Nurmi's Career Ends In Comedy, Turns Trainer

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 31—(A.P.)—Paavo Nurmi, at the age of 38, with nine world records to his credit, has had his last race, and this time, it is claimed, his spiked shoes are being hung up for good.

It was a funny race, a race that made 9,000 spectators laugh, and as such a strange end to the athletic career of a man who has always taken his running seriously. His opponents, in a 300-metre race, were picked for civic importance rather than ability to run, including the Helsingfors' police commissioner, members of parliament, bankers, opera singers, and so forth. Each of his opponents ran 200 metres each.

But Nurmi, adapting his pace to that of his different competitors, took it all very seriously. The proceeds of the race, about $2,000, went to the Finnish Olympic fund, and Nurmi himself will now devote a good share of his time to coaching the runners who will represent Finland at Berlin next year.

When it was all over, with the crowd clamoring for a speech, the Flying Finn walked slowly and carefully in his dressing room, with not the slightest change of expression.

He has been out of serious competition since his suspension in 1931 by the Finnish Athletic Association for allegedly breaking certain rules as to amateur status. Various efforts have been made to secure his reinstatement, without success, and Nurmi himself is said to be still embittered about the ruling which prevented him from competing in the 1932 Olympic Games at Los Angeles.

Babe Ruth May Assume Role Of Promoter

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Babe Ruth said today that he was "seriously considering" an offer to devote his future to introducing baseball into Great Britain and other foreign countries.

"While baseball is really our pastime," he said, "I see no reason why it can't be built up in other countries so that in the time of our children it would be an international as well as a national sport."

The Babe spoke at the monthly luncheon of the Circus Saints and Sinners' Club which initiated him as one of its "fall guys."

Denies Theft Of Automobile

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—Arthur Pelletier, formerly of Edmundston, N. B., was given a chance to change his plea to not guilty to theft when he appeared for sentence on a charge of attempted theft of an automobile.

Pelletier, before Judge Maurice Tetreau, had pleaded guilty previously but today he stated he had never driven a car in his life, had no intention of stealing a car because he did not know how to drive one.

The court said he would be given a chance to prove his innocence and the altered plea was allowed.

Brave Rescues In Storm Tossed Seas

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
MULGRAVE, N. S., Oct. 31—Deadman Island claimed no victims when the British freighter, Berwindia, was battered to pieces on its jagged rocks, and the crew of 33 was landed safely here tonight by the salvage tug Foundation Franklin.

The rescue was accomplished on a storm-swept sea Sunday morning while great breakers crashed over the ill-fated vessel and broke her in two.

Besides the Halifax tug, the Japanese freighter England Maru had answered the distress calls, and ways taken his running seriously.

Six men of the Berwindia's crew volunteered to row half the men to the tug and return for the remainder. With mountainous seas against them they were exhausted when they reached the Franklin.

Death awaited any tired man who put out on a sea like that, and the captain of the England Maru advised Captain J. Williams of the Berwindia that the volunteers were in no condition to return. He added that he was sending one of his own lifeboats out to take off the remaining men.

Curb Rumors Re Forced Sale Of Wheat

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Oct. 31—Denial of rumors of government intention to force Canadian wheat on the markets even at sacrifice prices followed the first meeting today of the Cabinet Committee to deal with the wheat situation. Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce and chairman of the wheat committee issued the following statement: "There are rumors abroad the government intends to direct that the western wheat now held by the Wheat Board be sold, even at sacrifice prices. The rumors are entirely without foundation. Under the law the board headed by Mr. McFarland (John I. McFarland) has full authority with regard to the selling policy."

Aged 31 Is Mother Of 14

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

KENNETT CREEK, N. S., Oct. 31—At the age of 31, Mrs. John P. Pine is the mother of three sets of twins and eight other children—14 in all—ranging from Frank, who is nearly 18, to Rae and Raymond just six days old.

Mr. and Mrs. Pine were living in Toronto, they would be well up in the Miller 1926-1936 baby derby. Since 1926 the young mother has given birth to 10 children, all of them very much alive.

Feeding and clothing the brood is a tremendous job, but, living on a farm, John Pine estimates it doesn't cost him any more than a family of four would in the city. A barrel of flour every ten days, shoes and heavy clothing form a problem, but outside of that they live off the land and the older ones are always ready to help around home or in the fields.

Between Frank and the twins are Elroy 16; Kenneth, 14; Hazel 12; Lillian, 10; Norah and Norris, 9; Evelyn 7; Minnie and Marion, 6; William 3; Harris, 1.

RHUBARB FOR WINTER

(Experimental Farms Note)
Fresh, crisp, pink rhubarb can be had during the winter months if the plants are rhubarb grown for forcing roots for forcing. The roots system of this plant is a storehouse in which the necessary food has been stored and when given the required check and rest period, will produce an abundance of leaf stalks.

First arrange for crowns that have been in a plantation for at least two years or until they are well developed. Crowns that are over four years in a plantation do not force as well as those of the younger plants. In late October or early November, just before the ground freezes up, the roots should be dug, allowing a good ball of earth to adhere. Leave these on the surface of the ground without protection until they become frozen through. Sub-zero freezing, however, is not recommended. Four or six crowns of fair size will, as a rule, produce enough rhubarb for a family of three or four.

The crowns or roots being given the required period of dormancy, are then brought into a dark cellar, where the temperature can be maintained at 50 degrees F. placed on the cellar floor and covered with soft, sand or cinders. The soil, sand or cinders hold the moisture around the roots. Another very good way is to place one large crown in a bushel hamper, or box, packing soil around it to hold the moisture. When several roots or crowns are to be used they can each be placed in a hamper or box. This method is very convenient for handling, where small numbers of roots are to be forced. In commercial forcing, the roots are placed as closely together as possible, on the forcing house or under greenhouse benches, and soil, sand or cinders placed around them. Water is applied when required.

To give continuity of harvest the roots or crowns should be brought

Timber Directors Retire From Board

(C.P. Cable by Guardian's Special Wire)
LONDON, Oct. 31—All seven directors of Timber Distributors, Limited, of London are tendering their resignations following an informal meeting of shareholders here yesterday.

According to the Morning Post, the resignations are a sequel to difficulty understood to have been experienced by the company earlier in the season in disposing of 400,000 standards (72,000,000 cubic feet) of Russian timber for the importation of which contracts had been made. Timber Distributors, Ltd., was registered in March, 1931, with the object of arranging for the importation, sales and distribution of Russian timber through specified companies.

It was understood that the company, faced with the threat of uncontrolled exports from Russia revised its price list and brought into operation an arrangement providing in the event of 90,000 of the remaining 100,000 standards being taken up, that the purchasers of the first 300,000 standards would be given to the benefit of the retrospective "fall clause."

In this way the original purchasers would be reimbursed for the loss which would otherwise have resulted from their having contracted to take supplies earlier in the season. (The "fall clause" provides for a reduction in the contract price if economic conditions "force" such a step.)

It was understood however that the terms offered covered only about half the difference between the old and the new price lists and many felt that more favorable terms might have been offered.

A new board will be appointed shortly. The company will issue a statement later today.
