DEATH OF MR. JAMES ESORY—There passed away on Thursday evening at his home in Kensington, Mr. James Esory at 55 years of age, after a lingering illness. Mr. Esory had resided in Kensington practically all his life and was well known and most highly esteemed. He was a retired seaman of the C. N. R. and continued to live in Kensington after his retirement. He had been an invalid for a number of years and had been tenderly cared for by his daughter Mrs. Annie Lockhart and his granddaughter, Marion. There are also left to mourn, his mother, Mrs. Tindal, of Kensington, and two sons, Alfred in Mount Pleasant and William of the C. N. R. at Summerside. His wife sympathetically extended. His wife predeceased him some years ago, also one son George. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 1 o'clock from his late residence, -S.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(OP)—John Campbell of Summerside, P. E. I., was appointed shipping master of Summerside, it was announced today. He succeeds Melville L. Bradshaw, resigned.

COMMITTEES

Others may be added to these committees as circumstances warrant. The veteran parliamentarian and government leader in the Senate, H. H. Raoul Dandurand, minister without portfolio, will be added to the cabinet committee when he returns from his present visit to France.

These committees will work in close cooperation with whatever committee are set up in each province to arrange the series of receptions to be accorded their Majesties across Canada. But, in the main, the responsibility will be with the Federal Government.

Arrangements for the special train to carry the Royal tourists will be in the hands of the transportation department which will work in cooperation with the railways. No special train is being built, the Prime Minister said today.

Public works will have to do with decorations, particularly in Ottawa where the King will unveil the new national war memorial. It is expected a state dinner will also feature the Ottawa visit and a full session of the Council, bringing together all living members regardless of political party may be presided over by the King.

The state department will have to handle the delicate questions of precedence and formality. Undoubtedly a court mission will come out from London soon to advise the Dominion with regard to such details.

Defence department officials will have in hand the provision of suitable military escorts and guards which will play a feature part in the series of programs.

Exclusive social functions for their Majesties will be kept down to the minimum. Mr. Mackenzie King reiterated today. The hope and intention is to have their Majesties see as much of Canada and as many Canadians as possible and to have as many Canadians see their Majesties, as time and conditions permit.

upper class prisoners would be sent to concentration camps. The doom of Jewish business throughout Germany appeared to be one result of yesterday's wholesale destruction by angry crowds. Today Jewish stores on either side of the main thoroughfare, or "Aryan" hands in one form or another.

Goebbels announced the expected new anti-Semitic law would be issued shortly, probably signalling victory in Nazism's five-year campaign against the Jews.

The wreaths of Jewish shops and synagogues throughout the country began early yesterday morning. Goebbels ordered the demonstrations to cease in an announcement issued at 4 p. m.

Foreign Jews whose stores were demolished appealed to their consulates asking diplomatic aid in recovering damages. As for Germany, the Nazis said there would be no reimbursement for damage done.

The Nazi view was that the action of the mobs was a "force majeure" or an inevitable force not unlike an "act of God."

British-owned property destroyed was believed to be the largest amount that of foreigners. British capital in the Paris district department store, one of Berlin's three largest, large plate glass windows in this store was smashed.

Several rabbis were among the Jews arrested today, including the first Rabbi of Prinsze Regentstrasse Synagogue, which was burned Wednesday.

Hundreds of prominent Jews left their homes to stay with friends because of fears that they might be the next to be arrested.

The name of Ernest von Rath, victim of the Paris assassination, was given to motor corps as a special honor.

The official gazette meanwhile promulgated a ban on the possession of firearms by Jews. The law which Nazi authorities announced yesterday, was signed by Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick.

Adolf Wagner, Bavarian Minister of the Interior, in an address at Munich read a letter from the office of Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, asking police protection for the Cardinal's residence in the face of attacks on Catholic clergy following tonight's meetings.

"If von Faulhaber mends his ways he can be protected better than the police can," he shouted.

