

Laugh at Sunburn

A few hours' exposure to the summer sun plays havoc with tender skins—besides the pain, there's the unsightly peeling-off that follows.

But you can laugh at sunburn if you have a bottle of Penslar Almond and Cucumber Cream handy. This soothing, cooling lotion stops the smarting and stinging in a few moments.

Better yet—apply it to the exposed skin before going out and there is very little danger of getting sunburned.

You really ought to try this. It will convince you that this word "Penslar" stands for the highest quality in Toilet Preparations and Remedies.

IMPERIALS WIN FROM NORTH-ENDERS.

A most exciting and well contested game of baseball was played at Victoria Park last evening between the Imps. of Bruce Stewart & Co., Ltd. and the Northenders. As the Enders had won the first two games, the Imps went out to play the game of their life, and they were certainly rewarded in winning by the score of 9-4. The game went the full nine innings. A feature of the game was the wonderful pitching of Vickerson of the Imps. Next game on Thursday evening, 24th June, at 6.15, when it is hoped a large crowd will be on hand to see a good game of ball.

Notes on the game—McQuaid of Northenders and McDonald of Imps played faultless ball at first. Hilchy of the Imps was absent from the game, his witty sayings being sadly missed by the fans. Tom White umpired in his usual satisfactory way. Little Wacky McEachern, a new addition to the Imps, played a dandy game, his hitting and fielding being first-class. Jack Turner's hitting for Northenders came when hits meant runs.

WEST KENT GETS REVENGE.

The second game of baseball between West Kent and Queen Street Schools was played at Victoria Park yesterday afternoon, the former winning by a score of 15-11. Williams, the Southpaw Pitcher for the W.K.S., held the opponents in check from the third inning, when he entered the box to the end, allowing them only 4 runs.

SUMMERSIDE BOY WOUNDED COMRADES TAKE HIM TO SAFETY

The following interesting letter has been received by Colonel Crockett, of York, from his son, Parker, who is now at the front.

France, May 21, 1915.

Dear Father:— I am writing you while in the trenches. It is quite a long time since I wrote to you, but the artillery are still hard at it. The infantry are usually quiet during the day. We came into the trenches four days ago. Do not know how long we will be in.

We have had it pretty hard. Lost quite a number of boys, including two Majors, killed an on Lieutenant wounded four times, but not seriously. As far as we know the casualties total upwards of two hundred.

We had only one officer, Capt. Frost in charge of two double companies but he is good officer, cool, and very careful of his men. The evening we came in, we were told that an attack was to be made commencing at 4.30 p.m. We got into our first trench all right carrying about sixty pounds of equipment, but lightened it somewhat before advancing.

The first trench we occupied was the one occupied by the British for the last few months up to about a week ago. Then we got to a German trench, and such a sight, it would be impossible for me to describe. It was simply torn to pieces and riddled and the dead lying all around. Also German equipment, rifles and ammunition of all kinds. From here we had to cross about 600 to 800 yards by sections. No. 1 and 3 Company, No. 2 and 4 being our reserve. Well, off we went on the double, when the German artillery opened fire on us.

We made a rush for about 50 yards then took cover the best way we could find and believe me we did hug the ground while the shells poured in on us and men were being killed all around. It was here we lost our Major and from twenty to thirty men, perhaps more. But we got about 400 yards and received orders to entrench ourselves. We worked with our entrenching tools, and our hands and feet. When a shell came we dropped down and that was pretty often, but at last we were entrenched.

Just then we learned that Delaney from Summerside had been hit. He had mentioned on the way across being hit with a piece of a stone, but we paid no attention to it then. When he was hit, he, Corney and I were lying together. His head was between my feet. After we had made our trench a bit safer, I examined where he was hit. His trousers were covered with blood and I found that a piece of shrapnel had gone into his hip and had not come out. With his First Aid bandage I did the best I could. At dusk he intended going back to the first dressing station but by that time he could not walk and the stretcher bearers had all gone with wounded. We took him over beside a ruined building and made his as comfortable as possible and left him resting quite easily while we went back to finish our trenches. I reported him to one of the A. M. C. who promised to take him right away. About eleven o'clock we advanced again and entrenched ourselves in the first line of British trenches but did not charge that night.

