BEAVER COLONY MOLESTED
The Special Game Officer with the R.C.M.P. who has returned from a patrol of the Beaver Colony at Avondale - at present the only one known to exist in the Province - reports that one of the beaver dams in the Colony has been broken into, presumably at some time early in the winter. Whether any of the beaver family were killed there was no way of ascertaining definitely; that some remain was shown by the fact that the dam was being repaired during the recent thaw, as evidenced by the fresh cuttings. The present severe winter holds no terrors for these industrious little animals provided their living quarters are not disturbed, as they have a plentiful store of poplar and birch laid by under the ice to carry them through the winter. Such an act of vandalism shows the need of a law to protect the beaver. An Indian from the Reserve at Rocky Point, is known to have previously destroyed the dam of the R. C. M. P. to give the dam all the protection possible, and a magistrate will be requested, in the case of anyone found trespassing on the grounds, to impound these little animals, to give the maximum penalty provided under the Beaver Act.

In compliance with the wishes of local fishermen the smelt fishing industry has been extended this year to Feb. 17.

The request for an extension of the smelt fishing season was forwarded to Messrs. W. Chester S. Brown, D. E. Myers, M. P., by Messrs. D. E. Bethune and J. A. MacDonald, members of the local Legislature respectively, and later a telegram was received from Mr. McLure stating that the matter had been presented to the Federal Department and the extension agreed to.

This will be welcome news to fishermen, as there is a good demand for smelt at the present time.

The City Council, assembled at the last monthly meeting before the election of a new Council last night, unanimously decided last night that the small bill be paid for anything supplied for direct relief after February 15, instant, unless the orders therefore be first submitted to the City Clerk for his direction, the supplying merchant, and that the City Clerk shall distribute all orders among the supplying merchants as fairly as possible and supervise price charged, and arrange for investigation by officer J. E. Bradley or otherwise of such cases as he may see fit, and shall be assisted by such distribution and direction by the Finance Committee of the City Council, until a special committee be appointed therefor.

The resolution, which was moved by Coun. Holman and seconded by Coun. Stewart, was in line with a communication received from the Deputy Provincial Secretary, stating that the attention of the Provincial Government had been drawn to the apparent uneven distribution of relief orders to merchants in Charlottetown, and that having regard to the fact that the Federal and Provincial Governments were each paying one-third of the relief expenditures made in Charlottetown, it was desired that consideration be given by the civic authorities in order that the present apportionment be corrected.

His Worship Mayor Stewart, presided at last night's meeting, at which all the Councilors excepting Coun. Burke were present.
