withers and topples over, the cut worms are generally responsible. Cultivate thoroughly and spread a little poisoned bran around the plants. Mix one quart of bran with one teaspoonful of paris green add one tablespoonful of molasses, with enough water to moisten the bran. Paper collars around the stems of tomato and similar plants will also protect from these pests.

Mountain Resort Acquires New Charms



1.—Alone in its world is the Banff Springs Hotel. 2.—An interior view of the new swimming pool built in the hotel.

Acknowledged by the most discriminating as the finest resort hotel on the American continent the Banff Springs Hotel, opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company on May 15, inaugurates a new era for visitors to the Rocky Mountains. This internationally famous center has been in process of rebuilding during the past two winter seasons and now stands complete, magnificent as to construction and furnishings and beyond compare as to beauty of surroundings.

The Banff Springs Hotel is so constructed as to blend, in the beauty of its architecture, with the snow capped peaks of the mountain ranges. Built of native stone quarried from the base of Mount Rundle and trimmed with Tyndal stone from Manitoba the building itself, complies with all the tenets of dignity and good taste.

The Banff Springs provides accommodation for 1100 guests, and contains 600 bedrooms with baths in addition to a large number of suites of marked beauty and comfort. The layout of the public rooms and lounges has been carefully thought out, and these rooms are especially appealing in point of design and richness of furnishings. The main lounges are things of beauty in themselves and the view, down the valley of the Bow River, is alone worth a trip to Banff.

The building of this great hotel or rather the rebuilding, has been going forward for several years, but the construction work has not interfered with the comfort of the summer guests. The work has been carried on during the winter months. Enormous wooden shells were erected and heated throughout with steam, and the work done with the same ease as if at the height of summer. It is interesting to note in this connection that this system of construction involved a monthly consumption of coal of more than 700 tons.

THE GHOST WON SAT'DAY'S RACE

The second Yacht race of the season took place Saturday afternoon on the Charlottetown harbor, over the same course as on the previous Saturday, starting points from Stake boat off Carragher's wharf to Rosebank buoy, to Park Buoy to East River Buoy, twice around and was won by the Ghost, owned by Mr. Ivan Reddin and sailed by John Lund in the remarkable fast time of one hour, eleven and three quarter minutes.

Four boats answered the starters call on Saturday, The Ghost, John Lund, P-no, Messrs King and Clark, Zenith, Messrs Irwin and McInnis, Minigoo, Messrs Essory, Webster and Harrington.

At 2.23 the starter's gun sent the four fleet little craft away under a strong breeze and well bunched, but the Minigoo, who got away to rather a bad start.

The Ghost, Zenith and P-no kept well together on the hitch to Rosebank Buoy, the Ghost getting a lead of one minute on the buoy, rounding at 2.29, followed by the P-no and Zenith together.

On the run to the Park Buoy the Zenith cut the lead of the Ghost to forty five seconds, the P-no a half minute later.

The Ghost on the run to East River Buoy opened the gap still further, rounding at 2.50 1-2 and the Zenith and P-no together at 2.54, the P-no sailing into second position at the turn but was passed almost immediately by the Zenith, the Minigoo closed the gap on the second and third boats to fifteen seconds.

At the stake boat and starting the second leg of the journey, the Minigoo backed into second place, but was not within striking distance of the Ghost, the main fight of the race now centred with the P-no, Zenith and Minigoo.

At Rosebank Buoy the Ghost had a lead of four and a half minutes, getting the buoy at 3.05, the Minigoo second.

On the run to the Park Buoy the Zenith once again slipped into second place, the Ghost got the buoy at 3.13 1-2 and the Zenith at 3.17 1-2 the P-no dropping far to the rear.

The Ghost rounded East River buoy at 3.25, five minutes ahead of the Zenith, the "Goo" fifteen seconds behind with the P-no three minutes in the rear.

The boats held these same positions at the finish, Ghost crossing the line at 3.34 3-4, Zenith, 3.40, Minigoo 3.40 1-2 and P-no 3.45.

The new course is proving quite popular, not only to the Yachtsmen but also to the spectators, who can now view the race from any of the wharves along the waterfront and the four little craft that are keeping yacht racing alive in Charlottetown are sure putting up a fine brand of racing and deserve a good following on race days.

Mr. Mac Irwin again placed his nice motor launch at the disposal of the race committee on Saturday. The following were the officials of the race.

Starter—Mr. Frank McDonald.
Judges—Mr. Arthur Campbell and Mr. John Chandler.
Timer—Mr. Arthur Campbell.

FIGHTING THE BUGS

Now that the garden is up and growing one must mobilize sprayers and sprayers material to fight the millions of insects and other pests which prey on flowers and vegetables. Roughly speaking these pests are divided into two groups, those that eat holes in the foliage, and those that suck out the juices. In the first case, poison is applied, while the "suckers", the damage from which is apparent by the plants wilting and dying, are destroyed with a spray that will burn them.

Dyspepsia Troubled Him for Many Years

Mr. J. Savoy, Loggieville, N.B., writes:—"I have suffered for many years from dyspepsia and could not seem to get any relief.

"One day I told my wife I thought I would try a bottle of and when I had half of it taken I felt a lot better, so I continued until I had taken two bottles, and now have no pains and no coated tongue, and feel that I am completely rid of my trouble."