Just before daylight we retired to some trenches in the rear. On the way back I ran in to see that Delaney had been taken in but found him still lying there. I reported to Captain Fox who upon he gave me four men—I took off my overcoat, got two poles and made a stretcher on which we carried him along together with another fellow of our Company. His wound was not serious. He will be back with us again.

Since then we have been back in rear strengthening our trenches by night and getting a little sleep by day. We are under shell fire every day. Two days ago one shell killed five men of our Company and wounded two. The same day we lost our other Major. He never knew what happened to him. A "Jack Johnson" or a coal box as we call them, because when they strike a cloud of smoke rises from them; one of those came through the trench and struck him while lying sleeping in his dug out. Gaudet, from Summerside, was right under when the shell struck. It knocked the sand back and tore his equipment which was beside him all to pieces. He had another close call yesterday. He was standing right by those seven boys who were knocked out.

But we are all fine. Robison, Art Corney, Gaudet and I all stick together. We miss Delaney, he was always so full of fun.

When I make a mistake or say something I do not mean, there is a Jack Johnson or a shrapnel going over and I begin to wonder where it is going to light, forgetful of what I am saying.

Corney and I were lying in our trench yesterday when a shell burst and pieces struck both of us but it was spent and just lay on our coats. There was a big attack on our front the night before last and another on our left last night. The Allies are doing good work now. The Canadians are doing their part well. I am using a German officer's water bottle now. Some class to me. I got a bayonet out of the trench the other day. It is just like a saw. Teeth filed in it. Last night I saw a dog throw away my Ross rifle and get a Lee Enfield, which is so much better. The magazine holds ten rounds, while the Ross only holds five and after firing twenty or thirty rounds rapid, you have to take your bayonet to open the bolt. For shooting purposes I don't suppose the Ross could be beaten but the trenches are so close and the Germans so thick one could hardly tell them.

I am with a Montreal Battalion now. A very fine regiment, but they have lost very heavily.

Now I must go and get my dinner as it is after one o'clock. Love to all.

P.S.—May 24. Got out of the trenches safe, lost seven officers and one hundred and sixty men—out of our section of thirteen, six came in.

Tell mother I will write again soon. I am feeling fine.

A MEMMORIAM

MR JOHN McNEVIN.

The community of Bonshaw and surrounding country was shocked and startled on Wednesday, June 2nd, when it was learned that Mr John McNevin of that place had accidentally met his death. Death at any time is hard to bear, but when it comes without a moment's warning, the burden for the bereaved is made doubly heavy. Seldom does a community feel the loss of one of its residents as does this section of the country in the death of Mr McNevin. The deceased was born in Charlottetown in May 1856, and was the son of the late Alex. and Mary McNevin, of Bonshaw. His early youth was spent with Matthew Butcher & Co., where he learned cabinet-making, but owing to an accident he was compelled to give up this occupation and turned his attention to book-keeping, being employed in that capacity with Mr Alexander McMillan, Wheatley River. Later he removed to Bradalbane, where he kept store, after which he came to Bonshaw, where he has since resided, with the exception of two years spent in Western Canada, where he was engaged in construction work. Although the owner of a large farm, Mr McNevin has spent a great part of his time contracting, and has taken in hand some important works of construction. His name stood high in this line as he had a thorough knowledge of all such work, and those contracts over which he had control stand to-day as compliments to his skill, efficiency and intelligence. In politics he was always a staunch Conservative, and by his death the party ranks will suffer a severe loss in this section of the country, where he was highly respected by supporters of both parties. A man of brilliant intellect and keen perception, a fluent talker, a wide reader and a good entertainer. His untimely death is regretted by a large circle of friends in both town and country. His pleasant manner and personality made him a welcome visitor wherever he went, and in the home, not only will be missed by the bereaved family, but also by a large number who enjoyed his hospitality. The Rev. Mr McLean officiated at the funeral, and the large concourse of carriages which followed his remains to their resting-place at Argyle Shore Cemetery testify to the esteem in which he was held in the country. Mrs McNevin and the following family have the sincere sympathy of their many friends in their severe loss. Hessel, in charge of the York John Cameron, Angus Cameron, Ewen Point Ferry, Sydney Stewart, Hurlie, Olivia and Dora at home; Mrs Charles Moore, West River Bridge; Jennie, married in U.S.A.; and Alexander, in Winnipeg. The pall-bearers were Angus McDougall, Albert McDougall, John Cameron, Angus Cameron, Ewen McDougall, Dougal McFadyen and W. D. Shaw.

