RUSSIA AND JAPAN SETTLE ALL GRIEVANCE

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 29.—The Emperor of Russia and the Emperor of Japan exchanged telegrams yesterday on the occasion of the settlement of certain questions which have been under consideration for some time. The questions related to various claims and counter-claims for indemnity on both sides for loss incurred during the war. The negotiations have continued for years and were pushed energetically by M. Malinsky-Malavitch, the Russian Ambassador to Japan, prior to his departure recently from Tokio.

For the most part the claims were on the Russian side, the big item of which was payment for property of Russian subjects at Port Arthur. Japan has long deferred settlement for the seizure of property belonging to the Red Cross, but now agrees to pay $80,000 for a Red Cross ship, which she seized and which now has become unfit for that purpose. The former Russian Hospital Ship Amur, which is to be returned to Russia, has been sent to the dry dock at Kure for repairs before the transfer is made.

In the settlement which has just been reached, Japan agrees to hand over to Russia $150,000 for appropriation to persons whose property claims Russia has supported. Japan will purchase for $65,000 the property of Russians situated on concessions in the suburban districts of Port Arthur. She agrees to pay rental for the use of houses of Russians at Kwangtung and abandons claim to the treasury of the Port Arthur municipality as the municipal funds are needed to satisfy the claims of contractors.

SEVEN DEAD IN SOUTHERN GALE

SUMMERVILLE, S. C. Aug. 31.—The storm that swept over the South Carolina and Georgia coast for the past thirty-six hours had completely subsided last night at 11.30 o'clock according to passengers reaching Summerville today and an early hour. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000, the death list of 7 has not been increased although a diligent search has been made.

The wind velocity increased from 48 miles an hour at 1.25 p. m., to 94 miles at 10.20 p. m. when the wind gauge was put out of adjustment. The tide was something over eight feet during the storm, three feet short of the record of 1893. The water has caused washouts on the approaching the operation of trains. Alonzo Coburn, an engineer on the Charleston Division of the Southern Railway, was instantly killed by flying timbers.

A. Mr. Smith of Columbia, and Malcolm Carter of the local street railway were killed and two men seriously injured when a tree fell and collapsed and two unidentified men were drowned when their home was flooded. Several negroes were also reported among the storm victims. Great damage is reported from Nicee and Sea Island cotton industries by the rise of the tide.

Anxiety for the people marooned on Sullivan Island was relieved when a steamer came in with a load of excursionists and residents from the flooded houses were completely flooded, houses were inundated and the people had harrowing experiences. Two schooners and small steamers were either sunk or damaged and had it not been for splendid rescue work by soldiers at Fort Moutree the death list would have been appalling.

GIVEN KEY TO ROOMS OF BROKER

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Paul Geidel took the stand in his own behalf today and told how William H. Jackson, the aged Wall street broker, came to his death. The Iroquois Hotel. The 17-year-old boy still bore the half-dazed appearance which has been noted daily since the trial began.

With a low voice, so low that at times he had to be prompted, he told his story, now and then glancing at Judge Crain as if to gain his approval of the manner in which the intents were related.

After testifying that his acquaintance with Jackson had been so friendly that the broker had given him a key to his room, Geidel related his visit to the broker's room on the night of his death: "I let myself into Mr. Jackson's room with my key," he said. "Mr. Jackson said he was glad to see me. He told me to make myself comfortable. We stayed in the sitting room about an hour and then he went to bed."

"While I was sitting there he became drowsy. I thought he was asleep and I took his watch and chain and $6 and his cuff buttons. Then he sat up and said, 'You're a thief, and he grabbed me.' Geidel said that a fight started then. Both fell in the struggle and each seized the other's throat, and after getting to their feet again, Geidel says he struck the broker two or three times with his fist. The aged man fell to the floor and after two or three vain struggles got up, he fell back still. It was after this, according to Geidel's story, that he went to the bath room and saturated a rag with chloroform, put it into the broker's mouth, then left the hotel.

He said he came to New York about a year and a half ago and joined the Y. M. C. A., and got work at the Hotel Iroquois, where Jackson was killed. Jackson, he said, came to live at the hotel about two weeks later. Geidel's voice was so low that the judge had to warn him to speak louder.
