GRANT FOR FITNESS

LONDON (CP)—The government has granted £200,000 ($1,000,000) toward introduction of physical fitness in universities, the money to be used to provide equipment, skilled instruction, qualified staff and medical inspection.

IN CLASS BY HIMSELF

PARIS (CP)—Amelito Battisti, Uruguayan mathematician and "sky" the limit" baccarat gambler, has given up the game because of a dearth of good players. He will confine himself to business interests.

FINDS COMFORT IN LOG HOUSES

WINNIPEG, June 20—(CP)—Original log houses are getting scarce, even in East Kildonan. As you motor north into East St. Paul there's an old weathered example of this kind of pioneer house nearly 100 years old. "It's the most comfortable old home I've lived in during my 25 years in Canada," said Mrs. W. Dean, the occupant. It was built by Archibald Pritchard, son of John Pritchard, one of the Seikirk settlers as his private secretary. John kept a boys' school known as "The Elms in East Kildonan, well-known in the early days of the settlement. Archibald was married in 1856 in St. Paul's Church, Middlechurch across the Red River. His bride was Emily Mary Elie, who was brought to Canada by her mother when she was 11 year old. They came on a sailing boat via York Factory and had to spend a winter on Hudson Bay before proceeding to Red River. Emily had come out to be a teacher for the Hudson's Bay Co. Mrs. Dean showed the interviewer a brown wooden hall and six wooden rungs; the rungs she screwed into holes in the wall, making an object that stood like a tripod with three more legs in the air. "It used to stand on a woman's bureau, it's a cap stand," she said triumphantly. "And this little sugar bowl is more than 100 years old. It was used when sugar was so dear no more than this would could be afforded." It was dolly. The house was cool in summer and warm in winter, affirmed Mrs. Dean. The floors and stairs had listed a bit, to be sure, but they were still firm. The stah railing was hand-cut with banisters made from wood cut an inch square and set into the handrails diagonally. "Eleven little Pritchards went up them in their day, boys in tight little suits, girls in full-gathered dresses and aprons. Minards removes stains.

Unity Stressed By Foreign Ministers

LONDON June 21—(CP)—British foreign policy, consists of "repeatedly emphasizing what unites nations instead of what divides them." Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax tonight told a dinner of the Royal Institute of International Affairs. "However, intimate our relations may be with any other power, as they happily are with France today," he said, "we always are trying to feel our way towards a wider sense of unity in international relations." He warned a great mistake would be made abroad if it as ever thought that "our domestic controversies upon day to day conduct of foreign policy would in the least degree affect the primary instinct of our people to stand solidly together in any real emergency."
