REV. Mr. ACKLAND REMEMBERED—The Halifax Mail says: There is real regret in the north and over the fact that on Friday next Rev. L. E. Ackland, who came to the city as Mr. Gregg's successor in the pastorate of the old North Baptist church merged. After the explosion in with the Tabernacle, under the name of the Baptist Temple, is about to take his departure from the city, having accepted a call to New Brunswick. He, with Mrs. Ackland, leaves Halifax on Friday, and he will be followed to New Brunswick by the best wishes of all who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance, and the blessing of his devoted ministry. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ackland have received tangible tokens of the regard and good will of the congregation, these taking the form, in the case of Mr. Ackland, of a purse containing six $20 gold pieces, and in that of Mrs. Ackland, of a beautiful little wrist watch. The presentation of the gold to Mr. Ackland on behalf of the church, was by W. T. Harris, its senior deacon, and that to Mrs. Ackland, from the ladies of the Women's Missionary Association, by Mrs. McLeod. Both gave very happy expression to the sentiments of the people and also assured Mr. and Mrs. Ackland of abounding good wishes.

Two Military Medals Presented Yesterday

One to the Winner, the Other to the Parents of Dead Hero.

In the Council Chamber yesterday afternoon, before a large gathering of citizens including the majority of the members of the Legislature, His Honor Lieutenant Governor McDonald presented two Military Medals, one to the young man who had won the distinction, the other, to the parents, the winner in this case having subsequently lost his life.

Premier Arsenault in a brief address explained the purpose of the meeting. It was, he said, a matter of pride that so many of the sons of the province had brought distinction to their native land; it was also a matter of sorrow that many of them had not returned. These have fallen, it is true, but, to quote from Cardinal Mercier, "He who has lost his life in a just cause is as much a martyr as he who has fallen for his faith and will receive a martyr's crown."

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McInnis, 152 Hillsboro St., were then called upon to receive the medal won by their son, Sgt. Charles A. McInnis. After a few words of congratulation and sympathy His Honor read the following official record for which the medal was won:

"For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on the 6th of November, 1917. On the afternoon of that date a large dump of ammunition at the battery position was set on fire by hostile shelling. In spite of the great danger from exploding ammunition this N. C. O. took hold of the situation and, alone, succeeded in extinguishing the fire. His work as No. 1 is beyond praise. He has always set an excellent example of coolness under fire."

Sgt. McInnis was 29 years of age. He enlisted with the First Contingent, and in February, 1915 went to England. In April 1916 he went to France with his ammunition column and took part in most of the engagements participated in by the Canadians. He was killed in action, November, 1917.

Sgt. Jack Callaghan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Callaghan, 10 Grafton St., was next called upon and the medal and bar pinned on his breast by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor. His official record is as follows:—

"On the morning of August 22, 1917 while the battery was being heavily shelled he, of his own accord, left his dugout and took very active part in putting out fires around gun pits, which had been started by enemy shelling, thus saving much ammunition from explosion."

"On November 16, 1917, while under heavy shell fire, proceeded to the position of another battery while both that and his own were under heavy shell fire, and rescued one of the gunners who had his leg shattered; and in company with a Bdr. M. C. Stewart carried him through con-

The Polish agency at Lausanne stated that the Germans are systematically destroying the industries of Upper Silesia and taking everything away from the factories. Owing to the seriousness of the situation Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish Premier, has postponed his visit to Paris, it is said.

In Working For Store-Growth Merchants Should Keep in Mind the Old Adage that 'Around Every Circle Another Circle May Be Drawn'

The volume of store-sales of one year ago today—SHOULD BE MADE LARGER, or the store is moving in the wrong direction.

Whatever "record" you may have set for sales at any time is merely a record to be effaced by the new one—the bigger one.

The amount of advertising you gave to your store a year ago is merely a "mark to be passed" in the amount of advertising you should give to your store today.

All records in store-management—in sales, in advertising—are CIRCLES—"AROUND WHICH OTHER CIRCLES MAY BE DRAWN."

See that your NEW CIRCLES are drawn AROUND, not WITHIN, your old ones—whether the circle represents EFFICIENCY OF STORE SERVICE, VOLUME OF STORE SALES, or AD-EQUACY OF STORE PUBLICITY.