Doctor Said Only Hope Was in an Operation

WAS SKEPTICAL WHEN HE BELIEF IN THE USE OF DR CHASE'S OINTMENT—BUT RELIEF CAME QUICKLY

Here is a plain, honest statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Ointment. Between the lines of this letter, you can read the gratitude which its writer feels. One does not suffer from annoying distressing piles for ten years without appreciating a cure when it is obtained. Almost every mail brings the report of someone who has been cured of piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Such statements are never used without the permission of the writer, and until we are satisfied that the cure is genuine and the writer a person of responsibility. You may believe in operations for piles, and think there is no other cure. Write to Mr. Ingles, enclosing stamp, and he will gladly verify his statements. He will tell you that the pain, the expense, the risk of an operation are quite unnecessary. That relief and cure come with the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Mr. Ernest W. Ingles, Penitentiary, B. E., writes:— I suffered from piles for ten years, and though I tried all kinds of ointments and operations, I really had no permanent relief until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. I had absolutely no faith in it, for I had been examined by a well known physician in Vancouver, and he said that an operation was the only thing that would benefit me. It was surprising relief. I obtained from the very first box, and now after using four boxes I am practically cured. My case was so exceptionally bad that I received no relief day or night, and for this reason the results are wonderful. You can obtain Dr. Chase's Ointment from any dealer at 60 cents a box. If you do not want to risk this much send a two-cent stamp to pay postage, and mention this paper, and we shall send you a sample box free. We are certain that any sufferer from piles will obtain relief by using this ointment that we do not hesitate to make you this offer. Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

HALIFAX, June 16.—The Maritime Province Convention or State Council of the Knights of Columbus opened in Halifax yesterday, the business of the sessions showed the Order to be in a flourishing condition throughout the Maritime Provinces. One of the most important features of the convention was the passing of a resolution unanimously approving of the action of subordinate councils to pay all feet and assessments of members who are on active service during the war. The State Council also expressed their approval of what had been done toward the various patriotic and charitable funds. The resolution was given in strong language expressing loyal support of the nation in the present strife.

About forty delegates are in attendance, many of them accompanied by their ladies, and all are being cordially entertained. The following officers for the Maritime Provinces were elected:

GERMANY MAKING PEACE OVERTURES

NEW YORK, June 16.—A Washington despatch says: "Advices from Berlin show that the German Government is behind a peace propaganda with even more seriousness than was suspected from the activities here of Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador. Many persons here are inclined to connect this effort of the German Government with the arrival in New York of Col. E. M. House, President Wilson's close friend. Although it repeatedly has been denied here that Col. House went to Europe with any instructions from President Wilson to open a peace movement, or to make peace overtures to the belligerents, it is conceded Col. House would communicate to the President the outlook in Europe, and he naturally would be selected by the Germans to convey to the President any suggestions regarding peace which they might have to make. There is considered good ground for the belief, therefore, that Col. House has some important information for the President regarding the German effort to force peace negotiations in Europe.
