The World's Richest Men

Number of Individual Fortunes in Great Britain Surpasses Those in the United States. Duke of Westminster the Best Known of England's Millionaires.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the World's richest men outside of the United States. Others will follow each day. —United Press Association.

(United Press)

LONDON, April 1.—Although more than 2,000,000 persons in Great Britain are on the "dole" and are compelled to exist on as little as $3 a week, the nation surpasses America in the number and extent of individual fortunes.

In the year ending March 29, 1929, the last official figures available, the report of the commissioners of inland revenue revealed there were between 500 and 600 persons in Great Britain classed as millionaires.

Internationally Known

Some of these are internationally known figures. The Duke of Westminster, whose great wealth dates back to Queen Elizabeth is probably the best known. It is said if his possessions could be realized he would be in the $100,000,000 class. He has many yachts and enjoys experimenting with speed, is an enthusiastic hunter and has been married three times.

Ranking with the Duke of Westminster is Sir John Ellerman, the ship owner. He rose to the third largest owner of tonnage in the world, from a minor clerk in an accountant's office. During his spare hours he became interested in brewery shares and later in newspapers. He has no hobbies except that he finds more enjoyment in making money than spending it, although he has contributed huge sums to charity.

One pair of brothers, Solly and Jack Joel, are rated in the $75,000,000 class. Their fortune came from South African mining enterprises directed by an uncle, Barney Barnato. Solly Joel counts his friends by the hundreds and occupies a unique position in society. It is said of him that he does with his money what hundreds of persons always imagined they would do, if they ever came into possession of a few millions.

Famous Stable

He owns a famous racing stable, a mansion on the Thames, a beautiful Pompeian swimming pool, pictures and bits of sculpture that he chose himself. He has wide theatrical interests and his wife's jewels are said to be as beautiful as any in England.

His brother, Jack, leads a simpler life. He too owns a famous racing

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

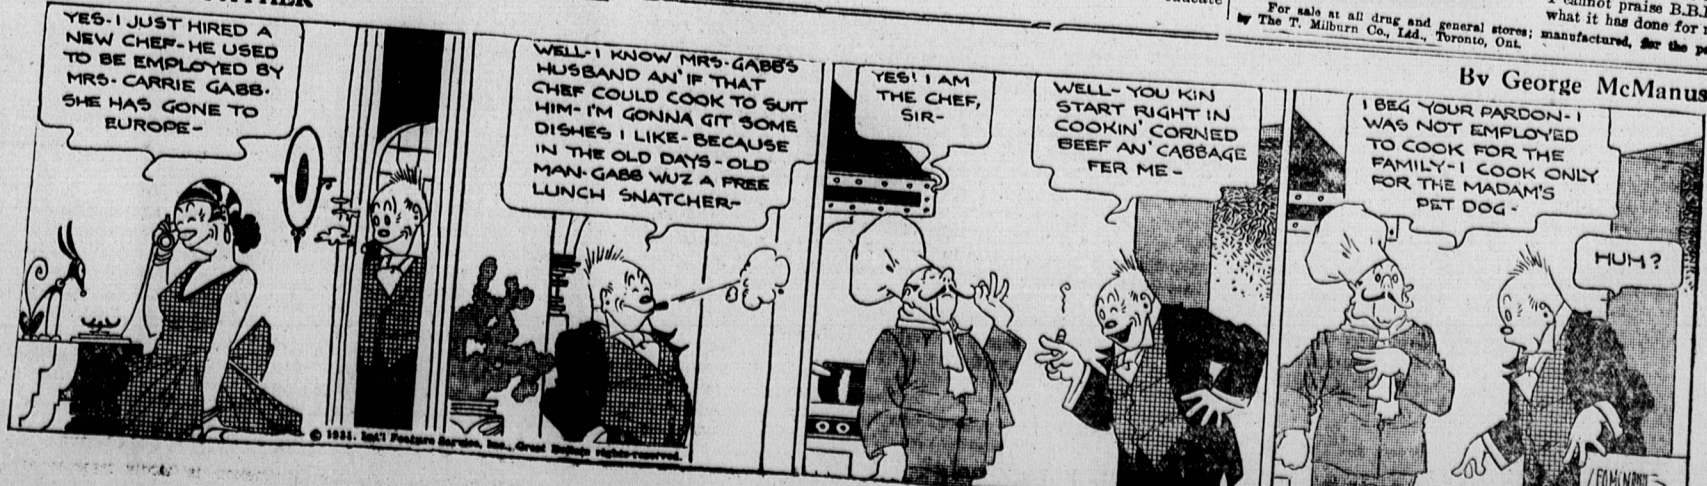

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonard's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Hughes Drug Co., Inc. of HEM-ROID sufferer to try a bottle of HEM-ROID and guarantees to refund the purchase price if they do not end Piles in any form.