The New York Defence Minister, William Mackenzie of Canada told the Canadian Club that forces of "hatred and of evil and the lurking spectre of war" had been dealt a mortal blow by the armistice. Town Square Dedicated To The Memory Of Great War Dead At Summerside Citizens Turn Out In Large Numbers To Fittingly Observe Remembrance Day In Simple, But Impressive Ceremony.

Glorious weather prevailed all day yesterday for the Remembrance Day services and special activities for the day. Summerside citizens turned out in large numbers for the services at the Monument, which were most impressive. Mayor Campbell with the Councilors and visitors were on the Band Stand, which was draped in red, white and blue.

Mayor Campbell in a most impressive address spoke of the great service rendered to the world by those who had died in the Great War. He also referred to the tremendous crisis the world had just passed through, and that there was a greater significance today than ever before for prayers for peace and the upholding of democracy. At the close of his address Mayor Campbell dedicated the Square to the memory of the fallen soldiers and said from henceforth it would be known as Memorial Square.

"O Canada," sung by pupils and citizens. Music by Summerside Citizens' Band.

"The program opened with the singing of 'O Canada' by R. D. MacNeill then read the names of those who gave the supreme sacrifice. Following the two minutes silence the large audience sang 'O God Our Help in Ages Past.' Mr. Roscoe Walker, presided at the address followed by the address by Prof. Patterson. The ceremony was brought to a close with the singing of 'God Save the King.'"

Broader Trade Pact With U. S. Expected

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(OP)—Today, as an Armistice Day three years ago, Prime Minister Mackenzie King was in a position to announce a further stage in the development of friendly relations with United States.

While a huge throng streamed past his window after the Armistice Day memorial service in front of the Peace Tower Mr. Mackenzie King sat in his east block office and announced that a broader and more comprehensive trade agreement with United States would be made public shortly.

While there has been no official intimation here or elsewhere it is generally believed the effort will be to have both agreements ready for signature at the same time.

Does Not Anticipate Joint Opposition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(AP)—President Roosevelt met his first post-election press conference today to indicate clearly how he interprets the strong Republican trend or how he may reshape his tactics or program of the new United States Congress.

The single clue he gave his assertion he did not expect to encounter the coalition opposition which has been widely predicted. Some commentators saw this as an indication Mr. Roosevelt regarded the Democrats' first election reverses in a decade as exerting more pressure on the avowed anti-New Deal administration to sink their policy differences.

Another Bad Night Could Get No Rest

To the thousands who toss, night after night, on sleepless beds and to whose eyes slumber will not come.

To those who sleep in a kind of way, but whose rest is broken by bad dreams and nightmares.

To those who wake up in the morning as tired as on going to bed, we offer in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy to help soothe and calm the nerves and bring them back to a perfect condition, and when this is done there should be no more sleepless nights due to shattered nerves.

Interesting Address On Sept. Crisis

The Summerside Branch of the Canadian Legion held their annual banquet last evening in the Clifton Hotel dining room which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Mr. Neil R. Durant, president of the Legion presided.

Mr. T. C. MacNabb, superintendent of the C. P. R. at Saint John, N. B., was the guest speaker, and gave a very interesting description of his visit to London during the September crisis. He said that English people were anxious but not afraid. The precautions against air raids were inconspicuous but nevertheless present if you were curious enough to look for them.

PARIS, Nov. 11—The Armistice anniversary was celebrated peacefully under the watchful eyes of thousands of mobile guards called to the capital because of fears that war veterans might seize the occasion for demonstrations for a "public safety" cabinet.

Guardsmen broke up a skirmish on the Champs Elysee between about 300 Leftists and an equal number of rightists, but it was the only incident in which they were called to intervene.

Veterans from all parts of France will be heard under the watchful eyes of thousands of mobile guards called to the capital because of fears that war veterans might seize the occasion for demonstrations for a "public safety" cabinet.
