Rev. Mr. Carnegie of the Summerside Presbyterian Church read the Scripture. Rev. George Gough gave a personal testimony possessed by the late Mrs. Gorrill. The address was given by the Minister of the Church, Rev. W. G. Dickson who spoke on the topic "Death is swallowed up in victory" in which he paid glowing tribute to Mrs. Gorrill, mentioning her faithful Christian witness, her love and loyalty to her Master, her sacrificial service to her Church especially in the Women's Missionary Society and in the Baby Bird Club and in her love for little children who delighted to come to her home. She was a devoted wife and a faithful mother whose children could rise up and call her blessed. She was a popular citizen and a fine neighbor and for all these things she was a Minister stated, "Death is swallowed up in victory" for Jesus is the Resurrection and the Life, and we can say, "O Death, where is thy sting, O grave, where is thy victory." She will be greatly missed in the community but she has gone to be with the Christ whom she loved and whom she served.

There is one sister, Lucy, and a brother, Gordon on the old homestead; her brothers are Heber of Alberton; Hessel, Leigh and Henry of Hingham, Mass., and Johnson of Seattle.

The following are the grandchildren: Regan and Douglas, Roberta, John, June, Barry, Thelma, and the great grandchildren, Norma Adams, Jean Adams, Grant Thomas.