BRINGING UP FATHER

stable has twice won the Derby and his favorite hobby is stock breeding. While he is a recognized member of the highest society, he is not as well known as his brother.

Lord Derby, who inherited the greater part of his $25,000,000 fortune, is well known in America as well as in many other parts of the world, especially where racing is enjoyed. He lives luxuriously, enjoys racing, sport, ease and comfort. One of England's famous races, the Derby, was named after one of his ancestors.

The thousands of men and women who for years have stepped up to the bar and said "Guinness, please," helped to build the tremendous fortune of Lord Iveagh, estimated at approximately $100,000,000.

Barges of Stout

Large barges loaded with stout passing down the Liffey are among the most characteristic sights of Dublin. The family has for years contributed huge sums to charity and once spent $100,000 for furnishing the Royal Gallery in the House of Lords.

Another large fortune was built by Lord Vestey, who, with his brother founded the Union Cold Storage Company and the Blue Star Line of refrigerating ships. The concern owns its own meat preserving works in the Argentine and Australia and in addition owns many retail shops in England. An iceberg, a bull, a sheep, and a row of eggs are the Vestey coat-of-arms.

Lord Bearsted, who inherited more than $20,000,000 from his father, has by shrewd investments according to reports, measurably increased the estate. He is a sportsman, rides to hounds and loves hunting. He is the owner of one of the most valuable tracts in the exclusive West End of London and prizes among his most valued possessions a Military Cross which he won for bravery during the World War.

Popular Millionaire

The Aga Khan, who divides his time between England and India, probably one of England's most popular millionaires. He is an eager race enthusiast, owns a well known stable and last year his colors won the Derby and other important English race events.

Death last year removed two of Great Britain's most noted millionaires, Lord Melchett and Lord Dewar. The former was the nation's greatest industrialist and his loss was keenly felt. Lord Dewar, who was known as the most humorous peer, made his fortune from whisky.

Four notable women possess at least $5,000,000, among which are Lady Louis Mountbatten, known in New York fashionable society.

Nevada Expects New Prosperity With Gambling

(By Earl H. Lelf, United Press Staff Correspondent)

RENO, Nev., March 31.—The restoration of wide open gambling in Nevada under sanction of a newly-enacted law brings to the heart of the Nevada a new promise, a new hope, of early prosperity and good times.

Nevada was in its greatest heyday when gambling flourished. High stakes and affluence have always been synonymous to natives. The entire history of Nevada is interwoven with games of chance in all its forms, faro, roulette, poker, klon-dike, and mining stock speculation—the greatest gamble of all in the hectic boom era. One of the largest personal fortunes in the state had its inception over the green felt of a poker table.

Lured Adventurers
 Gold, silver, hot liquor and gambing provided the lure that attracted the wanderer and adventurer to this territory in sufficient numbers to admit Nevada into the Union. They brought into existence such towns as Tonopah, Goldfield, Virginia City, Rhyolite, Bullfrog. Scores of old-timers still recollect when hundreds of thousands of dollars exchanged hands without the flicker of an eyelid.

Gambling houses were often the only permanent structure in mining camps providing a haven from the harsh desert elements. Courts have held sessions, weddings have been performed, babies have been born, dying men have spent the twilight hours of life, in their warmth.

No Opposition

When the state legislature was considering the wide open gambling bill, which is later passed, there was no concerted opposition.

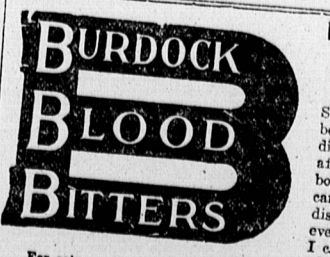

The "unwritten code" of Nevada has prevailed in recent years tolerating all honest gambling, despite the stern laws of statute books which make it a felony. Anything is permitted under the new law, with astoundingly severe penalties for dishonesty.

The press, public and business men were generally favorable to lifting the lid on gambling. Now the revenue from its licensing will go to the state, counties and cities, to care for their poor and aged, to educate children, to build good roads and support the government.

A butcher wired, one day to a slaughterhouse:
 "Don't send any more sheep. I'm going to kill myself."

The same day he got a telegram back:
 "Don't commit suicide until all accounts are settled."

Mrs. A. T. Bowman, 187 Rebecca St., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I had been troubled, for years, with indigestion and suffered so badly I was unable to eat.
